WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER

The melancholy days are come,
The saddest of the year,
When Summer-boarder jests are stale,
And must no more appear.
The iceman chestnut, too, must go,
But never mind! for we Still have the district-messenger,
And S. B. Anthony.

"Alas!" remarked the aged man,
Wiping away a tear,
"The luck that some folks seem to have
Is really very queer.
Now fortune always smiles on Jones;
We loved one girl—and she Accepted Jones, you say? Not much!
No, sir, she married me."

On Brighton's Beach, O sea!
But the wealth that I staked on a "dead sure" tip
Will never come back to me.

The breezes, gentle murmur,
The twittering of a bird,
The lowing of the high-priced kine
Were all the sounds I heard.
I ought to have been happy,
But wasn't, for, oh dear!
It was a temperance hotel—
I couldn't get my beer.

A crockery clerklet in Del.
To a customer said: "You are wel.
That for ev'ry-day use,
Not to speak of abuse,
There's nothing much better than yel."

There came unto our office,
All on a Summer's day,
With a jest about an umpire,
A humorist blithe and gay.
Our editor's eyes flashed fire—
What he did I must not say;
But never from our office
Did that humorist go away.

Little Johnny tried to milk
Grandpa's Durham cow;
Little Johnny is an al-
Leged angel now.

Reader, aren't you thankful?
Soon you'll have a rest
From the everlasting
Summer-boarder jest.—F. A. STEARNS.

KILLED IN THE DARK.

WRITTEN FOR THE NEW YORK CLIPPER,
BY CRAIG SOMERS.

I was up in rough and rugged Sullivan County, N. Y., during a portion of the early Summer, and, while not a Nimrod of repute, or a "shot" of any celebrity whatever, I was frequently out in the woods with a rifle, seeking for anything worth shooting, from a bear to a badger, never returning without shooting at something, though often without bringing in any of the fruits of my prowess.

Somehow, I rarely could find anything I shot at, although I searched around and about the spot thoroughly. This annoyed me at first, but, concluding that wild beasts and birds were very shy, getting quickly away on the report of a gun, and knowing that I was not an expert with this weapon, I grew philosophical, and failing to find that at which I shot, charged it to the fortunes of shooting when done by a neophyte.

After a three hours' tramp one day, seeing nothing but a few rabbits and squirrels, at which I declined to shoot for some reason or other—I never had thus refrained before; but the truth is I was looking and hoping for deer, though contraband of law—I concluded to take the back track, and turned at once to make my way to headquarters.

I had not proceeded far when I heard in the distance ahead of me the crashing of some animal through the woods. With my rifle ready to bring to bear in an instant, I halted and gazed with all my eyes ahead. A moment, and a wild hog tore along about fifty yards away, and without stopping to think that a rabbit would be better worth the risking of a shot than that porcine quadruped, I up and blazed away at it.

To my surprise the hog went down—because it was a good-for-nothing hog—that was the irony of my sportsmanship—and before I could or did more I heard the rushing of some other animal, and in a moment saw what I supposed was a wolf, but which I concluded was a wild dog—wild dogs are no rarity in Sullivan County—rushing in the track of the hog.

The wild canine stopped, sniffed at the dead hog a moment, then raised his head, looked in my direction, caught sight of me and, with a demonical howl, came tearing toward me. I know I thought him to be, at the moment, a most ungrateful animal to make for me with malice prepense when I had brought his quarry to earth for him.

I had with me a good-sized Colt's revolver, and with that I awaited the onslaught of the dog, not having time to reload my rifle. The beast came tearing toward me, red of mouth and fierce of eye, and when close enough for a shot I fired. It was not a hog shot, and the dog came on. A second shot, and still he came bounding on. A third, and I despised myself as a shooter, and mentally resolved that, if I escaped the dog in the end, I would never waste powder and shot again.

The beast was close on when I fired the fourth shot, following it with the fifth, reserving the sixth until the last minute, when he would be too close in to escape the slug. But that was not called for, as he went to earth almost at my very feet, and so dead that he never moved after dropping.

Two victims to my prowess that day, but neither worth the powder and shot it took to kill it. However, I felt not a little proud to think that I was not a dead failure with firearms, and, with an ear of each of my victims, I could show my ability to shoot, even if the game was not high of grade. Loading my rifle and revolver, and securing the trophies mentioned, I started on again, perfectly satisfied with my day's work—it is well to be satisfied with less than the earth, when the latter is not to be had.

I had been on the back track about an hour, when I suddenly broke into a little circular open—an oasis of bright green grass in the desert of woods—and presented myself to a well-grown she bear and a couple of cubs, the trio of black beasts gamboling in fancied security on the bright green carpet of this little bay in the woods.

It was a pleasing picture, the nature of the sable family not considered, and, although I was loaded for bear, if I chanced to meet one, I was not so set upon that variety of game as to raise my rifle and draw a bead on happy Mother Bruin under the circumstances in which I found her.

It seemed like a murderous act to fire on her, and, not debating the question at all, I made no movement to the murderous end, but, surprised and pleased, stopped and gazed at the family.

At length, however, I was tempted to fire. The old bear presented a splendid target at point-blank range, and the thought that I had brought down the hog and the dog, and could hardly fail of bringing down the gamier animal, not only tempted, but induced me to shoot and have something to brag of on my return.

Not at all "rattled," and at short range, I surely could not miss her; and so, forgetting her cubs, and the probability of making orphans of them, I drew a bead on Mother Bruin, and fired with this effect: The cubs incontinently scampered into the timber, the mother rearing on her haunches and looking at me with what might have been surprise and anger at my intrusion, and the explosive nature of my greeting. It was very evident that I had missed her, and my contempt for my marksmanship was pronounced.

I thought the bear might, after inspecting me a moment, follow her cubs into the timber; instead, not satisfied with my appearance, probably, she lunged forward and came shuffling toward me.

Pulling my revolver I fired at her again, but missed the spot aimed at, the fore shoulder, wounding her along the side, however, which served only to enrage her and increase her pace. As I didn't propose to stand and face her with my revolver—I was no doughty bear-fighter or slayer—it was run now or climb a tree; and as I knew I could not distance her in the timber, handicapped with my rifle, if, indeed, without it, I dropped that weapon, having no time to reload it, and, catching a branch of a small tree, swung myself up with a celerity that astonished me if not the bear.

I was hardly on my perch before Mother Bruin reached the tree, up against which she reared, clutching it with her paws, understanding at once that it afforded her no hold for climbing. With a snarl she drew down her sharp, long claws, and the bark began to fly in a lively manner, leading me to think that it might be possible for her to cut away the tree with the sharp tools at her command; in fact, I became satisfied that, with persistence, she could bring me down with the tree!

With my revolver, however, and plenty of cartridges, I concluded I could prevent her from accomplishing this, and so did not anticipate the horror of my falling into her clutches. When firmly ensconced in the crotch of the tree, I sent a slug at the head of the clawing bear, which glanced from her skull, causing a scalp wound only. It maddened her to ferocity, however, and with a snarl of fury she clutched and essayed to climb the tree, an utter impossibility, it being too small for a hug and a hold. Her hindquarters dropped quickly, and she showed her teeth and uttered a diabolical snarl as she looked at me.

As she showed her glistening fangs and red mouth, all the whiter and redder, respectively, as revealed against her shimmering black coat, I fired again. Down she went upon all-fours in an instant with a howl of rage and pain, shaking her head fiercely, the blood flowing from her mouth.

That shot had told; but it was not necessarily a fatal one, unless an artery had been severed, which I hoped was not the case, her cubs considered—they came to my mind again, and I felt no desire to slay the mother, though it would be a great feather in my cap, but would be more than satisfied if she would go about her business and look after her young ones.

Growling and whining at the foot of the tree she stood after that burst of rage and pain, the blood from her mouth being distributed freely about her as she vigorously shook her head. Her whines attracted her cubs, who came ambling across the open toward their dam, their squeals attracting in turn her attention.

Thinking the report of my revolver might possibly start the mother bear toward her cubs and into the timber opposite I fired down, but at a wide angle, the slug striking the earth thirty feet from her. Whether it was the report, or merely coincidence, I don't know, but instead of doing what I thought she might possibly do, the wounded bear deliberately laid herself down at the foot of the tree as if from pure contrariness. It looked like that—looked as though she knew what I had fired for, and was determined to balk me.

Her cubs came up shortly, and the amount of affection manifested on both sides was greater than I had witnessed in a long time. "Sportsmen" will laugh at me when I say that I wouldn't have fired another slug into that mother bear, except to save my life, for money, meaning no small amount. I may be too tender-hearted for a "true sportsman"—very likely I am—and may be that accounts for my never being able to become an adept in the use of firearms, and for returning from "hunts" as philosophically as I always did, with nothing, or next to that, to show for the powder and lead I had wasted.

No, I wouldn't have shot any more lead into that bear, except as I have said, for money; and "sportsmen" may laugh, if they will. Indeed, I was sorry that I had wounded her so badly, but I had the satisfaction of seeing, shortly, that she was bleeding less and less from her mouth as the minutes rolled on, and I sat on my perch watching her and the antics of the cubs, and later their greedy lapping of the blood of their dam from her glossy coat and the leaf-strewn ground.

But my position began to grow tiresome and decidedly uncomfortable after a time; besides, the sun was getting well toward the last quarter of his day's run, and it was time I was on the way to the village where I was sojourning, if I was to reach there before dark, which I must do, or not get there until the light of another day was on.

But Mother Bruin seemed content to remain where she was, much to my disgust, and the way she looked up at me from time to time seemed to argue that she was staying there for a purpose, and that purpose the gathering in of myself in the end. As for the cubs, blood-hunting, and successful, too, for their dam had shaken it about very freely, they were more than content; so the outlook for my getting home before dark was an exceedingly hazy one, and the thought of having to remain in that tree all night, and how much longer I could not guess, was exceedingly unpleasant.

Crotched in the tree, I sat and wished I could make that black beast understand that, if she didn't leave and go about her business, I should be compelled, against my desire, to murder her in cold blood, which I could do, in time, having the means with which to do it. As I couldn't do that, and as I hated to kill her, with those cubs about—it really seemed like murder—I actually began to think about making up my mind to stay, if I must, in the tree all night—"sportsmen" will smile, if not laugh right out—trusting that the business of food would prompt her to leave by morning.

Finally I concluded to try a shot, and sent a slug into the ground about ten feet beyond Mother Bruin. She looked up with a vicious snarl, showed her glistening teeth, not entirely free from blood, but made no other motion, save to her cubs, which made for and snuggled up beside her at the report. I immediately fired again, the last shot in my revolver, scattering the leaves within three feet of the black beast, drawing from her a growl only as her cubs nestled closer in.

While loading my revolver, I concluded that I was carrying sentiment too far to allow myself to be treed all night by a bear with ammunition enough to prevent it, if not wasted; and considering my comfort of more consequence than the bear's life even, I resolved to get away if I could possibly put that ammunition where it would do the most good to that end.

Before I had finished loading, the bear, as though a "mind-reader," got up and, followed by her cubs, went a few feet into the timber, lying down there with half a dozen trees between us, and only a small portion of her black coat visible. I felt that I was booked for the night in the tree if she stayed where she was, and, incensed at her action, I blazed away, when prepared, at the little black spot I could sight.

I fired at that black spot and kept firing, the only effect produced being a snarl now and then. Emptying my revolver three times, I concluded that I was in for it for the night, unless, through the agency of some other being or thing, the bear should be drawn off. That agency didn't appear, and I remained on my perch in the tree until the next morning, putting in the longest and most uncomfortable night of my life, notwithstanding a somewhat exciting interlude about midnight, as I judged, which I could hear but not see.

This interlude was a fight between the bear and a catamount—I knew at the time it was a cat of the woods by its vicious "spit" and blood-curdling yell—and the liveliest kind of a scrimmage it was for an hour or so, the snarls and "spits" of the combatants, mingled with the short, sharp bark of my revolver, when the animals had fought out into the open, not to mention the squeals of the cubs, rendering the sylvan midnight hour more or less hideous and exciting.

I kept firing at the spot from which the sounds of the fight proceeded, as near as I could judge, even fancying I could see, at times, the black forms in the darkness, until my cartridges were expended, when I became a silent and speculative listener to the fierce combat.

A moment after my hand was out, and as though the accompaniment I had furnished was altogether essential to the proceedings, all sounds of the fray suddenly ceased, and I heard only the snarls and squeals, for a time, of the mother bear and her cubs, concluding therefrom that the cat had got enough of it and retired.

Daylight was a long time coming, but it came on time, for all that, showing me a bear and cat hors de combat.

I reached my lodgings about ten o'clock that morning, the proudest "hunter" that ever entered the village, I venture to say, for I bore on my shoulders the skins of a bear and wild cat, and in my pocket the ears of a wild hog and dog, none knowing, for I did not tell them, that all but the dog, perhaps, were victims by accident, of my prowess as a "hunter."

The cubs followed me in, as was natural, perhaps, I bearing the pelt of their mother, and her blood dripping by the way and attracting them. I sold them, and they were well taken care of by their stepmother, the tavern-keeper; so my compunctions, on account of killing their mother—by accident—were not overpowering.

I was quite a nine days' hero, if not wonder, but I wouldn't put in another such halt a day and entire night to be the wonder of the country for a year! The adventure of that day and night demonstrated, beyond a doubt—to me—that, if not an expert, I was an extremely "lucky shot;" and that darkness was better than light for my shooting, the quality of the game considered!

I haven't been "gunning" since. If ever I shall go again, and I meet with a bear and cubs enjoying themselves in the primeval woods, their home, I shall pass by on the other side, if permitted to, and not seek to break up their pleasure for "sport" on my part.

One word more. Ten minutes before I left the village in the wilds, not wishing to sail away under false colors, though it never would have been discovered that I did so, I told the story of that day and night's "gunning," utterly demolishing the fame I had won as a "hunter," but opening doors to surprise and wonder on the part of the villagers that are not yet closed.

ANNIE LEWIS, SOUBRETTE.

ANNIE LEWIS.

A portrait of this clever and piquant young soubrette appears on this page. Annie Barnum Lewis was born in Washington, D. C., May 30, 1869, and is the daughter of Charles E. Lewis, a well-known Washington official. Her first appearance on the stage was as an amateur, as Jack in the pantomime of "Jack the Giant-killer," at the National Theatre, Washington, in September, 1878. The following year she appeared on several occasions, the most prominent being in "Cinderella" and "Pinafore," playing Josephine in the last-named piece. Her professional debut was made at Hagerstown, Md., Aug. 22, 1885, in the title-role of "A Little Trump," and continuing a short season on the road in same piece. After that she joined Estelle Clayton's Co. and played Picot in "Fayette" with much credit to herself. The greater part of the season of 1886-7 she was a member of Charles E. Verner's Co., playing the soubrette role in "Shamus O'Brien." She joined Murray & Murphy's "Irish Visitors" Co. later in the season to play Dorothy, which she did with success on tour and later at the Union-square Theatre, this city, at which house she made her metropolitan debut. This season she is with Roland Reed's Co. Miss Lewis is a clever and agile dancer, a pleasing singer and a hard-working and ambitious actress, who has, at the early age of eighteen, made herself favorably known by her excellent work.

"The Irish Minstrel." "Phryne" and "Lady Lynne" Score Hits in 'Frisco—Two New Theatres to be Bui t.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 13.—"The Irish Minstrel" was done last evening at the Bush-street to large attendance. This is the third and final week of W. J. Scanlan. Frank Mayo opens 19 with "Nordeck."

BALDWIN THEATRE.—Dion Boucicault's much-heralded new play, "Phryne," was put on last evening with good results. It is pathetic and amusing. It is an old friend in a new dress, and is apparently "Led Astray." A large and well-pleased audience saw it.

ALCAZAR.—"Lady Lynne" received its first presentation here last evening. Jeffreys Lewis, C. H. Mestayer and Gustavus Levick were in the cast.

NOTES.—Marion Elmore has left Mr. Boucicault and departed for the East. Maude Granger and Eleanor Calhoun will start Eastward this month. ... B. F. Teal, Kate Forsyth, Eben Plympton, Sheridan Corbyn and Fay Templeton are late arrivals ..."The Lily of Killarney" (a musical treatment of "The Colleen Bawn") is doing well at the Tivoli ... The Galatea illusion, Sig. Carlo and Achmet Bey have made hits at the Orpheum. Two new theatres are to be built on Market street. ....Cappa's Band will concertize 16 and 17 at the Grand Opera-house.

"Indiana," McNish, Johnson & Slavin, and Herrmann Have Large Audiences—Lotta's New Play Needs Toning Down.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 13.—Not a vacant seat could be found on the main floor of the Opera-house at the first Chicago performance of "Indiana." The audience was enthusiastic, and all the principal numbers without exception were demanded several times. Louise Paullin appeared for the first time as Indiana, and, though slightly nervous, made a hit. Annie Meyers as Nan and Digby Bell's Matt were the best-received characters.....At McVicker's, Lotta made her debut in her much-discussed "Pawn-ticket 210," an adaptation by David Belasco and Clay M. Greene of "Count Royal." Much of the humor is so broad and suggestive that it can't live long on a respectable stage; but abundant opportunities are afforded Lotta to display her specialties. John Howson's assumption of the role of the old pawnbroker was a clever bit of character acting. The support throughout was strong. There was a large audience, more inclined to enthusiasm than criticism, and the opening night went off with great hilarity and eclat. The cast was: Mag, Lotta; Uncle Harris, John Howson; John Sternhold, Charles L. Harris; Montague Flash, G. C. Boniface Jr.; Charley Saxe, Cyril Scott; Osiah Gregg, J. W. Hague; Postman, F. Woldo Parker; Ruth, Augusta Raymond; Alice Sternhold, Lillian Richardson; Aunt Dorothy, Ernestine Floyd.....McNish, Johnson & Slavin's Minstrels have turned people away from Grand for two performances, and if the rush continues part of the audience will have to sit on the sidewalk..... Herrmann, too, opened at Hooley's to bonanza houses, and has introduced enough novelty to thoroughly entertain his most constant old-time patrons....."My Geraldine" was presented to good business at the Columbia by Agnes Robertson.

"A Run of Luck" Proves a Go—Business Uniformally Good in Boston.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 13.—"A Run of Luck" was given its first production in America at the Boston Theatre last evening. No lithograph tickets were issued, and but few free passes of any kind; yet the house was crowded in every part by an enthusiastic audience which stamped the play a great success. Calls before the curtain were numerous, and Dan Maguinnis, Frank Losee, Forrest Robinson, Frank E. Lamb, Grace Thorne, Minnie Radcliffe and Lillian Lee scored successes. The play was magnificently mounted, and the stud of racing horses and pack of hunting dogs were introduced with great effectiveness. The piece will have a three months' run here without doubt and to good paying business. [It was originally acted acted Aug. 28, 1886, at the Drury-lane Theatre, London, Eng. Henry Pettitt and Augustus Harris are its authors.—ED. CLIPPER.].....The Night Owls" attracted a very large attendance to the Howard, and large audiences witnessed "The Corsair" at the Hollis, "Jim the Penman" at the Park, and "Monte Cristo," with James O'Neil as the star, at the Globe.

The Booth-Barrett Co. Open to a Swell Audience—Prosperous Business at all Houses.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The biggest money ever taken in at the Academy was the result of Booth-Barrett opening of their season in "Julius Cæsar" last night. Mr. Booth was in poor form, his voice showing very weak. Lawrence Barrett has reason to feel proud of his work, and his of reception at the hands of an ultra-fashionable audience that packed the house. Ladies in full evening dress and without bonnets stood in the gallery. The company did excellently, with one or two exceptions ....At the Court-street, "Zitka" made a big hit and scores of people had to take "S. R. O." The cathedral-set in the second act was greeted with storms of applause.....All the other houses opened well .. At Liedertafel Hall the management of the new Grand Opera-house gave a complimentary concert which turned away people. It will be repeated to-day, when seats for the opening with "Theodora," Sept. 19, will be auctioned off.

T. W. Keene and the Hanlons' "Le Voyage en Suisse" have Good Houses—A Theatre Changes Hands—Trouble in Wilson's "A Home Run" Co.

[Special Despatch to The New York Clipper.]

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 13.—"Le Voyage en Suisse," at the Academy, had the standing-room sign out early last night and caught on in great shape ..... T. W. Keene, at the Grand, played "Richelieu" before a good house and was called before the curtain after each act....Root & Love's Co. gave a fair performance, though laboring under disadvantages, to big business at the Palace. ....The People's held the usual Monday-night crowd. Sickness prevented Hattie Wescott from appearing, and Gertie Thornton filled her place ... The attendance at the Museum was a little off ... W. G. McFadden's managerial career at the Palace was brief. Herrmann Nunnemacher and the former manager, O. T. Miller, now have the theatre, and Manager Miller says he is going to keep it. No more experimenting.....John C. Sundin, of the Rive side Printing Co., has been engaged by Jacob Litt as business-manager of the Museum. ...All is not pleasant with the "Home Run" Company. Dislike for one of the female members (Dickie Wilson) is the cause.

Hot Weather Has a Tendency to Hurt Business—Edward Harrigan's Performance Delayed.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 13.—All places of amusement opened out in full blast last evening. The night was very hot, which had a tendency to lighten business.....At the Cootes, the curtain raised on "A Tin Soldier" to a very light house....Ed. Harrigan's Co. at the Gillis fared much better, having a well-filled house as well as an appreciative one. The curtain went up late, and a few little hitches, incidental to the first night's opening, delayed the closing of the performance until midnight ..."Two Old Cronies" packed the Ninth-street. Popular prices seem to draw the crowded houses ....."The French Spy" at the Museum is turning away people.

St. Louis Looming Up Well.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 13.—Lillian Lewis was well received in "The New Magdalen" at the Olympic Sunday night, and last night she had a full and enthusiastic audience .....The Golden Giant" proved an attractive play. Ralph Delmore as the Giant, Wm. S. Harkins as the Gambler, Mrs. Rankin as Bet and Miss Bigelow as Ethel Gray, deserve credit for the success of the play..... Sid C. France drew a crowded house to People's. ....Stetson's Burlesque Co. packed the Standard, and the specialty acts were all encored ...C. E. Verner has a good voice and is the most attractive Irish comedian that has visited us in a long time. He will do well at Pope's....The Casino had a full attendance last night to greet the new company.

Notes from Louisville.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 13.—Macauley's Theatre opened to a good house last night with the American Dramatic Association in "The Soul of Honor." .....Harris' Theatre opened with Edwin F. Mayo in "Davy Crockett" to a good matinee and a rousing night house ...The Buckingham started fairly well with a strong specialty bill....The Grand Central opened to a good house with a moderate variety performance.....Exposition Music Hall was crowded to witness the Bijou Opera Co. in "The Mikado."

"The American Claimant" Too Talky.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 13.—At the Wieting, a fair-sized audience witnessed "The American Claimant." The play was not a success, there being a surplus of dialogue and lack of brilliant climaxes. A. P. Burbank as Col. Sellers acquitted himself creditably. J. W. Pigott as Reput De Bohun did splendidly.

Inclement Weather Does Not Hurt.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 13.—Jennie Winston and the Pyke Opera Co. opened to a large and fashionable audience last night in the face of a very inclement weather. They have made a rich strike with their "Beggar Student."

A Slack-wire Performer Breaks His Arm.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper.]

Everything "S R. O."

Although forced this week to print extra pages, our space is still too limited to allow the publication in full of over a hundred dispatches from managers, telling of their large openings Sept. 12. We give a few: Haverly's Minstrels, at Terre Haute, Ind.; Prof. Bristol's horse-at Van Wyck's Academy, Norfol , Va.; 'The White Slave," at Harris' Academy, Baltimore, Md. (unprecedented in its history); the Noss Family, at Leechburg, Pa.; Hattie Bernard Chase, at the Standard, Chicago, Ill.; W. H. Rightmire's Co., at the Globe, Buffalo, N. Y.; Monroe & Rice's "My Aunt Bridget," at Albany, N. Y.; Criterion Opera Co., at Sackett & Wiggins' Wonderland, Grand Rapids, Mich. (rainy weather); J. J. Sullivan's "Black Thorn," at Theatre Belknap, Bridgeport, Ct.; Floy Crowell's Co., at Lowell's Opera-house, Dover Depot, N. H. (new house—its first opening); Ada Gray, at Griswold's, Troy, N. Y.; Tony Pastor's Co., at Academy, Rochester, N. Y. (largest in the history of the house); Denver Musee, Leadville, Col (new house); "Two Old Cronies," at the Ninth street Theatre, Kansas City, Mo.; Morrissey's Hibernicon, at Masonic Hall, Manayunk, Pa.; Baird's Dramatic Co., at North Bay, Can.; Corinne in 'Arcadia" at H. R. Jacob's Arch-street Opera-house, Philadelphia, Pa.

KENTUCKY.

LOUISVILLE.—At Macauley's week of Sept. 12, American Co-operative Dramatic Association. The Hanlons opened 5 to an exceedingly fine house in "Le Voyage en Suisse," but the latter part of the week they played to only moderate houses.

HARRIS' THEATRE.—Week of 12, E. F. Mayo in "Davy Crockett." The Austin Australian Novelty Co. was the recipient of crowded houses.

MASONIC TEMPLE opened the season 8 with C. E. Verner in "Shamus O'Brien" for three nights, to very good houses.

GRAND CENTRAL.—Week of 12: Lou Baker, Josie D'Arcy, Bruns and Munroe, the Nesbits, and Hider and Bowers. Business was fair for the week.

BUCKINGHAM.—Week of 12: Brant and Vernon, the Macarthys, Maggie Merideth, the Melvins and Alice Clark. Business is good.

NOTES.—Prof. Herrmann is performing to very large crowds at the Exposition this week. For next week the management announces the Bijou Opera Co. Pain's Burning of Moscow, every Thursday and Saturday evening, draws crowds. .....S. H. Friedlander, manager of Harris' Theatre, lighted the house 2, at which a number of his friends and the press were invited to inspect it in its new dress. .....The Bourlier Bros., sole proprietors of Masonic Temple, invited their friends and the press to inspect the improvements 10 made during the Summer—new scenery, carpets, stage, etc. They have introduced a fanning wheel to draw the foul air from the body of the house. A sumptuous spread was laid behind the scenes.

OWENSBORO.—At the Opera-house Sept. 19, Nashville Students, Chas. A. Loder's "Hilarity" Co. 20, 21, Cora Van Tassel 24. J. Z. Little's "World" 27.... W. H. Harris' Nickel-plate Circus open a three days' engagement 12. They have been playing all the Ohio River towns on their way South.....Your correspondent has been in Louisville for the past two weeks, and is indebted to the Hanlons' "Le Voyage" Co. and W. H. Harris of the Nickel-plate Circus for courtesies extended, and also to your correspondent at that place.

LEXINGTON.—At the Opera-house, Sept. 6, a large and well-pleased audience greeted C. E. Verner in "Shamus O'Brien." Baird's Minstrels had a good house 12. Andrews' "Michael Strogoff" Co. 19, 20.

RHODE ISLAND.

PROVIDENCE.—At the Sans Souci Garden, Lottie Church in "Unknown" last week did a very profitable business and closed Sept. 10 to a packed house. Will J. Mack and a good support are on for the current week. If the weather is favorable, the theatre may remain open another week.

LOW'S OPERA-HOUSE.—"We, Us & Co." 15, 16, 17.

KEITH'S NEW GAIETY MUSEUM.—Success seems to stay here, and a crowd was the rule last week. The increasing patronage has so heavily taxed the seating capacity that changes have been made to provide room for 100 additional seats. The bill this week: Gardner and Bernard, T. F. Grant, Marion Brothers, Pat Plummer, Vennetta and Adams, Kitty Mills, Alexander and Vaughn, Edwin F. Armand and Walter Wentworth.

THEATRE COMIQUE.—Wm. Ashcroft's Minstrels were a the big thing here last week. Every team that went on scored a hit. W. J. Ashcroft in 'Macnamara's Band' and "The Solid Man" was applauded to the echo. "Checkered Life," this week. Next Rentz-Santley Co.

WESTMINSTER MUSEE.—This favorite theatre threw open its doors 12, revealing a newly-gilded interior, adorned with floral painted borders, crystal chandeliers and superb new scenery and drop-curtain. The hall, annex and every apartment has been beautified, and nothing neglected conducive to the comfort and enjoyment of its patrons. A giant orchestrion, imported from Germany, is set in position. Mr. Handy has made many valuable additions to the menagerie, and a myriad of rare curiosities are shown. While on his European tour Manager Bingham booked a wealth of attractions. The house opened with the following from Europe: Living mermaid from the Royal Aquarium, Stanton and Corri, Frank Ottaway, McKay and Wray, and Nat Emmett; American representatives: Karoly Orley, Master Rogers, Tribie, snake-charmer; Verno, Murdock's Punch and Judy, F. A Gibbons and his Gibboscope. Great interest was taken in the decorations from the Queen's Jubilee, and copies of the Turner and Landseer pictures in the National Gallery. Notwithstanding a cold rain, the seating capacity was severely tested. Lots of fun and plenty of enthusiasm. Next week will be of equal interest. The outlook is very promising for a prosperous season.

NOTES.—Sept. 12, for one week in Infantry Hall, Hamilton & Overend's new diorama "Excursions All over the World," on 12 000 feet of canvas.....Ernest Hunoold and brother, artistic club-swingers, sailed for Liverpool 14, having in view a business tour of the Islands and continental countries .... The Slocum Brothers, well known here, go to Europe the last of this month with the Olympian Quintet, who are under contract with Thomas Kennedy, the well-known mesmerist, and who was the general agent of the Miller, Stowe & Freeman Circus during the Summer season .....Dick Farnum of Farnum Bros. recently presented James, his brother, with a costly gold watch in recognition of their six years' continuous service together.....Manager Thurber and wife and Mr. Carleton spent a very pleasant evening Monday with Manager Torrence of the Globe Theatre .....Farnum Bros.' Specialty Co. are rehearsing at Pawtucket.

WESTERLY.—The season at Bliven's Opera-house opened Sept. 5, with Augusta Van Doren in "Charlotte Russe," to a light audience. Barry and Fay come 16, Jennie Calef 19, 20.....Letters received from Happy Dougherty and Prof. Yaeger, both of this city, who are with the Pat Maloney Show, state that the company are doing a fine business through New Jersey.....C. W. Daniels, ahead of J. S. Murphy, and J. H. Washburn, ahead of Earry & Fay's Co., were here last week.

WAKEFIELD.—At Wright's Opera-house, Frank W. Nason, agent for Richard Hume's "Ginger Snap" Co., was in town Sept. 9, billing for 16 and 17. Sullivan & Mack's Minstrel and Variety Co. played to good houses 8 and 9. Prof. Thurber 14.

TEXAS.

HOUSTON.—The new play that Louise Balfe intends to open the season at Pillot's Sept. 26 turns out to be no new play at all, for it is "The Planter's Wife," and has been seen here before.....The Palace Theatre will open the season 19 with an entire new company. Retained for three weeks longer: Kittie Roslyn, Ullie Singleton, Jennie Burke and Zener Leroie....Bachelors' Hall is being magnificently furnished, and will be in first-class shape for the reception of Louise Balfe after the close of her performance at Pillot's 26. Actors, minstrels and showmen will read with pleasure the reopening of this fine club-room by their old friend, Peter Loiselle, who so often entertained them in past years in the most liberal style.

DALLAS.—Great preparations are being made for the coming fair, the latter part of October, when theatrical circles will be in full blast.....W. H. Quinnette of the Quinnette Family is manager of Niemeyer's Central Variety Theatre. Opening Sept. 12; Chas. Glidon, Grace Glidon, Annie Deuwe, Jessie Reed, Annie Wilson, Stella Swan, Lily Hasson, Harrison and Green, and Emma Quinnett.....The Doris & Colvin Circus is billed for Oct. 28.....Sells Bros. came 19.....Sam McFlinn will be here Sept. 19 with his ten-cent show for one week.....There is nothing at the Opera-house till Oct. 20.

TEMPLE.—The Bijou Opera-house, now under construction, will be one of the best in the State. The stage is 30x50ft., height 26ft., opening 24x24ft., eight dressing-rooms, gas and water, ample fire exits, eighteen full sets of scenery; seating capacity 900. The house opens Oct. 5, 6 with Louise Balfe, followed by Charlotte Thompson 11, "Michael Strogoff" 19, Fleming's "Around the World" 28.

CORSICANA.—Hanlin's New Standard Theatre opened its season Sept 5, with Chris Matthews, Lily Wilson, John Coburn, Annie Jewell, Sam Hilton, John Carroll and others, to good business.

SHERMAN.—Although the advance-agent for McFlinn's Ten-cent Circus came here and signed contract with parties for the use of private grounds, the dates agreed upon have passed, and still the show fails to materialize.

OREGON.

PORTLAND.—The New Market Theatre did an immense business last week with the Osborne & Stockwell Co. The following are some of the coming attractions: Louis Harrison in "Skipped" Sept. 19, one week; the Alcazar Theatre Co. in "Harbor Lights," 26, one week; Maud Granger Oct. 3, one week. This is Manager Howe's fourth season here, and it is but scant justice to say that he has well and truly earned his strong popularity with the press and public of Portland. Mr. Howe has some very strong attractions booked besides those mentioned, and expects to make this season his most successful one .....At the Tivoli, Jolly Nash's "All For Fun" Co. are doing well, together with the following: Fisher and Dellwall, Hayes and Marion, Morton and Goldie, Jessie Cogill, the Ricketts, Sadie Fairfield and Lou Temple.....S. H. Barrett's Circus exhibits here 8, 9.

INDIANAPOLIS.—The season at the Grand Opera-house opened Sept. 9 with Mrs. McKee Rankin in "The Golden Giant" to a good-sized audience. The house will remain closed until 19, when "Fantasma" comes for one week.

ENGLISH'S OPERA-HOUSE.—W. H. Power in "Ivy Leaf" opens the season 19.

DIME MUSEUM.—J. Z. Little's "World" Co. is due for one week, commencing 19. Joseph D. Clifton, in "Myrtle Ferns" and "Ranch King," is on this week. Martin Hayden, in "A Young Hero," played to a good business last week.

EDEN MUSEE.—Minnie Johnson, the fat woman, is an extra attraction this week.

NOTES.—Romeo Johnson, press-agent of the Grand Opera-house, is home, after a few weeks' trip through the East.....Ed. Richter, who has been the advertising-agent of the Museum for several seasons, will again do the hustling.

TERRE HAUTE.—The Ringgold Band tournament commenced Sept. 11 and lasts three days. The following bands will be in attendance: Schmidt's of Evansville, Myer's of Washington, Ind., Goodman Band of Decatur, Ill., Harmony of Harmony, Brazil of Brazil and Cornet of Terre Haute, Whiteland of Whiteland, Ind., Maxwell's of Decatur and Franklin of Franklin. The weather, according to its custom on these musical occasions, promises to be wet and disagreeable.....At Naylor's, Haverly's Minstrels is booked for 12. The house will be dark the balance of the week. "Hidden Hand" and "Fantasma" are underlined.

FORT WAYNE.—The MacCollin Opera Co. opened the season at the Temple Sept. 6 and 7, presenting "The Musketeers" and "Francois the Blue-stocking" to fair audiences. "A Chip o' the Old Block" followed 8 to fair business.....The Academy of Music was dark last week. The Criterion Opera Co. come week of 19, and the Huntley-Gilbert Comedy Co. week of 26....Forepaugh's Show Oct. 11. S. H. Seamon and Robert Campbell have been here working the town big.....J. S. Wulff took his variety people to Bluffton Sept. 11 and played to good business. His people remain here another week. They are the Stetson Sisters, Valvo, Victoria Maxwell, Somers and Walters. Held over: The Stanfords and Lillie Conley.....Cora Van Tassel is at the Temple 13.

MISSOURI.—[See Page 420.]

ST. LOUIS.—All the places of amusement were well patronized till Sept. 7, when the Exposition opened, and there was a sudden drop. However, the increasing arrivals of strangers and country merchants will keep up the business pretty well.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—"The Golden Giant" is being produced for the first time here this week. "A Tin Soldier" did a good business last week. McNish, Johnson & Slavin's Minstrels are underlined for 18.

OLYMPIC THEATRE.—Lillian Lewis commenced a week's engagement 11. Haverly's Minstrels made a good start and drew fairly well during the past week. The specialties are the attractions of the show. Edward Harrigan's Co. 18–24.

POPE'S THEATRE.—C. E. Verner in "Shamus O'Brien" this week. "Two Old Cronies" made a big hit last week, and will be welcomed again. Marguerite Fish week of 18–24.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—Sid C. France is the attraction this week. Agnes Herndon did a fair business last week. "Peck's Bad Boy" (Atkinson's) will tickle the upper tiers week of 18–24.

STANDARD THEATRE.—Stetson's Burlesque and Novelty Co. are here this week. "The Silver King" drew fairly well last week. Louie Lord is announced for 18–24.

CASINO THEATRE.—C. H. Johnson, M. J. Murphy, Esse Clinton, Johnny Cain, Jennie Haywood, John Gibson, James F. Murray, Geo. Wills, Grace Barron, James Flynn, Maude Walker and the stock are announced for this week. Business is fair.

ESHER'S THEATRE.—Manager Esher will continue his present company this week. His house is most always crowded by 10 P. M.

PALACE THEATRE.—Sylvester and Holly, Etta Storms, the Three-and-a-half Days, John H. Mack, Bob and Chas. Ames, Chas. Morgan, Ed. and Blanche Lamothe, John Ruth and the stock are announced for this week.

MUSEUM AND BIJOU THEATRE.—Madame Leland, who has proved very attractive with her den of anacondas, fifteen in number, has been re-engaged for this week. The new three-act drama of "Bud and Blossom" will be presented this week by Laura Moore's Co., also the London Mystery, Smith and Fuller and their twenty-seven instruments. The Baby Taylor and the Rogers Family have also been engaged. Business is fair.

CHAT.—Chas. B. Nial, late head-usher at the Olympic Theatre, died of malarial fever at his home in this city 5. He was twenty-one years of age. The ushers of the Olympic sent a pillow bearing the word "Rest" for his coffin, and those of the Grand Opera-house a wreath. They all attended the funeral. The body was interred at Bellefontaine Cemetery ..... Chas. Melville, the advance-agent for "The Golden Giant," worked up business in good shape last week.

KANSAS CITY.—At the Coates Opera-house, Sol Smith Russell opened the season Sept. 8. The attendance was good. This week, "A Tin Soldier." There is no change in the management of the house, Mlle. Hudson is still manager and lessee, Billy Warren treasurer, and Wilson T. Haynes is on the door.

GILLIS OPERA-HOUSE.—This week, Edward Harrigan's Co. The prospects are good for a big business. Last week the house was dark.

NINTH-STREET THEATRE.—This week, Henshaw and Ten Broeck in "Two Old Cronies" will appear. Last week, Marie Prescott opened the season. Her company is composed of Marie Prescott, Rose Easton, Kate D. Pell, Cora Loyd, R. D. McLean, L. R. Grisel, W. J. Humphery, Robert Durton, Howard Tillis, J. D. Hallock, Wm. Hewatt, Ward Rensselier and D. J. Guney, and is under the direction of John W. Blaisdell. John Whitley is manager; Geo. H. Lomax, business-agent. This season opened with very flattering prospects. Coming week of 19, Mattie Vickers.

COLISEUM THEATRE.—The following are the attractions for this week: The Barrons, Charley and Minnie Osborne, the Powers, Thies and Hall, and Morrissey and Stehle. Business is good.

WALNUT-STREET THEATRE.—New arrivals: The Buffalo Trio, Price and Mason, and Fernando Fleury. Remaining: Christie and Pearl, Dolan Bros., and Eva Lester. Business last week was good.

KANSAS CITY MUSEUM.—The season opened booming, and never before in the history of the Museum have they had such crowded houses. This week: Chief Debro, Madame June and Tot Littlefinger will grace the curio-hall, while Kittie and Goldie Melville, Hughes and Monti, and Harry Netter will appear in the lecture-hall. "The French Spy" will be presented at the theatre.

CHAT.—Manager Hudson has returned from the East, where he had been spending the Summer. It has not been all vacation for Mr. Hudson, as during his stay there he has booked some fine attractions for the Coates and Gillis this season..... Fred Mears, who was such a favorite at the Museum last season, is now connected with the Ninth-street Theatre.....Forepaugh's Circus 21.

MARYLAND.

BALTIMORE.—Every theatre in the city except the Holliday-street gave an extra matinee Sept. 12, which was the anniversary of the battle of North Point and a legal holiday. "The White Slave" opened Harris' season at the Academy of Music, drawing largely at each performance. Three matinees will be given weekly, Mondays, Thursdays and Saturdays. — Oliver Leland's play, "The Czarina," which was produced Sept. 3 by Mrs. D. P. Bowers at the People's Theatre, Brooklyn, although unknown to the present generation of theatre-goers, was one of Mrs. Jean Davenport Lander's successes. It was recently purchased by Mrs. Bowers. The plot hinges upon the love of Catharine of Russia for a Polish nobleman, Count Eric. The Count is discovered in the Czarina's apartments, but the Czar is made to believe that he is there to visit the Princess Olga. He orders the Count to marry the Princess, and the command is obeyed. Later the Czar discovers the truth, and condemns Catharine to death, but dies before the death-warrant is signed. Catharine becomes Empress, but, discovering that Eric has learned to love his wife, she puts her own feelings aside and bids the pair be happy. The play is strong, and Mrs. Bowers gives a consistent and powerful portrayal of the Czarina.

— Mme. Christine Dossert, a concert and oratorio singer, died at Bath Beach, L. I., Sept. 11, of an internal cancer. She was born in Buffalo in 1855. Dr. Hall's Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn and at the Church of the Incarnation in this city. In 1882 she married Ryland R. Macdonald of this city, and has since resided here. She had, however, always been known on the stage as Mme. Christine Dossert. In the course of her career she had traveled with Theo. Thomas, H. C. Jarrett, Caroline Richings Bernard and others. Her father, sixty-six years old, died of heart-disease Sept. 10.

— Mrs. M. H. Sanford, an aunt of Kate Field and George Riddle, sails for Europe the latter part of this month. She will be the guest of Genevieve Ward while there.

VARIETY AND MINSTREL.

HENRY C. TAUBERT, professionally known as Harry C. Talbert, late of Thatcher, Primrose & West's Minstrels, died of consumption, Sept. 3, at the residence of his family, 76 Myrtle street, Brooklyn, E. D. Deceased was born in New York City, and was twenty-eight years old. He first came into prominence in 1879, in partnership with Will H. Mayo. The team of Mayo and Talbert existed several seasons, when they organized the well-known Four-in-Hand, playing successfully two or three seasons, after which they joined T., P. & W.'s Minstrels, in 1883. After their first season with T., P. & W., they left, one by one, deceased remaining until the time of his sickness, barring his short engagement with Haverly's Minstrels at the Drury-lane Theatre, London, Eng., in May, 1884. His last appearance was as end-man with T., P. & W., at the Windsor Theatre, this city, Feb. 12, 1887, after which he was forced to take to his bed, where he remained up to the time of his death. He was of a very ambitious nature, and it was only due to his perseverance that he reached his high position in minstrelsy. He had also earned much reputation as a producer and author, many of his compositions, etc., becoming widely popular. The funeral, which was private, took place Sept. 7, and he was buried in the family plot in Evergreen Cemetery. Deceased leaves a widow, who deeply mourns her loss. He was very popular, professionally and otherwise.

CAPT. LEROY, late leader of the Salvation Army in St. Paul, well known as "Happy Harry," and a vigorous exhorter and tambourine player, has given up evangelizing, and now is waiter in a variety theatre in that city. He serves beer with great skill, and says that there's more money in that work than in trying to convert folks.

MILTON G. BARLOW did not obtain his liberty by his habeas-corpus proceeding Sept. 6, but in addition was fined for contempt in not paying the final judgment. He has not the money to pay.

THE WATSONS, John Lyons and Fred Hall are rusticating at Lake Quinsigamond, where they remain a week and go on the road again.

JOHN W. RANDOLPH and Wilkes McClave are credited with an intention to organize a female minstrel company.

BLONDIN, of tight-rope memory, will reach New York May 1, 1888. He comes to fill an engagement.

THE TISSOTS arrived from Europe recently and opened with the Mrs. Tom Thumb Co., Sept. 12.

MARCELLUS PIERO, a child acrobat, of Rochester, N. Y., appealed to the Mulberry-street police, this city, Sept. 7, for protection. He claims to have been engaged by Advance-agent Bair of "Zozo" to appear at the Windsor Theatre, but upon application was refused employment. He was given to the care of the S. P. C. C.

JEROME T. CARPENTER, after closing with Healy & Bigelow's Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., No. 19, joins Carpenter's Zouave Minstrels Oct. 19. The company will be composed thus: Carpenter, Schaffer & Clark, proprietors; Jerome T. Carpenter, manager; L. M. Boyer, advance-agent; Alvido, James Clifford, Joe Bentley, Alf. Christie, Harry Campbell, E. S. Thomas, W. R. Emmett, Kiralto and Barreto, Schaffer and Clark, James Belmont, Wallace Gilmore, W. T. Belknap, George Goewey, Lernando Brothers, and Tom Symington, leader.

FANNIE LAVELLE, of the Lavelle Sisters, could not open at the Palace Theatre, St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 5, on account of sickness.

G. H. C. OSBORN has closed with Parlow Bros. & Frost's Minstrels and joined Hennessy Bros.

ALFRED MIACO'S people for "The Magic Talisman" are: Laura Miaco, the Magnani Family, Fred Roberts, Maud Elliott, Fanny Cushman, the Rixford Brothers and B. Mendelson, manager.

THE management of Epstean's Museum, Chicago, Ill., were obliged to give extra performances Sept. 5 (the opening day), to accommodate the people. So we are informed.

THE Roster of Austin's Australian Novelty Co. is: Loa and Ruge, Le Clair and Russell, W. H. McBride, St. George Hussey, Baldwin and Daly, Rose Austin, Mlle. Aimee and Ramza and Arno. They opened season with a boom at Louisville, Ky., Sept. 5.

J. W. MCANDREWS has left Sweatnam, Rice & Fagan's Minstrels.

FLORA IRWIN on Sept. 8 published a "personal" in a New York newspaper, notifying her friends that she was the wife of Hon. Thomas F. Grady, ex-State Senator. The date of the wedding is not disclosed.

TRACEY AND EGAN have returned from Canada, where they have been spending the Summer.

EMMA MIRANDA and Belle Celeste are said to have done some fast traveling last week. They did their act twice with Holland & McMahon's Circus in Minneapolis, Minn., then taking a special train for St. Paul, at 9 o'clock P. M., they opened with T. C. Howard's Spectacular Co. the same evening in the latter city. Their costumes were changed en route. The time between their two performances is stated to have been two hours.

JOHN BOTTOMLEY, Thomas Lewis and Charles W. Kennison have recently joined Wilson & Rankin's Minstrels.

HATTON AND SCHULTZ gave an entertainment Sept. 3 at the residence of W. I. Snyder of Peck & Snyder, at Little Silver, N. J.

THE Howard Athenæum Co. commence their season Sept. 20 at Rand's Opera-house, Troy, N. Y. S. P. Coney, the manager, says he has one of the strongest troupes he ever had.

BEN LEAVITT is in high feather over the prospects of the Rentz-Santley Co. Something phenomenal is promised in the way of a first-part. The costumes are claimed to be the finest this company has ever indulged in.

S. S. STEWART has published the "Isabel Waltz," a banjo composition of excellent merit.

DOLLIE MOORE, wife of John A. Newman, died at the St. Vincent Hospital, Cleveland, O., Sept. 7. She and her husband comprised the German comedy duo of Newman and Moore, traveling with the Oregon Indian Medicine Co.

EDDIE LA BARRE, formerly with the Daly Co., has joined Wilson's All-star Minstrels. Prof. Norry Borain is also an addition.

GLENFIELD AND LORANZO, magicians, commence their tour of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania Sept. 14.

LEROUX, of Leroux and Wilton, horizontal-bar performers, had a bad fall at Miner's Eighth-avenue Theatre, this city, night of Sept. 8, while attempting one of their many difficult acts in oscillation. As the scenes were immediately run on which the performer lay when he had fallen, it was a mistake not to announce to the audience the extent of his injuries, and it was quite a time before Joe Hart, whose act followed, got the audience into a laughing humor. Luckily Mr. Leroux was only badly stunned, and appeared as usual the following evening.

JOHN AND HARRY KERNELL start out with their own company Sept. 19 at Wilmington, Del. They have a strong and popular list of people.

J. E. GIBSON, formerly of Gibson and Boyle, has joined his old partner, George F. Ames.

HODJ LE MAHOFODE, Arabian rifle shot, with Pain's Fireworks Exhibition at Manhattan Beach, Coney Island, N. Y., was presented with an elegant gold medal Sept. 9.

M. B. LEAVITT, writing to THE CLIPPER from Paris, Fr., under date of Aug. 31, says: "Just a line. I sail for home Sept. 3. I have done considerable business over here, notwithstanding that my trip this time was solely for the benefit of my health. Having an opportunity to secure some good novelties, I pitched in. I have engaged for a tour of my Mexican circuit and California Donna Marie D. Escozos, the Spanish lady prestidigitateur. I have also secured Mlle. Trinidad Chancs, Spanish character-dancer. She has created a sensation in Paris the past year. Have secured the Brothers Tacki, grotesque musical clowns. These three novelties will form an organization which I send direct to the City of Mexico, opening there Sept. 24. Am now arranging with the Campanini-Scalchi Concert Co. for seventy five concerts in Mexico and California next Winter. Prof. Bartholomew's Equine Paradox are doing an immense business in the City of Mexico under my management. After playing the city I shall send them on a tour of twelve weeks in the interior. I arranged while at Milan for a first-class Italian opera company for a tour of Mexico and California and the principal cities of the United States season of 1888-9. Have also about closed arrangements for the appearance of Prof. Bartholomew at the Eden Theatre here during the Exposition in May, 1888. I have secured the London Gaiety burlesque of 'Monte Cristo Jr.;' will put it on the road next Fall with a strong burlesque organization. Have arranged with C. A. Chizzola, whereby I will play and handle all the novelties and attractions which he will send to America in the next two years.

MOMUS' MERRY SON.

We are all acquainted with Bob Slavin, who, at some time or other, has chased away the blues for pretty nearly everybody that has ever visited a minstrel show. Bob Slavin came into the world in 1856, Baltimore, Md., was his birthplace. At eleven he was George Nachman's partner, and for two years they played all the variety houses in the country. Then he joined Tony Pastor's Co. for a season, following that up with an engagement in Hooley's Minstrels, with whom he went to California. He next joined Birch, Wambold & Rackus in this city, remaining with their troupe until he became attached to J. H. Haverly's Minstrels. He then went to Emerson's Minstrels in San Francisco, and while in that city he assisted in forming the partnership now existing between Carroll Johnson, Frank McNish and himself. Mr. Slavin was married in 1878 to Agnes Louise Lawrence, a Pennsylvania lady.

FOREIGN.

FRAULEIN LEISTINGER'S engagement to appear at the Paris Opera has been canceled, and she will return to Berlin. The North German Gazette says she was warned before engaging to appear in Paris what the nature of her reception would be, and the Director of Theatres at Berlin communicated with M. Flourens, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, asking him to influence the managers of the Opera to prevent Leistinger's appearance. The managers, however, at first refused to cancel the engagement, but since then, although the lady was still desirous of trying to win the favor of a Paris audience, have decided not to risk further failures in producing German operas or German singers.

MARY ANDERSON'S opening at the London, Eng., Lyceum, in "A Winter's Tale," is said by the cable to have been attended by a packed house, though, owing to the fact that the town season is approaching its close, few notable persons were among the audience. The pit howled with indignation because the manager placed stalls in that part of the house, and half of the first act was drowned. The appearance of Miss Anderson, however, soothed the audience. She received an enthusiastic welcome, and was recalled twice in the death-scene. Parts of the play she performed splendidly, but the piece was slow and flagged, and its staying powers are doubtful. Sophie Eyre shared the honors.

ADELAIDE DETCHON is still giving readings in England, though she is no longer under H. J. Sargent's management.

AYNESLEY COOK will manage T. W. Robertson's "Caste" Co. in England until December next, when its tour will close.

JESSIE BARTLETT DAVIS, who is in Paris, will return to America in a few weeks.

E. J. HENLEY, Carrie Coote, Gustav Amberg and Marie Engel sailed from England for New York Sept. 10. Louise Pyk-Newson will come over later.

"THE THREE PINTOS," Weber's unfinished opera, has been completed by Herr Mahler, orchestra-leader of the Leipsic Stadt Theatre. Capt. Weber, a grandson of the composer, has furnished the libretto.

THE latest advices from Paris, Fr., say that Sarah Bernhardt has lost her voice entirely, caused by a cold contracted from exposure. She is confined to her home near Lourdres under a physician's care. It is feared that she has received a permanent injury to her throat.

"THE BALLAD-MONGER," a new adaptation by Walter Besant and W. H. Pollock of T. De Banville's "Gringoire," has been produced at the London, Eng., Haymarket Theatre.

CHARLES GROVES sailed from England Sept. 10 for this city. E. D. Ward, who comes over to join the new Wallack Co., was given a farewell dinner 5 by his brother Thespians. Lionel Brough presided.

THE Metropolitan Opera-house will not know Materna this Winter, she having contracted with a Vienna manager until next May.

A LISZT SOCIETY is being formed in Vienna for the production in a befitting manner of the master's works. His known works number 1,233. Only 206 have been performed.

"LA DAME DE MONSOREAU," M. Salvayre's latest dramatic effort, will soon be done at the Grand Opera-house, Paris, Fr.

AN ADAPTATION of Alexandre Dumas' "L'Affaire Clemenceau" is to form the principal attraction at the Paris, Fr., Vaudeville this season. Mlle. Cerney will create the principal part.

"THE BARRISTER," a three-act comedy by G. M. Fenn and J. H. Darnley, was done Sept. 6 at the Comedy Theatre, London, for the first time in the English metropolis. The piece was originally produced March 19, at the Grand Theatre, Leeds. The motif hinges on the attempts made to recover possession of a barrister's bag that has been lost, containing valuable papers. The piece is credited with success.

"THE SHADOWS OF LIFE" received its premier Sept. 10 at the Elephant and Castle, London.

"SURCOUF," a new comic-opera by R. Planquette (libretto by MM. Chivot and Duru) will be the opening attraction at the Folies-Dramatique, Paris.

"LE CHEVALIER TIRMIDE," Edward Missa's comic-opera, was sung for the first time Sept. 1 at the Menus-Plaisirs Theatre, Paris.

"CONDEMNED," said to be an American drama with the author's name stated as Huston Knowles, was performed Aug. 25 for the first time in England at the Theatre Royal, Castleford.

MARIE VANONI is meeting with much success at the London Alhambra, in her well-known turn of songs-and-dances.

THE ST. FELIX SISTERS are doing nicely in Sheridan's "Fun on the Bristol" Co., in London, Eng.

"COUNT TREMOLIO," Alfred R. Watson's comic-opera, received its premier Sept. 5, at the Theatre Royal, Nottingham, Eng.

"MEXICAN BILL," a five-act drama by Butler Stanhope, was acted for the first time Aug. 29 at the Theatre Royal, Birkenhead, Eng.

"LES SATURNALES," by Albin Valabregue and P. Lacome, is to be done at the Nouveau Theatre, Paris, Fr. The action of the piece takes place in Pompeii.

"LA FIANCEE DES VERTS-POTEAUX" (music by Audran, libretto by Maurice Ordonneau) is to be done at an early date at the Menus-Plaisirs Theatre, Paris.

GEORGIA.

ATLANTA.—Weston Bros. are due at De Gives' Sept. 12, 13, in "The Way of the World." The house was tested to its full standing-room capacity 9, Wilson & Rankin's Minstrels being the attraction. They inaugurated the regular season here. Good business prevailed at matinee the following day, and closing appearance at night. Local talent will appear in concert 15, followed by "Only a Woman's Heart" 16, 17, Lizzie Evans 19, 20, Baird's Minstrels 30, Oct. 1.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Lowell's Opera-house opened with Floy Crowell 12 and week to promising business. This house will be run at popular prices in the main, and the manager informs me that he has been very successful in booking.

ILLINOIS.

CHICAGO.—Business was good at all the theatres last week, though not exceptionally heavy. T. W. Keene's return filled the Chicago Opera-house nightly, and he was heartily welcomed. His repertory was "Richelieu," "Othello," "Richard III" and "The Merchant of Venice." McCaull's Opera Co. opened its engagement with "Indiana" for the first time in Chicago.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—Empty seats were scarcer than straw hats in Winter while "A Rag Baby" and Charley Reed's Old Sport held the fort last week. The advance sale for McNish, Johnson & Slavin's opening this week are very large.

HOOLEY'S THEATRE.—With her bubbling spirits, bright girls and clever specialties, Vernona Jarbeau had no trouble filling the house with "Starlight." Herrmann the magician, an old-time favorite here, is now on for two weeks.

MCVICKER'S THEATRE.—The Florences saved their sole novelty, "Uncle Bob," for the wind-up of their engagement, and gave it only three times—9, 10 and matinee 10. It was well liked. [It is by Charles Gayler. In it Mr. Florence appears as a rough, hearty, Westener, who has made a fortune in the mines, and who goes East to visit the family of his fashionable brother. Mrs. Florence is the widow of a Major, and she devotes herself to an attempt to lasso Uncle Bob. This was its first performance on any stage.—ED. CLIPPER.] Lotta is now baptizing her latest venture, "Pawn-ticket 210," by Clay M. Greene.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—Rice's "Evangeline," though a little worn at the seams, tickled many a palate last week, and then sought fresh fields while Agnes Robertson succeeded it with "My Geraldine."

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Though the critics pronounced "From Sire to Son" incoherent and crude, its dramatic situations caught the house and drew good business. Martin Hayden is now playing "A Boy Hero."

WINDSOR THEATRE.—Louie Lord went through a week of "Idonia," and made way for Jennie Yeamans in "Our Jennie."

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—"The Ranch King" coined money, thanks mainly to jammed upper tiers. "A Chip o' the Old Block" is on. Sept. 19, Wallick's "Cattle King."

STANDARD THEATRE.—The New York Bijou Opera Co. ended its run with "Victor the Bluestocking." Hettie Bernard Chase is the present attraction.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—Reilly & Wood's Co. gave the Lyceum a flattering send-off for the season. A. H. Varley's "Samuel of Posen" came after them.

OLYMPIC THEATRE.—C. A. Loder's "Hilarity" Co. kept crowds laughing all last week.

CRITERION THEATRE.—Nellie Walters' opening with "Vixie" made Manager Engel laugh when he balanced the books. "The Argonauts of '49" followed.

CASINO THEATRE.—There were uniformly good houses to hear Amy Gordon's Opera Co. warble "Fra Diavolo." This week she will present "The Merry War."

GRENIER'S GARDEN.—W. H. Stevens' Co. gave "The Perils of New York" to fair business. They play "Glenwood Gulch" this week.

EPSTEAN'S MUSEUMS.—This week: Gems of Erin Specialty Co., Dot & Quigley's Congress of Midgets, performing birds, etc.

KOHL & MIDDLETON'S MUSEUM.—The Venetian lace-makers, "Ten Nights in a Bar-room" and Buckley's Serenaders.

BITS OF GOSSIP.—Clay M. Greene and David Belasco arrived in Chicago 9, to superintend the final rehearsals of "Pawn-ticket 210."..... Henry Grumfinger, a German actor, has been arrested by his wife for a love affair with Mrs. Grumfinger's sister, Mary Heiland. A divorce suit is threatened..... A. H. Bond, stage-carpenter at Hooley's Theatre, was killed 3 by a fall from a ladder while setting the stage for "Starlight." Mr. Hooley gave Mrs. Bond $100, and on 9 a matinee benefit was tendered her in which volunteers from "Evangeline," "A Rag Baby," "Starlight," and Reily & Woods Cos. participated..... Prof. Morris' Equine and Canine Paradox is at the Casino Rink for two weeks..... Cappa's Band, from New York, gave a largely-attended concert at Central Music Hall 7. ..... H. M. Markham, of Louie Lord's "Idonia" Co., was slightly wounded in the arm by a careless thrust of a rapier during the play.

ROCKFORD.—The season was auspiciously opened night of Sept. 6, by F. R. Warde, in "Damon and Pythias." The uniform rank, K. of P., attended in a body. At the conclusion of act four Dr. Dunn, on behalf of the Knights, presented Mr. Warde with a beautiful floral emblem. Mr. Warde responded neatly. 7 "Virginius," 8 "Galba," and 9 "Richard III," when the Elks, by invitation, will attend in a body. Agnes Robertson had 12, but canceled, and will remain in Chicago one more week. Coming, "Silver King" 17.

DECATUR.—The Opera-house was packed Sept. 3 to see Eugene Canfield in "A Tin Soldier." Mattie Vickers pleased a fair-sized audience 5 with "Jacquine." J. Z. Little's "World" 10, Cora Van Tassel 17, "Around the World" 28..... P. H. Woodworth, an old friend of THE CLIPPER, who has been working a faith-cure fake with great success at Boiling Springs, in this vicinity, has ordered a new 60x90 tent of Murphy & Baker, Chicago, which he will pitch at Oakland Park 12 for an indefinite time.

BLOOMINGTON.—Forepaugh's Show played to good business Sept. 5. Both afternoon and evening the tent was crowded... Howard's "Sam'l o' Posen" Co. played to good business in Durley Theatre 8. Charles A. Loder's "Hilarity" Co. will hold the boards week commencing 12. The first three nights they will be in the Pavilion, and the last three in the Durley. This will be the first attraction in the Pavilion for six weeks.

MATTOON.—The season was opened at Dale's Opera-house Sept. 2 by Agnes Herndon in "The Commercial Tourist's Bride" to a large audience. "Sam'l of Posen" was put on in good style, under the management of A. H. Varley, with Frank Howard in the title-role. Bella Moore is here 13, to be followed by Charles Atkinson's "Peck's Bad Boy" Co., Cora Van Tassel and others.

LA SALLE.—Nina Saville was here Sept. 2, 3. The first night "Queena" was presented. The second, "Bob the Newsboy." Some of the actors were chewing gum on the stage. The troupe left 5 for Pittsfield, a jump of 225 miles..... F. B. Keneagy, programmer of Beach & Bowers' Minstrels, which come 10, was in town 8.

ELGIN.—The Minnie Sartelle "Plum Pudding" Co. played here Sept. 9 to a good house. Martin Hayden in "The Young Hero" 19, followed by Basco's Dramatic Co. week of 25, at popular prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents. Louie Lord's Co. canceled 12 and 13.

KANKAKEE.—Mattie Vickers at the Arcade Opera-house Sept. 2 in "Jacquine." Francis Labadie in "Nobody's Child" 6..... S. H. Semon, contractor for the Forepaugh Show, has made arrangements for Oct. 7.

CALIFORNIA.

LOS ANGELES.—Doings in the theatrical line have been very quiet the past week. E. F. Thorne in "The Black Flag" played two nights and matinee Aug. 30, 31, to large business. Mr. Thorne returns with a new company Sept. 19 for a week's engagement here and to play the Southern circuit. The Royal Spanish Troubadours open for three nights 5. Billy Emerson's Minstrels play week of 12. As this will be Mr. Emerson's first appearance in Southern California, he can safely be assured of a boom. Manager Wyatt has just finished decorating the lobby of the Grand Opera-house with over one hundred pictures and portraits of actors and actresses, artistically arranged. Robert Eberle, for a long time connected with the Baldwin Theatre, San Francisco, was in town last week looking out for E. F. Thorne's interests.

SAN DIEGO.—Leach's Opera-house, under the management of J. G. Stuttz, continues to do a big business. E. F. Thorne, in "The Black Flag," Aug. 22, 23, 24, taxed the capacity of the house, as also did Nellie Boyd's Co., 31, Sept. 1, in "Passion's Slave" and "The Unknown." The Stuttz Stock Co. have filled in the odd nights with "The Silver King" and "La Zingara," with E. Alma Stuttz, Little Ivy and J. G. in the lead. Coming: Frank Mayo, the Spanish Students, Jos. Grismer and Phœbe Davies, Webster-Brady Co. and others. Ben Cotton, wife and daughter open 12 for two weeks, supported by the regular stock..... Louis Opera-house has been closed, except a few nights for local talent, speaking, etc. Fred E. Le Comte has bought and erected many bill-boards, and has made arrangements for the use of Manager Stuttz' extra boards.

MICHIGAN.

DETROIT.—At the Detroit Opera-house, the Carleton Opera Co. played to the capacity of the house week of Sept. 5. Due 12, 13, 14, Vernona Jarbeau; 15, 16, 17, Booth-Barrett Co.; 19, 20, 21, Haverly Minstrels; 22, 23, 24, Frank Daniels in "Little Puck."

FAFNYTA'S.—The Felton-Connier Theatre Co. opened to big business, but the attendance had dwindled to such a small size that they wouldn't raise the curtain 8, and the company disbanded. Manager Ashton had gone to New York to book fresh attractions, and a faked vaudeville company of amateurs filled out the week. There is a good field for variety business.

WHITE'S.—Mrs. McKee Rankin and her "Golden Giant" Co. played a successful engagement of four nights 5, 6, 7, 8. McNish, Johnson & Slavin's Minstrels played to capacity of the house 9, 10. Sept. 12, 13, 14, "Alvin Joslin." The advance sales are good. Due: 14, 16, 17, Gus Williams; 19, 20, 21, Rice's "Evangeline;" 22, 23, 24, Margaret Mather.

NOTES.—The Booth-Barrett Co. have raised the prices to $2.50, $2, $1.50 and $1; boxes, $9, $12, $15 and $18..... Sackett, Wiggins & Robinson's Wonderland had a tremendous business during the past week..... The cyclorama, Battle of Atlanta, has drawn tremendously. The management has been placed in the hands of E. C. Sullivan, a young gentleman of push and brains. He has nearly doubled the attendance since taking hold..... The Casino (a new theatre) will be opened about Oct. 1, with a seating capacity of 1,550. It is situated one block from the Post-office, and will play first-class attractions. H. N. Williams will be the proprietor, and E. W. Cobb manager.

MUSKEGON.—At Reynolds' Opera-house, Brady's War Views Sept. 12, 13, 14, Benedict's "Monte Cristo" 16, Power's "Ivy Leaf" 27, New York Bijou Opera Co. 29, 30, Oct. 1. Peck's Fifth-avenue Theatre Co., booked for Sept. 5 and week, failed to show up. No reason is given as yet..... The Will H. Stevens Dramatic Co. closed a three days' engagement at the Clay-avenue Theatre 3 to good business. Manager Moran has nothing more booked this month.

ST. JOSEPH.—J. H. Keane in "Rip Van Winkle" and "Mrs. Partington" was here Aug 29, 30 to good business. Sept. 9, 10 and matinee, the Boston Opera Co.; 14, 15, 16, Francis Labadie in "Nobody's Child."

BENTON HARBOR.—The Smith Family of vocalists are booked for an early date, under the auspices of the Congregational Church.

MINNESOTA.

ST. PAUL.—At the Grand Opera-house, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Florence come Sept. 12 for one week. It will be the week of our State Fair, and these favorites may look for crowded houses. Daniel Sully delighted large audiences week of 5, 6, 7, 8. He presented for the first time here "Daddy Nolan;" 9, 10, "Corner Grocery."

OLYMPIC THEATRE.—Announced for week of 12: "Morgan's Female Statues." "The Black Crook" Co. did a very large business week of 5. This house has enjoyed a boom so far this season.

SACKETT & WIGGINS' DIME MUSEUM.—Same report, "could give no dates for week of 12." Business has continued heavy week of 5. It seems that the inability to give dates arises from the fact that at the time of forwarding my letter these gentlemen have not decided at which museum, here or at Minneapolis, they will present any particular freak, curiosity or combination, arranging their dates at each place later in the week.

NOTE.—Sackett & Wiggins have taken out permits in the Building Inspection office to overhaul and remodel the Exposition Building, and convert it into a first-class theatre, at popular prices.

DULUTH.—At the Grand Opera-house, Geo. C. Miln Aug. 31, Sept. 1, presented "Hamlet" and "Othello." Due 9, 10, Gilmore's "Devil's Auction." Manager Condon is giving better attractions at the house than has been given heretofore and the business is better..... Manager Jackson of the Duluth Theatre has that cosy little house well filled every night. The company for the present week: Frank Kent, Minnie Luvie, Symonds and Hughes, the Vernon Sisters, Ed. Nibbe, Blanche Harrison, Waldo Whipple and Milton and Bloomer.

MISSOURI.

ST. JOSEPH.—Manager R. S. Douglass leased Tootie's Opera-house early last Spring for a term of five years, and commenced at once remodeling it in such a manner that it is now one of the neatest theatres in the country. All the old scenery has been replaced with new, handsome furniture has been purchased, the roll curtain has been made to slide, new carpets have been put on the floor, all the old woodwork painted over, and the orchestra now contains ten pieces, under the leadership of Prof. Winkler. The house was opened Sept. 5 by Frank Mayo in "Nordeck," followed by "The Royal Guard." Both plays were greeted with crowded houses, and pleased everybody. Mr. Mayo received two fine baskets of flowers at the close of the third act of "The Royal Guard." Sol Smith Russell comes 12 for four nights, followed by "A Parlor Match" for two nights.

STANDARD THEATRE.—This place continues to draw good houses. The new faces this week: Lowry and Johnson, St. Auburn Sisters, Jessie Lee, Howard and Alton, Jennie Clair and the Egyptian Baby Quartet.

DORIS & COLVIN'S SHOW gave two performances here 7 to crowded tents. Forepaugh is billed for 20.

NOTES.—Manager Douglas returned home last week from New York, where he had been all Summer booking attractions..... The genial Harry Mann, advance-representative for the "Parlor Match," was in town 7.

SPRINGFIELD.—The Queen City of the Ozarks is crowded with people from all over the great Southwest to attend the Fair, which opened Sept. 5. The Simon Comedy Co. commenced a week's engagement at the Mansfield 5 in "Flirtation." This company is the first dramatic company that ever played in this city, when the now beautiful Queen of the Ozarks was a straggling little burg twenty years ago, and if the immense audience that greeted his opening here and the liberal applause accorded him and his company goes for anything, "Jake" has lost none of his popularity. They change the programme each evening during the engagement..... The Gem Theatre did an excellent business week of Aug. 29. This house is on a solid footing now, and has better prospects than ever before. The Lena Rivers Novelty Co. commence an engagement 5; the company consists of Lena Rivers, Grace Sanford, Jennie Farrell, Maud Ellis, Little Algio, Mark Flynn, Harry Holmes and Hall and Clifford, Sherwood and Wilson..... A force of two hundred and fifty musicians under the direction of Prof. Gheir, leader of Hobart's military band of this city, will give concerts three nights on the Court-house square.

LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS.—During the Summer Manager David Bidwell has made extensive alterations in his popular theatre. The imposing entrance of the Grand Opera-house has been decorated with handsome fresco work, and presents the most elegant vestibule in the South.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The box-office of this popular house (the first to inaugurate the regular season) was opened Sept. 12, for week commencing 18, when Wilson & Rankin's Minstrels open.

AVENUE THEATRE.—Manager Lowden has finished making alterations at his theatre. On 10 the season will be opened with an amateur Juvenile Opera Co., composed of about fifty of the brightest little children in the city. "The Mascot" was selected for the opening, under direction of W. F. Francis.

NOTES.—Sig. Faranta has made some wonderful improvements in his house. The outside has been treated to a coat of bright yellow paint, while the inside has been appropriately decorated. The Signor has also placed new opera-chairs in the theatre, and feels confident he will do a fine business the coming season..... Manager Eugene Robinson reached here from Memphis, Tenn., several days ago. He says he "has booked quite a collection of rare curious things for this season." He is in splendid health and greatly enjoyed his

INDIANA.

SOUTH BEND.—Aiden Benedict's "Monte Cristo" Co. opened the season at Good's Opera-house Sept. 3 to good business. The house has been papered, painted and renovated throughout, and presents a decided improvement over its former state. An electric-light has also been placed at the entrance. .....Walter S. Moss, in advance of Baldwin's Boston Comic-opera Co., was in the city last week. They come 12 and week, instead of the Bijou Opera Co., as stated in a former letter. There are no attractions this week, owing to the cancellation of Felton & Connier's engagement.....Joseph Jefferson will open the season at the Oliver Oct. 1 in "Rip Van Winkle.".....Scott Snow, cornettist, is now with Charles L. Davis' Co.

MADISON.—At the Grand Opera-house, Humphrey's Athletic Co. is booked for Sept. 29. The season will be formally opened 26 by the Bijou Opera Co.....Sells Bros.' Circus showed to immense business 3. Chas. Garwood severed his connection here as treasurer of Sells Bros.' Circus, to assume the management of his new Opera-house in Grand Rapids, Mich. His position was filled by John Murry.

MARION.—W. H. Riley in a repertory came week of Aug. 29, to fair business. He had to contend with Sells Bros.'s Circus 30. Fox & Dalton's Co. are announced for Sept. 16. D. B. Sweetser, proprietor of Sweetser's Opera-house, and E. L. Kinnemann, manager, are in Chicago, buying new scenery and chairs.

LEBANON.—At the Grand Opera-house, Sept. 5, J. Z. Little's "World" Co. drew large business.

MICHIGAN CITY.—At the Mozart Opera-house, Prof. Morris' Paradox closed a two nights' engagement 6, to good business. Felton & Connier's Star Theatre Co. began a week's engagement 12.

LA FAYETTE.—MacCollin's Opera Co. gave a very pleasing entertainment at the Grand Sept. 5 to a fair audience. Coming: Haverly Minstrels 13, Cora Van Tassel 15.

MUNCIE.—Gus Williams was at Wysor's Sept. 6. Nothing is booked for the rest of this month except home-talent companies.

VIRGINIA.

RICHMOND.—At the Richmond Theatre Sept. 12, 13, Lizzie Evans. Charlotte Thompson opened the regular Fall season 7 to a large house, and closed 8.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Charlotte Thompson comes 14, 15. Florence J. Bindley closed 10 to fair business.

PUTNAM'S THEATRE COMIQUE.—This week's attractions are: Chas. F. Haynes, Minnie Kelly, Emma Lee, Lotta Ward, Rose Bennett and Amanda Burgman Voss, and Chas. Morris. Business is only fair.

NORFOLK.—At the Academy of Music, Florence J. Bindley and Charlotte Thompson divided the past week to good business. Bristol's Equine Show week of Sept. 12. Manager Sherwood returned 9, and has booked many first-class attractions..... At the Opera-house, Helene Adell's Co. played 5 and week to good houses.

KANSAS.

LEAVENWORTH.—At Crawford's, Frank Mayo in "Nordeck" drew a good audience Sept. 5, in spite of the circus.....Doris & Colvin's Show same date had a well-filled canvas both afternoon and evening.....Dr. Clements, or "Diamond Dick," is here again, but has dispensed with the show part of his performance and only pulls teeth, sells medicine and attends to patient's.....Evans and Hoey will be here 13 and Forepaugh 23. Both are popular, and will have good houses.....Charles Elliott will himself publish the Opera-house programme this season.....While Doris & Colvin's Show was loading Monday night about 12 o'clock, one of the canvas men named Michael Hogan was seen to start suddenly and run for the river, saying he was going to drown himself. A comrade attempted to stop him, but was knocked down, and the man jumped into the Missouri. He rose twice, but made no attempt to save himself. Hogan joined the show at Auburn, N. Y., and was, as far as is known, unmarried. He had been drinking heavily.

ATCHISON.—At Price's Opera-house the Modoc Club of Topeka sing Sept. 13, for the benefit of the G. A. R. of this city. Our season opens 15, with Evans & Hoey in "A Parlor Match, Sol Smith Russell 16, McIntyre & Heath's Minstrels 20..... Harry Mann of Evans & Hoey is in town to-day (8).....Local-manager Martling returned from Topeka 5, and is having the house put in shape for the season. I wish to thank Mr. Martling for special favors.....Manager Crawford of Topeka is in town to-day (8) on business.....Dolores Marbourg of the Frank Mayor Co. was the guest of friends in this city 5. Chicago Comedy Co. Sundayed here en route to Cawke City.....Doris & Colvin's Shows 7 drew big crowds.

COLORADO.

DENVER.—At the Tabor Grand Opera-house, "My Geraldine" comes Sept. 19 for one week. Week of 12 this house will be dark. Evans and Hoey, in "A Parlor Match," played to very large business.

DENVER MUSIC HALL opened for the five-night engagement of McFadden's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Co.

DENVER MUSEE AND THEATRE is announced to open 12, with R. E. French's melodrama "Montezuma," supported by Eva Earle. David T. Keiller & Co. will be proprietors, George H. Peabody manager, and J. F. Cordray assistant-manager.

PALACE VARIETY THEATRE announces for 12 and week: Kennedy and Dolan, William Devere, Fenton and Ross, Price and Mason, Martell and Devoy, Maggie Barsel, William A. Mason, J. C. Miller and Jennie Mason. Business is fair.

LEADVILLE.—Edward Harrigan's Co. opened a four nights' engagement at the Tabor Sept. 5, and did an excellent business.....At Laura Le Clair's the same company remains another week.....At Mike Goldsmith's, opening 5: Frank and Nora Williams, George Lavender, Ada Thompson, Alice Hamilton, Della Burton, Dot Darrow, Maggie Le Clair, Nellie Neville, Fanny Healy, Minnie Lamont, Williams Sisters, Eva Woods, Walsh Brothers, Billy Doyle, Burt Stanley and Gus Pixley. Burt Stanley is business and stage manager .....At Ben Loeb's, opening 3: Eddys and Zorenna. Opening 5: John Tudor, Stella Anders, Jessie White, The Girards, King Kalkasa, Clara Boyle, Maggie Nagle, Addie Lamont, Annie Petrie, Tom Fields, Minnie De Witt and Billy Holman. PUEBLO.—At the Pueblo Opera-house, the Montezuma Dramatic Co. opened the season with a four-night engagement to crowded houses.....The Central Variety Theatre was ordered closed by the City Council at the meeting held Sept. 5.

CONNECTICUT.

NEW HAVEN.—The work on the Hyperion Theatre has been completed, and Sweatnam, Rice & Fagan's Minstrels open the house Sept. 15. Manager Bunnell has some fine attractions booked.

NEW HAVEN OPERA-HOUSE.—"A Hole in the Ground" held the stage 9, 10. "Jim the Penman" is due 13, 14, 15 for the first times in this city; 16, 17, Salsbury's Troubadours.

BUNNELL'S GRAND OPERA-HOUSE opens 12 with J. J. Dowling and Sadie Hasson in "Nobody's Claim." The last half of the week, "Streets of New York." The curio-hall will exhibit Almont's Diorama and Perpetual Motion. The hall has been redecorated and will look more attractive than ever.

THE PEOPLE'S THEATRE closed a fair week's business. During the current week the Four Cards Burlesque Co. will present "Our College Girls." The company includes Wills and Adams, Foster and Lewis, Rouclere, Gallagher and West, Collins Sisters and others. The prices are reduced, and 10, 20 and 30 cents will succeed the former tariff. The change meets with general approval.

ITEMS.—W. C. Cameron, manager of "Nobody's Claim" Co., was in town last week preparing for the production of the play at Bunnell's 12..... Manager Bunnell returned Saturday from a short journey West.....W. H. Strickland, business-manager for "Jim the Penman," paid me a short visit. A. M. Palmer will be here to personally superintend the presentation.....F. C. Rust is here looking after the interest of Salsbury's Troubadours, to appear shortly.

Newton Beers' "Lost in London" played to large audiences 9, 10, with matinee 10.....City Hall will have Lillie Clay's Gaiety Co. 14 .....Miller, Stowe & Freeman's Circus had a tent full 6.

WISCONSIN.

MILWAUKEE.—This is State-fair week, and the city will be crowded with strangers. Every place of amusement presents strong attractions and they will reap a rich harvest.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"A Home Run," one of the latest farce-comedies, was submitted for public approval Sept. 8, 9, 10, 11, with the following cast: Lucky B., Harry B. Bell; Jack Harkins, Gus. Frankel; Bristle Dauber, John Pendy; Deacon Slocum Junction, Tom McDonough; Mascot, Harry Booker; Dr. Pillsbury, Mamie Sloat; Tuffie Bushong, Tolie Verhon; Sally Anson, Dickie Wilson. Like all plays of its kind, it does not contain any literary merit or boast of a plot, depending entirely upon the cleverness of the performers to carry it through. Unfortunately the cast, with the exceptions of Harry Bell and John Pendy, is weak, particularly the female portion. With a clever soubrette, a competent musical-director (which they are sadly in need of) and a judicious pruning, "A Home Run" might be shaped that it would afford a fair evening's entertainment. In its present state it will, however, be short-lived. Katie Gilbert has been engaged tor the leading-soubrette role, and will join as soon as she can get released from "One Against Many." Business was very light. Thomas W. Keene appears in "Richelieu" 12, "Hamlet" 13, "Merchant of Venice" 14 (matinee), "Richard III" (evening) 14. The advance sale insures good business. J. H. Wallick's "Cattle King" 15, 16, 17, 18. Kate Castleton 19, 20, 21.

NEW ACADEMY.—Hanlons' "Le Voyage en Suisse" commenced a week's engagement 12. "My Geraldine" closed 11, having played to only fair business. Tony Denier's "Humpty Dumpty" 18, Vernona Jarbeau 19, 20, 21, "Silver King" 22, 23, 24.

PALACE THEATRE.—The reopening occurred 11, when Root & Love's Co. commenced a week's engagement in "The Man of the People" and "True as Steel." "Ranch King" 22, 23, 24, 25.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—De Forrest and Carroll, Hattie Wescott, Timmons and McCloud, Ed. F. Rush and Jessie Bryant have been engaged to amuse our country cousins this week. "Babes in the Wood" closes the performance.

STADT THEATRE—"Die Spitzenkoenigen" was put on 11, which marked the opening of the season.

LITT'S MUSEUM AND THEATRE.—In the curio-parlors this week we find D'Esta Sisters, Huber and the LuCasies; on stage No. 1, H. O. Kurtz's Specialty Co.; Frank and Lottie Granger are with the party. On stage No. 2, Joseph H. Keane.

NOTES.—Isaac S. Litt, whose serious illness I mentioned last week, passed away morning of 6 at his residence No. 1,225 Prairie street. He was a cousin and a brother-in-law of Jacob Litt, and for the last two seasons was business-manager of the Dime Museum. At the time of his death Mr. Litt was forty-two years of age. The deceased was a highly-honored and active member of Milwaukee Lodge of Elks, under whose auspices he was consigned to his last resting-place.....A good story is being told on Ariel S. Barney. He came up from Chicago last week to see whether everything had been attended to properly regarding T. W. Keene's engagement. While walking down Wisconsin street he met Duncan Harrison of the "My Geraldine" Co. "Duncan, old boy, how are you?" says Barney. Harrison looked him over and said to himself: "This is the first time I have been taken for a jay," and, turning, said: "You have got the best of me, sir. I don't remember you." "Don't remember me? Why, we traveled together for months. My name is Ariel N. Barney." "No, no," said Harrison, "you can't play that on me. I have traveled a good deal, but no confidence-man ever got the best of me." Fortunately a newspaper man happened along that moment and adjusted matters. Barney, who was but a skeleton some years ago, has taken to drinking milk, and has grown quite fleshy, which accounts for Harrison not knowing him. Since hearing the milk part of the story Gus Moulton, who is here ahead of the Hanlons, drinks nothing but milk. What effect it will have on him will be ascertained later.....Geo. Smythe, in advance of Keene, and Tony Richardson, with Root & Love, were here last week.....Val. E. Boshell has charge of the Academy and Museum paper. He was with the "Lights o' London" Co. last season.....The Exposition opened with a rush 7, and is drawing crowds. .....J. H. Wallick opens season here 15. He will play his last year's successes, "The Bandit King" and "The Cattle King." J. H. Ferris is the manager. Mr. Wallick will be supported by James A. Devlin, John Burton, Lon Blandon, Clarence Holst, Gerald Griffin, J. J. Lansbrook, Chas. De Kress, J. H. Walker, Mary Wallick, Carrie Radcliffe and Belle Inman.....Max Thierbach has been engaged as treasurer of the Palace.....A new first act has been written for "My Geraldine." .....Bertha Welby is in the city gathering material for sketches.....The Museum was closed on the afternoon of Isaac S. Litt's funeral.....In the second act of "A Home Run" the only $10,000 Kelly is wheeled in on a baby carriage, and a left fielder is sold at auction for $1,800. McCormick is made out to be a swaggering tough.

APPLETON.—The Peak Family Bellringers and Oaks' Musical Comedy Co. have secured Sept. 12. Mr. Oaks was here 7. Manager Erb of the Opera-house has the following attractions booked: Minnie Maddern, Gus Williams, Gardiner's "Only a Farmer's Daughter," C. H. Clark's "Ten Nights in a Bar-room.".....A match has been made between Patsy Darington of Maine and Geo. Finney, champion feather-weight of Wisconsin from Oshkosh, for an eight-round glove-contest for $50 a side, 16, at Armory Hall.....Prof. E. Williams of this city has a very fine trick-horse, "William George," which he trained the past Spring and Summer. Your correspondent was favored with a private exhibition 4. The animal is truly a marvel. Prof. Williams has quite a number of dates with County Fairs in this State.....Wood & Barnhart are now city-billposters. ....THE CLIPPER is always to be had at Butler's news stand, next to the Post-office.

JANESVILLE.—A company from Rockford, Ill., gave "Pinafore" at Myers' New Opera-house Sept. 8 to a good-sized audience. The McGibney Family had a full house 9. The regular season opens 19 with "The Silver King."

NORTH CAROLINA.

CHARLOTTE.—The Charlotte Opera-house opened the season with Helen Blythe's Co. in "Only a Woman's Heart."

NEBRASKA.

OMAHA.—At Boyd's Opera-house, "My Geraldine" Sept. 13, 14. "A Rag Baby" 19, 20, 21. McIntyre & Heath's Minstrels 5, 6, 7 had only a fair business, while Frank Mayo 8, 9, 10, in "Nordeck" and "The Royal Guard," had crowded houses at each performance. The Chicago Opera Co., under the management of Naban Franko, have been presenting "Pinafore" on a minature boat erected on the lake at the reunion ground during the week, and have met with fine success. They will give the opera at Boyd's 11, 12.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—"Two Old Cronies" come 15, 16 and 17. The Broderick Opera Co. presenting "Ruddygore" and "The Mikado," which opened this house, have had only a fair business for their opening week.

OLYMPIC THEATRE. — Opening 12: Geyer and Harding, the Kherns, John H. Blackford and Kittie Reynolds. Remaining: Talbot and Crimmins, the Morrells, the Catletts and Jennie McCree. Business was immense during the past week.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE—Halliday & Co.'s Minstrels had packed houses last week.

NOTES.—Week of 5 will be a memorable one to Omaha, for with the Fair and Grand Army Reunion fully 100,000 strangers have been in our city, and the weather has been the finest.....The reception to the New York Volunteer Firemen was great, the town being given over to them, and the parade, morning of 9, was the finest ever seen in our city. We imagine they will remember us. They left 9 at midnight for Salt Lake City .....J. J. Magee, after a ten weeks' engagement at the Olympic, leaves 10 for New York to join Gray & Stephens' Co.

OHIO.

CINCINNATI.—All the theatres are now open and enjoying a fair business.

HAVLIN'S.—Jennie Yeamans in "Our Jennie" opened Sept. 4. At the first performance the house was packed. Miss Yeamans received a royal reception and was called before the curtain at the end of each act. The play itself is powerfully constructed and is full of human interest. Miss Yeamans, as was expected, is the life of the play. Power's "Ivy Leaf" opened 11.

PEOPLE'S.—This favorite temple of amusement opened 3 with the Weston Bros. in "The Way of the World." They have surrounded themselves with an excellent variety and dramatic company. The Westons' musical specialties were loudly applauded. Austin's Australian Novelty Co. 11.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—This house opened 5 with the American Co-operative Amusement Co. (a local organization) in "Themistocles." It is by M. J. Shaw, author of "Caught in the Corner." "Themistocles" is smoothly written, but there is nothing in the lines to startle anyone. The play is better than the company. Marlande Clarke, in the role of Themistocles, forges through the play like a rather poor imitator of Henry Irving. Beatrice Lieb has not much to do, but she does not do that any too well. The balance of the company are so-so. "Sure of Honor," another of Mr. Shaw's plays, was produced later in the week. It is about as bad as "Themistocles." "Catnip Tea" opens 12, followed by Mrs. McKee Rankin 16.

HARRIS' THEATRE.—Two large audiences attended the opening of this resort, 4. E. F. Mayo in "Davy Crockett" was the attraction, and it was never better presented. P. F. Baker, in "Chris and Lena," 11.

HEUCK'S.—"Michael Strogoff," with all its magnificent scenery, opens this theatre 11.

KOHL & MIDDLETON'S MUSEUM.—Thousands of dollars were expended to refit this family resort, which opens 5. It has a long list of curiosities, Lester Howard's Comedy Co., in "A Red-hot Stove," gave a pleasing performance.

CRUMBS.—Lizzie Evans' Co. passed through the city on its way to Pittsburg.....Tom Hawkins, of Minnie Palmer's Co., was here 5.....Cliff Asbury, chief-usher of "Rome Under Nero," was presented with a gold-headed umbrella 5.....Henry Vadus' advance for Marshall's Japanese Co., was here 5, ...Charles Waugh, advance for the Hanlons, "Voyage En Suisse" Co., was here 8.....C. A. Davis, press-agent of Sells Brothers' Circus, spent a few days in the city and left for Chattanooga 8. .....Manager Charles Kelisdadt of Circleville was in the city 8.

SPRINGFIELD.—Things theatrical still show a marked improvement. The past week's doings can be called very good.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—Marguerite Fish, in "A Chip o' the Old Block," opened the season Sept. 5 to excellent business. Gus Williams followed 8 in "Keppler's Fortunes," also to an excellent house. W. H. Power's "Ivy Leaf" came 9-10, and matinee to rather fair audiences, although some of the cast were very good. "A Home Run" 14.

BLACK'S OPERA-HOUSE.—Cora Van Tassel displayed her "Hidden Hand" to wonderful advantage to a tolerable, but rather top-heavy, house. The bookings are very fine. F. B. Warde in "Galba the Gladiator" 14, Margaret Mather in "Romeo and Juliet" 19, and Robert Mantell in "Monbars" 30.

NOTES.—Carl Momer now acts as stage-manager at the Grand, in place of Armand Griffith, resigned. .....Manager Tom Waldman of Black's had the property of W. H. Power's "Ivy Leaf" attached 8. He claims broken contract in 1885, and $150 damages. The trial is set for Sept. 15.....Armand Griffith, formerly stage-manager of Black's, and also a prominent Springfield Elk, has received an offer to go to San Diego, Cal., and will accept.

AKRON.—The Academy of Music has been thoroughly remodeled and a new curtain and a fine lot of scenery added. Manager Robinson has secured a new orchestra which is under the leadership of Geo. Humphrey. The season will be opened Sept. 16 by "Mestayer's Tobogganing," followed by the Rinehart Opera Co. 19 and week, and A. R. Wilber Comedy Co. 26 and week .....At the People's Theatre, E. Humphrey's Star Athletic Co. did a good business 12, 13, 14.

CANTON.—At Schaefer's Opera-house, the Belle Gilbert Dramatic Co. opened the season here Sept. 5 and week to good business. The Delhauer Comedy Co., headed by William Delhauer, has been rehearsing for a week past at Schaefer's Opera-house and played its first engagement 12 to large business in "Puddle's Pond." The company is composed of William Delhauer, Harry Rogers, Charles Geyer, Tony Farrell and Billy Robinson, and Gertie Fort, Bonny Goodwin and Emma Butler. T. E. Davis is manager, James Fort business-manager, and W. R. Harrington advance-agent.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—Announced 12 and week: Frank and Clara Marion, Edwin W. West, Frank Morris, Carrie Avery. Business continues good.

TOLEDO.—Frances Bishop's "Mugg's Landing" Co. have been rehearsing here the past week, and began their season at the People's Sept. 12, remaining the week. The company is nearly the same as that of last year. "Partners in Crime" did excellent business last week..... .. .At the Wheeler, Gus Williams 14, and Rice's "Evangeline" 16, 17, are the only attractions this week.....At the Erie, the following are this week's people: Holmes and Green, Billy Hogan, Howard and Kelly, Bobby Emmet, Frank Green, Canfield and Girth, Gardner and Bernard, and Bayer and Johnson.....At Dixon's Standard, the following are billed for this week: Martin and Lonsdale, Montalien and Weston, Frank Whitcomb, Weldon Sisters, Morris and Delisle, Billy and Fannie McCollum, and the Stewart Sisters.....Rose Clouse, a promising young singer of this city, left 10 for New York, whence she will sail for Europe to pursue her musical studies.

LIMA.—At Faurot's Opera-house Sept. 9, the minstrel-loving element will be regaled with Al. G. Field's budget of songs, the Great Hermes, etc. On the list of early dates: Gus Williams 12, Morris' Dog Show 15, and Margaret Mather 20. The opening of the season 5 was all that could be desired, and the management accordingly are in good spirits. "A Chip o' the Old Block" 6 had a big house, and gave good satisfaction.....M. A. Richmond, the basso, left Lima 8 to join Duprez & Benedict at Washington C. H. (Ohio).....Col. Geo. E. Rogers, manager of Faurot s, left for Cincinnati 8.

STEUBENVILLE.—At City Opera-house the Leonzo Bros. open Sept. 13 for a week. F. B. Warde opens the regular season 24.....Arthur Faust, manager of Leonzo Bros.' Co., has been here the past week booming his show.....At Cain's Winter Garden, a good show to crowded houses the past week. The new faces week of 12: Imre Fox, Barnello, Jones and Edwards and Nick Hughes. Remaining: Ada Mortimer and the Clarence Sisters.

NEW PHILADELPHIA.—Margaret A. Crouch, assisted by J. F. Isham, gave a concert at Eagle Hall to a good house....."A Knight of Labor" booked at Opera-house Sept. 10 failed to appear. The company missed connection on the C. L. and W. R. R. The advance sales were good. Manager John Sharp has secured the City Orchestra for the coming season.

UPPER SANDUSKY.—Menches & Barber's Ten-cent Show pitched their tents here Sept. 2, 3, which were crowded.....Sells Bros.' car No. 2 was here 5. They come 12.....Sisson & Cawthorn's "Little Nugget" holds forth 5.....John G. Whitfield is booked for fair dates, Ester Lyons having canceled.

COLUMBUS.—At the Metropolitan Opera-house, "A Home Run" will open a three nights' engagement Sept. 15.....The Grand Opera-house will be dark all this week.....At Eichenlaub's Amusement Hall, business is as usual. Arrivals 12: Gibson and Aimes, Chas. Mack, the Klines, Allie Raymond and Minnie Dickson.

ASHTABULA.—At the Opera-house, Hi Henry's Premium Minstrels will hold forth Sept. 16. They have put up some very pretty paper. Clara Louise Kellogg will give a subscription concert in this city some time in October.

MISSISSIPPI.

HOLLY SPRINGS.—Masonic Hall has been leased for the next twelve months by the Holly Springs Silver Cornet Band, with Wm. West as manager. The Richards & Pringle Original Georgia Minstrels Sept. 5 had a very good audience. Baird's Minstrels are booked for Oct. 8. The Nashville Students will follow shortly after Baird's.

THOMAS S. BALDWIN.

This intrepid balloonist, whose parachute leaps have recently brought him into startling prominence, was born at Quincy, Ill., June 30, 1860. He has been a showman since 1870, when he was apprenticed to George W. De Haven's Circus, in which he first appeared as a gymnast. Afterwards with the same show he mastered the tight-rope business with enough success to justify him in trying it for himself, and for a period he exhibited at the prominent Western Summer resorts. His last walk was a notable one. At the Cliff House, Seal Rock, San Francisco, Cal., he practiced pedestrianism on a five-inch steel cable wire 110ft. above the ground and spanning the distance of 620ft., being the first one to accomplish it. Many others had tried it before him, but failed. He next drifted into aeronautics, and for the four years following he made a series of successful ascensions, using hydrogen gas balloons entirely. His parachute feature is not a reckless undertaking, but is rather the result of long and careful study and experiment. He practiced with sand bags until he mastered the difficulties of oscillation, and finally his first jump was made Jan. 20 of this year in San Francisco, where he descended 1,000ft. in safety. His second success was achieved at his native place, Quincy, July 4, when he dropped 4,500ft., and his two descents at Rockaway Beach more recently are well enough remembered. Professor Baldwin is unmarried, and has a brother well-known to the profession as Sig. Yates, the tight-rope walker.

NEW JERSEY.

BURLINGTON.—All our best people turned out Sept. 10 in response to the free invitation of A. P. Burbank to witness the first dress-rehearsal of Messrs. Howells and Twain's revised edition of "The American Claimant, or Col. Mulberry Sellers Ten Years Later." The scene is laid in Washington and Mr. Burbank, as Mulberry Sellers, is claimant to the caridom of Devon and a great inventor, but a very impecunious one. There is but one set of scenery and there are three acts. The stage setting looks like a section of the Patent Office, being filled with all kinds of machinery and electrical apparatus, the results of the Colonel's inventive genius. In act one the Colonel and his family are almost starving, the mother and daughter having but one shabby dress between them, which the former wears in the morning and the latter in the afternoon. While busy over his inventions the Colonel hears that the Earl of Devon is coming to Washington, and, needing money badly, he telegraphs a long message to his nephew in Wisconsin to come at once to Washington. The nephew, Lafayette Hawkins, arrives, and then Mrs. Sellers learns that there has been a big hotel fire in the city, and that among the guests who were burned is Reginald De Bohun, Earl of Devon. The Colonel, strangely, is much cut up about this, and determines with one of his inventions to materialize the Earl, and the curtain falls on the first act with the supposed dead man appearing on the scene. Act two opens with the astonishment and gratification of the Colonel at the success of his materialization, which is followed by disgust because the late defunct Bohun falls in love with his daughter. He forbids the match, and about the same time is to deliver a temperance lecture, but forgets it, allowing the date to go past. He begins to rehearse his speech to the temperance people, and while doing so gets gloriously drunk. In act three the Colonel becomes tired with waiting for the earldom, and decides to stick to his inventions. He explains his swearing-machines for marines, and at last finds that one of his patents has proven fortunate, whereupon he takes Hawkins into partnership, sanctions the marriage of the Earl and his daughter, and the curtain falls upon general happiness. Mr. Burbank has a good stage presence, and easily portrayed and gave the humor of the character of Colonel Sellers. The audience, evidently disposed to be critical, did not extend much sympathy until the materialization-scene, which closed the first act, after which the applause was liberal and evidently sincere until the close of the performance. Mr. Burbank was called out at the end of the first act and at the final fall of the curtain. J. W. Piggot, Willie Royston, Alice King Hamilton, Fanny Stanton, J. W. Barnes and Annie D. Ware were in the cast. Lillian Kennedy opened at the Opera-house, Sept. 7, for four nights, and had an excellent audience. "Daniel Boone" comes 14, and Howorth's Hibernica 15.

DELAWARE.

WILMINGTON.—Chas. T. Ellis in "Casper the Yodler" opened his season at Proctor's Academy of Music Sept. 5. He did an immense business. He is supported by Lawrence Eddinger, C. McCarthy, G. F. Gustill, Geo. F. James, Ciara Moore, Lizzie Goode, Daisy Wood, Henry Powers, Little Bobby Wood and Master Wallie Eddinger. Fursman & Farrar's "Ten Nights in a Bar-room" played to good business 8, 9, 10. Edith Sinclair in "A Box of Cash" 12, 13, 14, Neuville's "Boy Tramp" 15, 16, 17, Harry and John Kernell's Specialty Co. week of 19.

OPERA-HOUSE.—Gotthold's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Co. opened its season here 5, 6. The company is well selected, and played to large and appreciative audiences. Thatcher, Primrose & West's Minstrels were greeted with a jammed house 10. They promise a return date. Capt. Jack Crawford in "On the Trail, or Daniel Boone," 17.

GRAND CENTRAL.—During its preliminary season this house has done an immense business. The regular opening takes place 12 for which a double bill is advertised. There will be scientific set-tos and a first-class variety show.

NOTES.—Manager F. F. Proctor was in town last week.....Chas. T. Ellis was entertained at the reception-rooms of the Delaware Club after the performance of "Casper" at the Academy 6. There was a large number present, including many of the prominent professional and business men of our town. A sumptuous repast was spread, and there was also the "ever-flowing bowl.".....Geo. H. Primrose clasped hands with his many friends here this week. He is one of our great favorites, and was given a warm reception at T., P. & W.'s performance 10.....Manager Baylis has had two 2,000 candle-power electric arc-lights put in front of the Grand Opera-house.

MAINE.

PORTLAND.—The season at the Portland Theatre was opened Aug. 29 by Bertram & Burbidge's Company in "A Night Off" to a crowded house. Denman Thompson packed the house Sept. 2, 3, with "The Old Homestead," The Dalys in "Upside Down" 8, 9, to large business. With the exception of new furniture and one or two other improvements on the stage, no changes have been made since last season; the executive staff is the same. .....At Greenwood Garden Opera-house (Peak's Island), Arthur Wilkinson's Co. finishe the season 10.....The Pavilion closed last week, Manager S. P. Normon returning to New York to take charge of Margaret Mather's Co.....At City Hall, the Stockbridge course begins Oct. 8. Sixteen entertainments are announced. Sam Small lectures at this house Sept. 14.

NEW YORK.

New York City.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK.—The second season of DOCKSTADER'S THEATRE opened Wednesday night, Sept. 7, under circumstances exceptionally auspicious. The house was filled. The audience was of excellent character. A notable air of friendliness pervaded the cosy theatre. And Edward E. Kidder, the new acting-manager, was at the gate a-welcoming all in. These were exterior signs of a splendid inaugural. On the stage the grouping in the first-part disclosed no radical change from that of last season. All the minstrels again wore silken knee-breeches, black hose and pumps, with their regulation swallow-tails, and the only distinguishing mark of each of the two end-men was a standing-collar. Arthur C. Moreland continues to preside loquaciously over the "Session of the Knickerbocker Club," as Manager Dockstader has felicitously christened his first-part. Mr. Dockstader himself again handles the tambo, but there is a valuable new bones-end in Carl Rankin, who has of late years been too inactive so far as city work is concerned, and now returns to find probably the most appreciative audiences he has ever talked to. Of the soloists, Louis J. Monico, H. W. Frillman and the half-dozen boys used in the overture are new to Dockstader's patrons. Dick Jose and W. H. Rieger, of last season's singing contingent, are retained, to the eminent satisfaction of everybody who has ever heard them. Mr. Frillman's sonorous bass tones have not before been admired here in five or six seasons. Mr. Monico is, we believe, a novice at blacking himself up, though not to the stage, for comic-opera has before this successfully interested him. The finale to the first-part is arrived at after four ballads and two comic songs, Mr. Dockstader and Mr. Rankin contributing the latter, and Mr. Dockstader's "Never in the Wide, Wide World" (by E. E. Kidder) scoring heartily. But the finale itself is slow. It is "The Pneumatic Railway," and—an astonishing fact—it is old, as George Primrose or Billy Rice will be prepared to tell. The olio is quick and good. Edwin French repeats his polite banjo-turn of last season, and Mr. Dockstader has a solo-innings for his "Tootsie-Wootsie." Perry and Magrew, in the burlesque boxing-match, make an undeniable hit, and Rankin, Burt Sheppard and Alfred Liston participate in a musical-sketch of more than the average cleverness. Mr. Kidder's local and national satire, "The Fall of New Babylon," concludes the bill. Mr. Dockstader, as King Hewitt I, has the assistance of the entire company, and the skit goes well enough to achieve its purpose. That is all that has ever been honestly possible of any minstrel afterpiece. There is credit due to Stage-manager E. N. Slocum for an absence of waits at the first night, and of course there is especial meed of praise for Leader W. S. Mullaly and his dozen of bright musicians, who make the instrumental portion of the entertainment one of its worthiest features. Thus pleasantly opened, Dockstader's season promises even better things. .....The theatres at which there were no new bills last week were NIBLO'S GARDEN ("Lagardere"), the CASINO ("Erminie") WALLACK'S ("Bellman"), UNION-SQUARE ("One Against Many"), the STAR ("Held by the Enemy"), LYCEUM ("The Highest Bidder"), FOURTEENTH-STREET and MADISON-SQUARE. At the Fourteenth-street "The Still Alarm" finished the first fortnight of its career night of 10, and went out of the city with a valuable endorsement. At the Madison-square, Richard Mansfield played "Monsieur" for the last time 10, in order to turn his attention to "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." .....The closed houses were DALY'S, the STANDARD, BIJOU, HARRIGAN'S PARK, THALIA, METROPOLITAN and ACADEMY—though the last-named was slimly occupied night of 8 for a mixed variety and boxing entertainment.....Week stands were finished 10 by J. K. Emmet's Co. in "Fritz, Our Cousin German," at the PEOPLE'S; the "ZOZO" Co. at the WINDSOR; R. L. Downing, in "The Gladiator," at the GRAND; Adelaide Thornton, in "The Galley Slave," at POOLE'S; Brennan & Monroe's "Zitka" Co., to frequent recurrence of "S. R. O." business, at H. R. JACOBS' THIRD-AVENUE; and T. J. Farron's Co., in the improved "A Soap Bubble," at TONY PASTOR'S.....Hasty but judicious pruning of the dialogue of "Allan Dare" was made after its first night at the FIFTH-AVENUE. Excisions were needed, and that they were quickly made is mainly to McKee Rankin's credit. The cast was improved 6 by the substitution of H. W. Montgomery for Robert Johnson as the Chief-of-police. The drama should have fair strength as a road attraction, but that there is a bushel of money in it is beyond any shrewd calculator's estimate.....The series of concerts at MADISON-SQUARE GARDEN, under John Lavine's management, continued all the week. The venture is carefully directed, and the diversion it affords is entirely respectable.....At TERRACE GARDEN Manager Heuman's musical entertainments seem to have a good hold. The attendance continues fairly large .....The HARLEM COMIQUE'S season opened 5, which date also saw the inaugural of the theatre as a straight variety house. The stock company furnished assistance to a conventional olio.

THE election of the directors of the New York Concert Co., which controls the Casino, was held Sept. 10, resulting in the choice of the ticket headed by Manager Rudolph Aronson.

NADAGE DORRE has been engaged for Mrs. Langtry's production of "As in a Looking-glass" at the Fifth avenue Theatre.

"CIVIL WAR" ("Faustine De Bressier") has been fixed upon as the opening play in Mrs. J. B. Potter's engagement at the Fifth-avenue, Oct. 31. Manager H. C. Miner is back from London. Mrs. Potter is expected here about Oct. 1.

WALTER H. PALMER is the new assistant-treasurer of the Madison-square Theatre.

A. M. PALMER and H. E. Abbey returned from Boston Sept. 10, whither they had gone to attend the opening of the Park Theatre 5 with "Jim the Penman."

JOSEPH BROOKS, manager of "The Arabian Nights," arrived in the city last week.

ALEXANDER LAMBERT has purchased Lewis Alexander's interest in the New York College of Music, and has assumed the leadership in the latter's stead. Frau Anna Lawkow has been appointed one of the vocal teachers.

FLORA FOX and Louise Morrison, coryphees of "The Fall of Babylon," were fined in Jefferson market Police-court Sept. 9 for being intoxicated.

THE NEW YORK AMUSEMENT CO. (Alfred Reichel president) gave their first orchestral concert evening of Sept. 10 at the hall formerly known as Koster & Bial's. The orchestra, under the direction of Victor Herbert, numbers thirty musicians, as follows: First-violins, Bachm, Herfort, Hemann, Bass, Laender and Hildenbrandt; second-violins, Chiupsa, Eller, Kirchkuebel and Schramm; violas, Rheinboth, Mueller and Essigke; 'cellos, Hemann and Schroeder; flutes, Schrade and Keuth; bass, Manoly and Hansknicht; clarionets, Wiesler and Haemisch; bassoon, Toedi; oboe, Eller; horns, Hackenbarth and Schmidt; cornets, Hoch and Hildenbrand; trombone, Letsch, Kirchner and Russell. The opening was a success. The orchestra—a fine one by the way—was ably handled by the new director. The audience on the inaugural night was of fair size, and in make up resembled those of several years ago, when the house made a specialty of orchestral music. Performances will be given every evening, the house being entirely closed during the day. The changes in the rules of the house are in the right direction, and the management intend to have them rigidly enforced.

POLLY BOOTH, the soubrette, died in this city Sept. 7. She was born in England about 35 years ago, and made her debut in America Feb. 14, 1870, at the Bowery Theatre, as Sally Scraggs in "Sketches in India." In March, 1879, she was divorced from Philip Vanderwerken, and July 31 following she became Mrs. Frank R. Foster. She had been ailing some months.

HELEN DAUVRAY'S disbandment of her company "threw out" Adeline Stanhope, R. C. Hilliard, J. G. Saville, William Payson and others. Mr. Saville will probably join G. S. Knight. Mr. Payson goes with Kate Claxton. Miss Stanhope may, after all, star in "Gwynne's Oath" this season. Mr. Hilliard has signed for the leading juveniles in Mrs. Langtry's Co.

DURING the five-hundredth performance of "Erminie" at the Casino Sept. 6, smoke was seen coming in through the windows in the roof. A man in the front near the orchestra shouted fire, which was the signal for a general stampede for the doors. At first matters looked rather serious, but trouble was averted by the coolness of Francis Wilson. The fire was several blocks away from the Casino, and the smoke was from the engines.

SIG. CAMPANINI'S CONCERT CO. will make its first appearance at the Academy of Music Nov. 8.

MARIE ENGLE has signed a contract with Mr. Amberg for one year whereby she is to receive $20,000. The contract also provides for a second year at special terms. Miss Engle will visit all the large cities. She sailed for this port Sept. 10.

NEITHER Mme. Ponisi nor Mrs. Louise Eldridge will appear in the opening piece at Wallack's Theatre. Mme. Ponisi will remain at the Boston Museum until Mr. Abbey needs her here.

RICHARD C. WHITE, the original 'Frisco adapter of "She," whom the courts then sustained, is in town and expresses an intention to enjoin Messrs. Gillette, Frohman, Hayman and Gilmore if the "She" announced for Niblo's Garden next month proves to be—as he believes it is—an infringement on his version. Mr. Frohman denies Mr. White's claim, however.

MINNIE PALMER promises to present "The Ring and the Keeper," an operetta by Montgomery, during her engagement at the Fourteenth-street Theatre next month. She reached this city Sept. 6.

RICHARD O'ROURKE, a ticket-speculator at the Casino, was arrested night of Sept. 6 for disorderly conduct.

DOCKSTADER'S THEATRE.—Business has continued very large since the opening night, Sept. 7. This week the bill was changed only slightly. Marion and Franks were added to the olio 12, and the musical-act by Carl Rankin, Alfred Liston and Burt Sheppard was cut to make room for them. The next new afterpiece will be a travesty called "Dr. Freckle and Mr. Snide.

ANNIS MONTAGU and Charles Turner are singing at the Madison-square Garden concerts this week.

FOURTEENTH-STREET THEATRE.—Chas. H. Hoyt's latest farcical comedy, "A Hole in the Ground," was presented for the first time in this city evening of Sept. 12, with the following cast: A Capitalist, Wm. Mack; A Romantic Young Man, W. Otis Harlan; A Stranger, Geo. Richards; A Commercial Tourist, Alf. M. Hampton; A Second Commercial Tourist, W. F. Mack; A Station-agent, Frank Lawton; A Roper-in for Centropolis Hotel, Alf. M. Hampton; A Roper-in for Grand Union Hotel, W. F. Mack; A Boy anxious to be a R. R. Man, W. H. Jordan; A League Baseball Umpire, Julian Mitchell; A Tailor-made Gill, Duddie Douglass; A Second Tailor-made Girl, Fannie Stevens; A Third Tailor-made Girl, Irene Hernandez; A Deaf Lady, Alice Walsh; A Young Mother, Helen Leslie; A Telegraph Operator, Nanette Comstock; A Brat, Daisy Hall; A Tarrier, Alice Walsh; A Second Tarrier, Helen Leslie; A Third Tarrier, Daisy Hall; The Lady of the Lunch Counter, Flora Walsh. A full synopsis of the skit was published in THE CLIPPER some time ago. The company opened their present tour Aug. 29, at Providence, R. I., and were in smooth trim for their metropolitan introduction. The piece is a go, and fully sustains the author's previous reputation for putting amusing pieces of slight texture before the public. It will easily accomplish its two-fold object, that of pleasing the people and making money for those concerned. The piece is clean, built on neater lines than "A Rag Baby" or "A Tin Soldier," and will easily hold a high place as a popular success. George Richards, Julian Mitchell and Frank Lawton were well placed, and made their character impersonations clean-cut and taking. Flora Walsh was happily cast as The Girl of the Lunch-counter, and verified her previous pleasing reputation. She is attractive and winsome, and does her work with ease, catching her audience with a subtle and natural finesse. The play was well cast, and all worked conscientiously to make it a go. Miss Walsh was pleasantly remembered florally, the theatre management being prominent in such attentions. The four weeks' run of "A Hole in the Ground" at this house should prove remunerative.

"ERMINIE" will be sung for the last time at the Casino Sept. 17. On 19 "The Marquis" ("Jeanne, Jeannette et Jeannetton") will be sung for the first time in America, in English. It is by P. Lacome, with Robert Reece's libretto modernized by Max Freeman. J. T. Powers, Lillie Grubb and others will make their first appearance at the Casino in the cast.

"THE GREAT PINK PEARL" will be acted for the first time at the Lyceum Theatre Tuesday night, Sept. 20.

THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC will open its season as a combination theatre Sept. 19, with Nugent & Taylor's Co. in the first New York performance of "A Dark Secret." The piece was fully reviewed in last week's CLIPPER.

AT a meeting of the Actors' Fund, Sept. 8, a resolution authorizing the purchase of more burial lots was adopted. Fourteen applications for relief were received.

LONDON THEATRE.—The much talked-of "Early Birds" made their first appearance in this city afternoon of Sept. 12, at which time the house was packed to suffocation. You couldn't move, and breathing-room was positively scarce. Another immense audience greeted the troupe in the evening. A taking first-part introduced the company, and pleased the audience. It was an attractive and pretty scene, the ladies being becomingly and modestly attired. Lester and Allen occupied the ends, with Add Weaver in the middle. The solo and chorus singing went nicely. The introductory scene soon gave way to a meritorious olio, which included Flynn and Zitella in their popular and well-executed sketch; Lester and Allen, in their inimitable "Two New Sports," which went, as usual, with a rush and pleased to a flattering extent; Annie Hart warbled in great shape, and favorite though she is at all times, her reception was here unusually strong; Veta made her debut in this city, and proved herself an adept and pleasing transformation-artist and a graceful adjunct to the varieties; Bryant and Holm's were "there" as usual, and scored a pronounced hit; P. C. Shortis, in his banjo work, was a pleasing feature, and did much toward the success of the show, appearing in the evening in place of some dancers who retired after the afternoon performance; Adrienne Ancian, a comely aerialist, made her first obeisance to a metropolitan audience, in a well-executed trapeze-act, with fine balancings. "She," a burlesque on the present Haggard craze, introduced the whole company, and was cast as follows: Leo, Zitella; Billali, Annie Hart; Ustaur, Veta; Jimali, Dora Claxton; Joeali, Gertie Proctor, Johnali, Ollie Lewis; Samali, Emma Ward; Dickali, Louise Miller; Fredali, Pauline Cook; Darkali, Lizzie Ray; Lightali, Palma Schoeder; Joh, Matt Flynn; Mohamed, Add Weaver; Holly, Billy Lester; She, Polly Holmes; She (after the fiery ordeal?), Paul Allen. The burlesque is marked by strong and fitting situations, and the climaxes come fast and furious. The bright music, credited to Fred Solomon, goes nicely. Zitella, Annie Hart and Polly Holmes were a trio of burlesquers to whom special praise is due. Lester, Allen, Add Weaver and Matt Flynn came in for a liberal share of attention, and made all that was possible of their opportunities. The show is a popular go, and should prove a remunerative undertaking. Next week, "The Night Owls."

WINDSOR THEATRE.—A very large audience and storms of almost constant applause marked the opening night of Newton Beers' "Lost in London" Co. at the Windsor Theatre Sept. 12. The spectacular staging was commended with even more warmth than was called forth during the recent engagement of the company at the Grand Opera-house, and again Mr. Beers' powerful impersonation of Job Armroyd, the Swart-king, was rewarded by flattering praise. Jessie Lee Randolph's sweet manner well became the role of Nellie. The ballet, gracefully led by Mlle. Teresina Carlotta, was of good size and picturesque make-up, and the musical and comic interpolations by the North Britain Pan-pipe Singers, Samuel Bernard and Master Lucius M. Rich were capitally done. A week of good business seems assured Mr. Beers. Next week the Windsor will have the first performance on any stage (we believe) of "Two Roads," a local melodrama by James Carlen, with the author and Marston Leigh in the chief roles.

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—Louis James and Marie Wainwright opened their second tour as stars Sept. 12, at this house, appearing in "Virginius" to an excellent audience. Their support contains F. C. Mosley, F. C. Heubner, E. N. Hoyt and others of last season's roster. On 14 and at the matinee 17 they will play "Gretchen," and on 13 and matinee of 14 "Ingomar"—both for the first time (by them) in this city.

POOLE'S THEATRE was comfortably filled evening of Sept. 12 on the occasion of the opening performance of "The Mascot" by the Pauline Harvey Opera Co. The people of the cast were in good voice, and several encores were demanded. Miss Harvey made a charming Bettina, while clever Dan Packard, in a very comical make-up, scored a hit as Prince Lorenzo. He introduced the song, "They Cawn't Do It, You Know," and earned the applause bestowed on him. The parts of Fiametta by Adele Reno, Rocco by Clement St. Martin, Pippo by J. W. MacSweeney and Frederick by Henry Moulton were well rendered. "The Mikado" will fill the bill later in the week. Blanche Mortimer in "The Sea of Ice" is underlined for next week.

THE BIJOU OPERA-HOUSE was thrown open for the season Sept. 12, "Circus in Town," announced as an adaptation by Ed. Holst from the Danish, being the attraction, with John A. Mackay billed for star. When the curtain rose, there were auditors enough present to fill all the seats and the rear aisles, but some of them left before eleven o'clock, when the curtain fell. Mr. Holst doesn't seem to have found much of a plot in Denmark, and, with all the business interpolated by Manager E. E. Rice, and the strong acts of El Nino Eddie, the Davenport Brothers and a juggler, the entire performance was unsatisfactorily thin. The idea of the Scandinavian farceur, which has been fairly carried out by the American adapter, was to narrate in dramatic form the adventures of a lorn countryman, who falls in love with the star of the circus that comes to his town, writes her a silly letter, posts it without addressing it, and then makes himself miserable through three acts, for fear the unmailable missive may be received by the star's ferocious husband, who manages the circus. An idea carried out all the way from Denmark seems to become feeble; at least, it required the best efforts of a rather strong cast to support it, and the patience of the audience. Mr. Mackay had no particular opportunity to shine. Richard Golden made a good deal of fun as a servant-girl, Adah Richmond did well as the circus-star, and the others managed as cleverly as could be expected under the depressing circumstances. The people in the cast were: Victor Magillicudy, J. A. Mackay; Billposter, W. H. Hamilton; Philip, Paul Arthur; Old Sleuth, W. C. Mandeville; Young Sleuth, Thomas Lewis; Mlle. Ritta, Adah Richmond; Mlle. Patrice, Hattie Delaro; Zulu, Grace Wilson; Zozo, Emma Hanley; Zampa, Josie Hall; Zitella, Evelyn Granville; Bridget Montmorenci, Richard Golden. It may as well be recorded that the piece was originally acted Sept. 7 at Pawtucket, R. I. It shows need of rehearsal even yet. At the Bijou it is booked for 5 weeks, but it can hardly last that long, at least with profit to Managers Miles, Dixey & Barton. Rice's "Conrad the Corsair" Co. follow.

H. R. JACOBS' THIRD-AVENUE THEATRE.—A fair-sized audience in the afternoon and a packed one in the evening of Sept. 12 greeted Frank I. Frayne in "Mardo." The piece and its many sensational effects and situations were loudly applauded. The play is evenly cast, as follows: Mardo, Frank I. Frayne; Count Villano, S. R. Chester; Jacob Tough, A. R. Brooks; Czar of Russia, T. C. Mendinger; Count Berdoif, Frank Bass; Jacko, Frank I. Frayne Jr.; Zambo, Fred Knight; Czarwitch, R. W. Oliver; Tom Buffet, S. R. Balcom; Walford, H. E. Thurston; Ormsloff, W. H. Irving; Countess Therese, Gussie De Forrest; Countess Kardoff, Mrs. S. K. Chester; Carlotta Pretrosky, Blanch Reed; Joyrushy Armandy Slim Buffet, T. C. Mendinger; Sally Snapper Buffet, Gerty Libby; Samanty Jane Buffet, Dora Harrington. Next week, "Zozo."

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—Mrs. D. P. Bowers was greeted by a well-filled house down-stairs, although it was very light in the upper tiers, Sept. 12, when she opened for the week in a repertory. Mrs. Bowers has some good material in her company, who, unfortunately, were very poorly placed in "Mme. Cœsus," with which the week opened. The play is an adaptation of George Ohnet's novel, "Serge Paunine," and, under its present title at least, is new to this country; but under its original French name Aug. Daly produced the piece some years ago, when it proved a dismal failure. The play, in its present shape, is weak, although some of the acts have strong endings. Mrs. Bowers, as Mme. Desvarennes, was right royally received, and was compelled to answer several curtain calls. She received an elegant basket of flowers at the end of the second act. Applause was also showered upon Henry Aveling, W. G. Beach, Carl Ahrendt, Mittens Willett and Alice Fairbrother, of the support. "Mme. Cœsus" will not be a feature of Mrs. Bowers' repertory this season. As a matter of record, we append the cast: Mme. Desvarennes (sometimes called Mme. Cœsus), Mrs. D. P. Bowers; Prince Serge Paulne, Henry Aveling; Pierre Delarue, W. G. Beach; Monsieur Michaud, Carl Ahrendt; Maurice Mavechal, Sidney Bowkett; Anatole, Arthur Giles; Mons. Rosenberg, J. W. Thompson; Mons. De Trembley, Percy Hunting; Nadia, Mittens Willett; Clarice, Alice Fairbrother. Mrs. Bowers' repertory for the week will be: 13 and matinee 14, "Mme. Cœsus;" night of 14, "Lady Audley's Secret;" 15 and 17, "The Czarina;" 16, "Queen Elizabeth;" matinee 17, "Lady Audley's Secret." Her executive staff: J. G. Ritchie, manager; Harry W. Sewall, business-manager; Carl Ahrendt, stage-manager; Sidney Bowkett, assistant stage-manager; Jos. Goodharn, treasurer. Due 19 and week, "Hoodman Blind," with Frederic De Belleville and Viola Allen in the leading-parts—the first stand of J. McCadden's new company.

MINER'S BOWERY THEATRE.—Packed to the doors was this house on the evening of Sept. 12, when Hyde's Big Specialty Co. made their first city appearance. The troupe, under the able direction of Jamie Hyde, is made up of the cream of the vaudevilles. It is truly a big show. How could it be otherwise with people so clever as William McMahon, John and Edna Vidocq, Snarpley and West, Kittie O'Neil, Kelly and Murphy, Sam Devere, Richard Carroll, Byrnes and Helens and Flora Moore? With this array of well-known and high-class performers it is needless to particularize. Suffice it to say that heartier and more pronounced receptions have not been witnessed on the Bowery for many a day, the acts going brightly and with a smoothness seldom seen. Hits and recalls were of course numerous, and deservedly so. The theatre stock (A. H. Sheldon, J. R. Gildersleeve, J. R. Lewis, Dave Posner, John Coffey, Nellie Sandford and Daisy Norwood) opened the entertainment and appeared takingly in one of A. H. Sheldon's timely sketches. The show closed with a rattler in the way of an afterpiece which did noble duty.

RAIN forced a postponement of the final performance of "The Fall of Babylon" at St. George, S. I., Sept. 12 to 13. The proceeds go to General-manager J. W. Hamilton.

HARRIGAN'S PARK THEATRE opened for a preliminary season Sept. 12, with Fred J. Havner as manager, that gentlemen leasing the house in order to introduce what was evidently intended to be a satire on W. F. Cody's Wild West. Mr. Havner is a Philadelphia merchant with a taste for the stage, and an amateur composer. He first produced his skit at Carncross,* in Philadelphia, late last season, with Hughey Dougherty and the members of the Carncross company. There is no plot and but very little action attached to "The Wily West." It treats of the adventures of a foolish shop girl, who becomes attached to one of the members of the Wild West Show, whom she consents to follow to his far-off home. There are introduced several scenes of prairie life, the robbery of the Deadwood stage, etc., with the final recapture of the love-sick maiden and winding up with a walk-around and song by the whole company. A. J. Bruno as a floor-walker at Macy's, afterwards an effeminate cowboy, made the most of the material at his command, though the part was evidently not a coagenial one. John T. Kelly, as Arizona Mike, driver of the Deadwood coach, had but one scene in which to display his Irish eccentricities, and he made the most of the opportunity. The Delmanning Bros. did a fair song-and-dance, which was encored. Annie Williams, as Nanita, the Indian maiden, sang two solos very sweetly. Ruth Daryl and the balance of the cast had little to do except to walk about and look ferocious, as the parts required. The house is leased for three weeks, but more attractive features will have to be introduced to give the skit that length of life in this city. There was a good audience.

"DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE" was acted for the first time in New York Sept. 12 at the Madison-square Theatre, by Richard Mansfield and his company. On the same evening the Standard opened for the season, with the first metropolitan production of "The Arabian Nights" (the new version) by the Brooks & Thompson Co. The houses at both theatres were large. Our limited space this week compels us to defer lengthier mention of these openings until next week.

FRANK ADAMS, CLIPPER representative at London, Can., paid this city a visit last week.

TONY PASTOR'S THEATRE.—A large audience was present evening of Sept. 12, the attraction being Hallen & Hart's Co. With the exception of Ralph Terry, the company is the same that was reviewed at length in these columns last week. Mr. Terry is a graceful addition to the aggregation, and his unique act went excellently. Next week the Hicks-Sawyer Minstrels will make their first appearance this season in the city.

MINER'S EIGHTH-AVENUE THEATRE.—This popular west-side house held a good-sized and well-pleased audience evening of Sept. 12 to enjoy the specialties of John A. Coleman, Tex (the cowboy fiddler), Hamlin and Hamlin, Heffman and McDonald, Kelly and Ashby, Ned Hann and Mamie Hayman, Annie Boyden, Tom and Minnie Flynn, Morton Bros. and Mme. Bell. Next week, Sheffer & Blakely's Co.

BROOKLYN.—At the Park Theatre, Effie Elisler in "Woman Against Woman" and "Egypt" last week had only fair business, the latter play being the best attraction. Sept. 12 J. B. Polk in "Mixed Pickles" to a good house. "Jim the Penman" 19.

THE GRAND OPERA-HOUSE was largely attended last week, "The White Slave" drawing well. Patti Rosa opened to good business in "Bob" 12. "Beacon Lights" 19.

PARK THEATRE.—"The Dominie's Daughter" had good business last week. This week R. L. Downing in "The Gladiator," had a full house 12. Sept. 19, Joseph Haworth in "Rosedale."

HYDE & BEHMAN'S.—James Hyde's Specialty Co. Sheffer & Blakely's Novelty Co. opened to a crowd 12.

STANDARD MUSEUM.—"A Box of Cash" was played to good business last week. Sept. 12 "Passion's Slave" attracted a crowded house.

LEE-AVENUE ACADEMY.—Lilian Olcott opened her season here 12 in her reconstructed "Theodora." She was welcomed by an audience made up largely of personal friends. The play in its new shape went smoothly. Next, "The Still Alarm."

NOVELTY.—The usual large audience was present 12 when "Clio" was the attraction.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—John F. Ward, in "The Doctor," otherwise "Dr. Clyde," drew a fair-sized audience 12. The comedy has plenty of "go," and evidently pleased. "Mixed Pickles" next week.

GRAND.—"A Shadowed Crime" was the attraction 12, and was witnessed by an audience of fair proportions.

NOTES.—The Cyclorama building has been entirely taken down and removed to its new home in New York. ..... Zipp's Casino adjoining the Grand Opera-house is in full operation again and has a paying patronage. A feature of the concerts there has been Minnie Schutz singing of the Boulanger March music..... W. Harris, who takes the part of Pasarus in "The Gladiator" this week at the Brooklyn Theatre, enacted the same role with Edwin Forest, and afterward with McCullough ..... J. L. Stoddard begins his lecture season in this city at the Academy of Music 29 .....On 10 a crank called out "fire" in the gallery of the Standard Museum, but his prompt arrest prevented a panic. He was sent to the Penetentiary 10, for sixty days.

ALBANY.—At the Leland Opera-house, "The Lights o' London" Sept. 19, Jos. Jefferson 20, 21, Emma Abbott's Co. 26. This house opened 8 with Odell Williams in "The Judge."

JACOBS & PROCTOR'S MUSEUM.—Week commencing 12, Monroe & Rice's "My Aunt Bridget" Co. Week of 5-10, J. A. Herne's "Hearts of Oak" Co. did good business.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The Mrs. Gen. Tom Thumb Co. opened 12 for a week.

THE CENTRAL opens 19 with Lilly Clay's Co.

ROCHESTER.—At Jacobs & Proctor's Academy, Tony Pastor's Co. opened Sept. 12 and, as in the past, crowded houses are assured him. Edmund K. Collier comes week 19. Ada Gray in "East Lynne" 5-8, "Camille" 9, "Oliver Twist" 10, closed the week to "S. R. O."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"Stricken Blind," with Nina Crollius and T. L. Gleason at the head of the cast, opened for three nights 12. A. P. Burbank follows for the remainder of the week, commencing 15. The past week "Lights o' London" closed 7, to good attendance. "Natural Gas" arrived 8, and made a hit. Girard, Donnelly, Gilbert, Amy Ames and Rachel Booth are worthy of special mention. A more ludicrous play could scarcely be put upon any stage that would be as well received by the large audience in attendance. This farce-comedy is new, though Rochester was not its first stand. The author is H. Grattan Donnelly of Philadelphia, and the company is managed and backed by John H. Russell. The story is simple but decidedly effective. Christopher Bluff (Mr. Donnelly), a dealer in Natural Gas stock in the gas belt, has in his employ an interesting and loquacious janitress, Kitty Malone (Amy Ames), and a piquant and rather pert type-writer, Jimpsy (Rachel Booth), assisted by two-of-a-kind in Flossie and Tillie (Kate Allen and Mae Millard). Kitty Malone is the fiancee of Whirlem O'Rourke, a progressive and ambitious policeman (Eddie Girard), while Jimpsy is infatuated with the distingue airs of Nois E. Howell, an actor with an object (John D. Gilbert). Jobson Doddle, a sharp lawyer, who is speculating in Natural Gas stock (Gus Henessey); and Ginger Whipsaw, a live darky on the lookout for the eleventh commandment (John T. Craven); Daisy Doddle, a young lady of decided talent and superabundance of good looks (Katherine B. Howe) complete the characters and the company. The first act is devoted to the peculiar workings of Bluff's Natural Gas stock office and the methods which are illustrated in sundry ways by Mr. Bluff, Mr. Howell and the ubiquitous policeman, O'Rourke. The fact that Kitty Malone's father owns the property on which the great natural-gas discovery is made, creates the sensation that concludes the first act and starts the fun fast and furious. The fact that Miss Malone tries to outdo society in society style furnishes a theme in which there is unlimited fun in the next two acts. A soiree musicale and a lawn-tennis party afford perfect opportunities for picturesque dressing and superb ensembles. To describe the plot, if there is a plot (and the author doubts it) would be superfluous.

CASINO THEATRE.—Nelton's Specialty Co. is the attraction the present week. The following people are announced: Crimmins and Doyle, Nelton, Ed. Kelly and Burt Watson, Randall, Harry Edwards, Daisy Kerneil, W. S. Campbell and M. E. Nibbe. The past week closed with large attendance.

NEW OPERA-HOUSE.—"A Clergy's Curse," a five-act drama, by Robert T. Murphy, of this city, was presented for the first time on any stage 8. It seems that Robert Clyde, a son of a clergyman and a bank clerk, is wrongfully accused of robbing his employer, with whose daughter he is in love, and by means of treacherous schemes of a villain named Louis Malcom, who is also in love with the banker's daughter, Fannie Cardyke. Clyde goes to jail as a result of the accusation; circumstantial evidence brought against him is strong, and his conviction is the cause of his mother's death, after having received his father's curse. Then Malcom, who is anxious to get him out of the country, aids him in escaping from jail. Five years elapse, when Malcom is taken suddenly ill and makes a confession. Clyde, having heard it, arrives home in time to prevent the wedding of the villain and the heroine, although the happiness of the denouement is here somewhat dimmed by the fact that just previously Rev. Mr. Clyde dies in his son's arms. Then Robert faints, followed by a pretty tableau of the dead mother blessing her unconscious boy. The play was well received and witnessed by large audiences. The same will be continued 12, 13. Following people are in the cast: J. W. Neely, Geo. A. Dame, Willis Brown, W. F. Kohmann, Anthony Archer, L. J. Malone, John H. Howell, T. E. McComber, Jas. Miller, Robt. T. Miller, Clara Matthia, Rosa Stephenson, Carrie D. Newcomb and Delight Closson.

BUFFALO.—Buffalo is very proud of her new theatre, the Grand Opera-house. The front elevation is done in chased Ohio sandstone, with the upper part in buff brick from Perth Amboy. The architectural points are both numerous and pretty, but space permits only a passing mention. Of the interior arrangements, and particularly of the conveniences provided for the profession, too much cannot be said. The stage, which is now being draped with an elaborate curtain, is 68 feet wide, 40 feet deep and 60 feet high to the arch. An iron curtain nestles up among the flies ready to be dropped at a moment's notice and to completely shut off the auditorium in case of fire. It can be dropped by pressing an electric button. Pressure on another button will throw open a section of the roof, 13 by 18 feet directly above the centre of the stage, thus forming a flue for the escape of flames skyward. The dressing-rooms, four of which lead directly off the stage, are furnished with marble-topped toilet apparatus, mirrors, hot and cold water, and upholstered furniture. These are for the leading people. Sixteen others are conveniently placed and given nearly as cosy fixings. The idea of the management seems to be to make the surroundings homelike and attractive, and to this end no arbitrary rules and regulations have been adopted to "govern" the use of them. Manager Snelbaker says in his announcement: "Opera-houses are, as a rule, built entirely with a view to the convenience of patrons, while those who contribute to the amusement and pleasure of the public are left to herd in dressing-rooms which generally are but death-traps. I have studied the convenience of the public and have furnished a house which, for comfort, safety and elegance, has no superior in this or any other country. I have built the stage and dressing-rooms with a view to the comfort of those who may occupy them. The sanitary arrangements are perfection. There are no arbitrary rules to be observed. Professional people visiting Buffalo are cordially invited to inspect the building. My house is directly in the centre of Buffalo, on the ground floor, and is built in strict compliance with the severe building laws." The house was built in ninety days. It should not be inferred from this that it is cheaply or insubstantially built. On the contrary, it consists principally of solid masonry, fireproof floors and all the mechanical appliances with which the modern theatre is supplied. The haste of its building was due to the irrepressible energy of the lessee, who closed his season at the Adelphi in May last and gave up his unprofitable lease. Several offers came to Col. Snelbaker from Cincinnati, Washington and elsewhere, which he thought of accepting, and, hearing this, a number of local capitalists met and decided to offer to build him a first-class theatre at a cost of $100,000. Lilian Olcott is booked to open Sept. 19. "The Golden Giant" 26 and week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Due 12, 13 and 14, Booth-Barrett Co.; 15, 16 and 17, "Around the World." Closed 10; Margaret Mather, to a fair week's business.

COURT-STREET.—This week, "Zitka." Due 26 and week, N. S. Wood. C. A. Gardner's "Karl" closed 10 after a big week.

GRAND CENTRAL.—F. A. Tannehill, in "The Exile's Daughter," 12 and week. Next week, Grau's Opera Co. The Hicks-Sawyer Colored Minstrels showed to full houses last week, and gave the new theatre a great send off.

ADELPHIA.—The New York All-star Specialty Co. appear 12 and week. Departed 10: Duncan Clark's Combination, who did excellent business.

GLOBE.—W. H. Rightmire, in "The Two Wanderers," appears 12 and week. Last week, "Good as Gold" did good business.

TROY.—At Griswold Opera-house, Ada Gray began a week at the matinee Sept. 12, in "East Lynne," and will be seen in "Camille" and "Oliver Twist" during her stay. "Zitka" week of 19. Tony Pastor had five crushing houses the first half of last week, and the week was successfully closed by Dan McCarthy's Co., in "True Irish Hearts," so similar to "Ivy Leaf."

RAND'S OPERA-HOUSE.—The season here will open with the engagement of Effie Elisler, who produces "Woman Against Woman" and "Egypt." Especial interest attaches to the latter piece, as written and heroined by the late Laura Don, formerly Mrs. Geo. S. Fox of this city, and a native of Greenwich, Washington County, where her parents still live in moderate circumstances. On 19 Emma Abbott's Co. begin the season in "Mignon"—Abbott, Annandale, Bertram, Fricke, Mitchelena, Montegriffo, Pinette, Broderick, Allen and Zomosi announced; 20, Howard Athenæum Co.

BICYCLE CLUB HALL.—Prof. O. R. Gleason remains 12, 13, 14, 15, making two weeks altogether. His business has been good. This hall is admirably adapted to entertainments requiring no scenery. It is a large brick building (originally the Coliseum Rink), but, unlike rinks generally, was solidly built.

NOTES.—Troy's two dancing academies open the last of September. Prof. Murray (likewise of Albany) remains at Harmony Hall Jr., while Prof. Van Arnam has leased the old Masonic Hall and transformed it into an elegant modern hall, superior to any heretofore used for such purposes in the city..... The picnic and river excursion season has given place to clam-bakes, excursions to Lake George, veterans' reunions and County Fairs..... "Tom" Rainey, a veteran comedian, has been in Troy a month, a portion of the time under care. In former years he was very kind in volunteering to play for charitable purposes, and he has many friends here, some of whom are too generous for his own good.

SYRACUSE.—At the Wieting Opera-house, Sept. 12, 13, 14, A. P. Burbank in Samuel L. Clemens' new play, "The American Claimant." [See Burlington, N. J., letter.—ED. CLIPPER.] "Stricken Blind" comes 15 for the remainder of the week. "Natural Gas" attracted small but well-pleased audiences 6, 7. "Ten Nights in a Bar-room" did well 8, 9, 10, at popular prices. Due 23, Emma Abbott's Opera Co.

JACOBS & PROCTOR'S GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—Edmund Collier opens a week's engagement 12 in "Virginius," "Metamora" and "Jack Cade." Last week, "True Irish Hearts" the first half drew large houses, and Tony Pastor the last half packed the house to the doors. Due week of 19, "My Aunt Bridget."

PENN YAN.—Bishop's "Mugg's Landing" Co. will hold the boards at the Opera-house Sept. 14. Leech & Stevens' "Ten Nights in a Bar-room" Co. 17. Later dates are: Acme Comedy Co. (Farren & Hayes) Oct 12, Abbey's "Uncle Tom" 19, W. J. Shaw's Panorama 29.....Prof. Valentine of Rochester, leader of Valentine's Italian Orchestra, was married last week to Lulu Church .....Manager G. R. Cromwell was nominated for the Assembly Sept. 10.....The cantata of "Esther," recently rendered here was a success.

JAMESTOWN.—Hi Henry's Minstrels, at the Allen, Sept. 6, 7, had good business. It was the only attraction the past week. This week, C. A. Gardner's "Karl" 12, and Mestayer's "Tobogganing" Co. 14, are the only attractions.....The fifty-first annual Fair of Chautauqua Co. was held 5-9, and was very successful.....Allen's Royal English Menagerie left 11 for Attica. Eg. Lockwood will manage the Opera-house during Manager Allen's absence. Ben D. Saxton does the "privileges" with Allen's Menagerie.

GLENS FALLS.—At the Opera-house Sept. 12, Louise Litta, in "Chispa," had good business. Stewart's "Two Johns" Co. were well received 7. Winnett's "Passion's Slave" 8, 9, to good-sized houses. Abbey's "U. T. C." 21, and Adelman's "May Blossom" Co. Oct. 1. An electric light has been placed in the lobby of Manager Pruyn's cosy playhouse. Harry Wallace has resumed his place place as assistant in the box-office.

OSWEGO.—At the Academy of Music the season was formally opened Sept. 6 with Minnie Maddern in "Caprice" to a fine house. Everybody was pleased at the changes made by Manager Frisbie in the house. The following are booked: 12, Leech and Stevens, in "Ten Nights in a Bar-room;" 15, Murray and Murphy; 19, 20, "Fortune's Fool;" 22, Jos. Jefferson; 30, Janish.

ELMIRA.—At the Opera-house, Murray and Murphy presented "Our Irish Visitors" Sept. 10, to a fair-sized house. Mestayer's Co., in "Tobogganing," were the attraction 12. Announced for 14: J. A. Herne's "Hearts of Oak;" Charles A. Gardner 17. .....At the Madison-avenue Theatre, Leech & Stevens' "Ten Nights in a Bar-room" 16; Odell Williams' "The Judge" Co. 20.

SARATOGA.—"The Two Johns" attracted a large house at Putnam Music Hall Sept. 6. The Bijou Theatre Co. comes 12-17 .....At Town Hall, Odell Williams' "Judge Co." 12, Louise Litta 13.....J. P. Caddagan, after the season closes at the Grand Union Hotel, will go out as manager of Dion Boucicault.....J. J. Spies, the agent, was here 10 the guest of T. W. King, author of "Judge."

YONKERS.—At Music Hall, the regular season opened Sept. 5 with Arthur Rehan's "Nancy & Co." 6, "Love in Harness" to a full house. The new drop curtain promised for this occasion failed to put in an appearance, but the manager says it's under way. On 10 Abbey's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Co. packed the house, as all such companies do. Due 12, 13, Frank Kellar.

ITHACA.—Ida Van Cortland opened Sept. 14, 15, 16, 17 at low prices with a nightly change of bill. Booked: "Human Nature" 20, Louise Litta's Co. 22, Pauline Markham 24.....Chas. Lee's Ten-cent Circus comes 12 for four days.....The Tompkins County Fair begins 14 and continues until 17.

HORNELLSVILLE.—At the Shattuck, Murray & Murphy's "Irish Visitors" Co. will call Sept. 21, and, from the satisfaction given by them last March, I predict good business. Fleming's "Around the World" Co. pleased a fair house Sept. 6.

MATTEAWAN.—At Dibble's Opera-house, Lilly Clay's Gaiety Co., Sept. 8, called together a house full of males, who were well pleased with the entertainment.

SING SING.—Louise Litta's Co. in "Chispa" opened the season here to a packed house Sept. 1. On 6, Abbey's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Co. to "S. R. O.;" 7, Lilly Clay's Co. turned people away. Coming: 10, Howorth's Hibernica, who will have a full house, as the sale is very good.

SANDY HILL.—Editor Beaudoin of The Observer is agitating the question of a new opera house here. A train-brakeman of New York, formerly of this place, has the matter under consideration, and indications are that a playhouse will be erected here in the near future.

ONEIDA.—At the Opera-house (first of the season), Duncan Clark's Female Minstrels Sept. 13. The "grand" opening night is 19, with Barlow Bros. & Frost's Minstrels. The house, which has been remodeled and fitted with new and elegant chairs, will present a fine appearance on this occasion.

NEWBURG.—At the Opera-house, Roland Reed will present "Cheek" Sept. 16, otherwise the house will be dark all the week. Barry and Fay are booked for 22 in "Mulcahy's Big Party." The Meyer-Thorne Co. follows 25 for the week. Abbey's "Uncle Tom" drew a crowded house 5. The "Si Plunkard" Comedy Co. failed to show up 6. Howorth's Hibernica and Specialty Co. came 8 to a crowded house, and gave satisfaction. The Lily Clay Gaiety Co. followed 9, and were greeted by "the boy" in full force.

LOCKPORT.—The Hodge Opera-house, after a thorough cleaning and renovating, opened the season with "Lights o' London," to a fair house. Chas. A. Gardner, in "the New Kar," is booked for Sept. 15; 19, "A Clergy's Curse".....A. R. Brooks, who has been summering here, opened with the Frank I. Frayne Co. at the Novelty Theatre, Brooklyn, 5 .....A. C. Glassford of this city joins the Sol Smith Russell Co. at Chicago 17, as advance.

PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA.—It has been a week of good business for every place of amusement in Philadelphia. "Jim the Penman," at the Arch-street Theatre, leads off with the heaviest receipts. It was "Standing-Room Only" after the first nights' performance. The Walnut, with "A Dark Secret," and the Chestnut-street Opera-house, with "Dolores," came next in the line of the legitimate. "Peck's Bad Boy," at the National, took in big money every night in the week. "Catnip Tea," at the Chestnut, was only fair. Forepaugh's Theatre had the usual large attendance, and the Casino did so well that the management have decided to remain open until BRADENBURGH'S MUSEUM.—A big crowd was on hand afternoon of 12 at the opening of the Museum. Japanese souvenirs were distributed among the ladies in the audience. A number of improvements and a thorough overhauling of the upholstering have been made in this house.

FOREPAUGH'S EIGHTH-STREET THEATRE.—There was a packed house on Monday night—larger, in fact, than last week—to witness the presentation of "Stormbeaten," with these people in the cast: Geo. A. Henderson, Chas. Willard, Geo. H. Edwards, Walter Smith, J. W. Williams, Kate Vandenhoff, Ella Sothern, Mrs. Henry Vandenhoff, Leslie Miller, Frank M. Stanley, Eugene Douglas, James T. Glenny and Henry Manly. There is no truth in the rumor that Forepaugh & Connelly have been negotiating for the purchase of a theatre in Boston. Their enterprises in this city and Baltimore occupy all their attention.

CASINO.—"Billee Taylor" opened to a large audience 12. The weather was not extraordinarily propitious, but the attendance was a paying one. The cast was the same as was seen last week in "La Fille de Mme. Angot."

READING.—At the Academy, Moore & Vivian's Co. gave "Our Jonathan" Sept. 5, 6, to good business, the top of the house being particularly heavy. Richard O'Gorman drew well 8 in "Human Nature," and pleased his audience. Gotthold's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Co. drew the customary large audiences 9, 10, for three performances. The Wilbur Opera Co. open 12 for a week. John F. Ward in "The Doctor" 19, Reed's "Cheek" 21, Conreid's Opera Co. in "The Gipsy Baron" 23.....At the Grand, "Tobogganing" gave the Mestayer-Vaughn Co. an opportunity 6 to keep a large audience in convulsive laughter. C. T. Ellis appeared thrice in "Caspar the Yodler" 9, 10, to good business. Dan A. Kelly will furnish a week's amusement, commencing 12. "The Shadow Detective' and "After Seven Years" will alternate....Boehnlein's Art Wonder is exhibiting at 714 Penn street to large crowds daily. It is an automatic mechanical picture taken from the time of The Crusade; the work has been a twelve years' study with the producer and will shortly take the road.....J. E. Heath, formerly advance of Moore Bros.' Consolidated Railroad Shows, which stranded at Jersey Shore, Pa., is in town.

LANCASTER.—At the Opera-house, "A Cold Day" afforded amusement for a good-sized audience Sept. 10. Coming: Ullie Akerstrom week of 12, "Daniel Boone" 19, "The Bellringer of St. Paul's" 20, 21, "Little Tycoon" 22, Roland Reed 23, and Conreid's Opera Co. in "Gipsy Baron" 24. Manager Hecker has attired his ushers in new gold-embroidered uniforms.....Frederick Armstrong, with a fair support, opened at the King-street Theatre 5 in "Hazel Kirke," presenting "Esmeralda," "Ticket-of-leave Man" and "Monte Cristo" during the week, to fair business. "Young Mrs. Winthrop" was announced for 7, but a telegram from A. M. Palmer having arrived, threatening prosecution if any more presentations of Madison-square plays were given, caused it to be taken off. Edith Sinclair in "A Box of Cash" 15, 16, 17.

NORRISTOWN.—"The Little Tycoon" began what is announced as the farewell tour of this delightful and popular opera Sept. 10, before a large audience. Fred Pride continues to be the manager for George C. Brotherton. "Human Nature"—a new play resembling "Uncle Dan'l" and Neil Burgess' "Vim"—received a notable production Sept. 6, when it was put on at Music Hall. On the whole, it is a creditable piece of work. "Zozo" comes 14. Louise Arnot is booked for week of 19 in a varied repertory. Roland Reed in "Dr. Quack," 26, and Mrs. D. P. Bowers, 28, comprise the engagements for the month.

WILLIAMSPORT.—At the Academy of Music, Murray and Murphy opened the regular season Sept. 5, in "Our Irish Visitors," to a large house. "Caprice" drew a large audience 9. Mestayer's "Tobogganing" Co. came 10 to a large house. "Ten Nights in a Bar-room" is booked for 16, to be followed by the Conried Opera Co., in "Gipsy Baron" 22, Mrs. D. P. Bowers 23, T. J. Farron in "A Soap Bubble" 24, John F. Ward 26 Parker & Gleason's Trained Dogs 29, 30, Oct. 1, "Daniel Boone" 8.....Hurlburt, Hunting & Frost's Circus will pitch tents Sept. 16, 17.

SCRANTON.—At the Academy of Music, Marion Abbott, in "Only a Farmer's Daughter," Sept. 8, to a large audience; Richard O'Gorman, in "Human Nature," 13; Conried & Herriman's "Gipsy Baron" 19, C. A. Gardner 20, Mrs. D. P. Bowers 22, Carleton Opera Co. 23, Roland Reed 28.. ...Miller, Stowe & Freeman's Circus was here 8-10 to the capacity of their tent.....At Robinson's Music Hall: Dollie Williams, Eva Millar, Josephine Shroeder, Barnella. .....At Boyle's Parlor Theatre: Fred Lion, Ella Hammond, Tillie Frank.

YORK.—"A Cold Day" is at the Opera-house Sept. 13. "The Bellringer of St. Paul's" comes 17. Minnie Maddern, in "Caprice," had a poor house 10. This city won't stand high prices, and Miss Maddern would have had a big house but for this..... The trouble of many years standing between The Dispatch and the Opera-house management has been settled, and everything is serene once more.

HAWLEY.—"Only a Farmer's Daughter" Co. had good business at the Standard Sept. 7.....L. B. McKean, the blind vocalist and monologue artist, is doing the small towns in this vicinity.....A row between the Standard manager and the city Chief-of-police enlivened the spectators on the opening night. The result is that the chief will not furnish police protection to the house any longer unless he gets paid for it.

MEADVILLE.—W. J. Fleming's "Around the World" Sept. 12 to a good house. Dark balance of the week. Frances Bishop comes 19 in "Stricken Blind." Minnie Maddern 23.....Marie McNeil, of the Smith Family Bellringers, who has been spending the Summer here, joins the troupe early in October.....McNeil, Wilson & Clark's Ten-cent Pavilion Show did a good business 5 and 6.....Barnum's No. 2 car was here 5, and billed or 26.

ALLENTOWN.—At Academy of Music Sept. 8, 9-10, Parker & Gleason's Trained Animal Paradox, under the management of W. T. Maxwell, did a good business and left an excellent reputation.....At the Music Hall 8, which was the opening for this season, C. T. Ellis, in "Casper the Yodler," to excellent business. On 10, Richard O'Gorman, in "Human Nature," before a large audience.

NEW CASTLE.—At the Park Opera-house W. J. Fleming's "Around the World" Co. comes Sept. 13, Margaret Mather in "Leah" 14 .....At Allen's Opera-house, the preliminary season opens with Stetson's "Uncle Tom" Co. 14, followed by Herne's "Hearts of Oak" Co. 17,

HOUTZDALE.—The regular season opens here Sept. 20, with "Only a Farmer's Daughter," to be followed 26 by Richard O'Gorman in "Human Nature," Noss Family 29, "Little Tycoon" Oct. 5, "Daniel Boone" 12. Other first-class attractions are booked, including "Jim the Penman," "Si Perkins," "Two Johns" and "Skipped."

ERIE.—The Battle of Gettysburg was exhibited by Gen. Mulholand Sept. 7, matinee and evening, to packed houses. Also, matinee 8, for inmates of Soldiers and Sailors' Home and Orphan Schools. "Around the World" 10, to good attendance. Evening of 15, Mestayer's "Tobogganing" Co.

CARBONDALE.—At the New Opera-house, Kittie Rhoades' Co. week of Sept. 5 to the capacity of the house. Richard O'Gorman, in "Human Nature," 14, Benj. Maginley 16, C. A. Gardner's "Kari" 21.

EMPORIUM.—Banks' Minstrels Sept. 10 did a good business.....Frank Robbins' Circus comes Oct. 6 and is sure of a big crowd, being the first tent show to visit us this season.

CORRY.—I was misinformed as to the management of the St. James Opera house, as Dr. M. Pickett is still at its helm. Stetson's "U. T. C." Co. comes Sept. 16, T. J. Farron's "Soap Bubble" 29.

HAMBERSBURG.—Prof. Bristol's Equescurricula was here Sept. 5, 6, 7 to the best business that was ever in our Opera-house. Thompson's "Our Railroad Men" 8 to poor business. "The Bellringer of St. Paul's" comes 13.....James L. Sivers severed his connection as manager of the Opera-house 10. The concern will hereafter be managed by the owners.

LANCASTER.—Ullie Akerstrom opened in "Annette," to a full house at low prices Sept. 12. W. H. Cooper has joined the company. "The Little Tycoon," booked for 13, has canceled on Manager Yecker's advice.

ARKANSAS.

LITTLE ROCK.—The season at the Capital Theatre opens Sept. 26 with Charlotte Thompson in "Drifting Clouds." Modjeska, Rhea, Joseph Jefferson, Emma Abbott and others are booked.

MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON.—That extremely well, and withal, judiciously advertised "A Run of Luck," received its initial American performance at the Boston Theatre, Sept. 12. For months past Bostonians have been stared in the face by a flaring, lively "bit" of a poster, bearing a bunch of snorting runners, with brightly-attired jockeys, crossing the wire for all the world like a lot of proper horses at Monmouth or Sheepshead. Manager Tompkins has worked like a steam-engine in preparing this English piece for American representation, and is apparently so well satisfied with the results that he says his production lays clean over the Britishers'. THE CLIPPER used the cast last week. The telegraphic columns will detail whatever else of importance occurred at the opening performance. Henry Chanfrau finished a week 10. The current attraction is staged for a run.

HOLLIS-STREET THEATRE.—As light-waisted and inane as "The Corsair" confessedly is, the general sumptuousness of the production from a scenic standpoint will unquestionably carry it pretty rapidly along to success. Last week saw the house crowded at every performance. Nothing so gorgeous as "The Corsair's" stage sets, or the costumes of the characteristically Riceonian chorus girls, have ever been presented here. Mr. Rice has done some clever things in Boston, and to say that he has outdone himself is paying him a colossal compliment. But he has, all the same, in "The Corsair." The half-rate telegraph operator mixed my wiring somewhat last week. He made me say that Messrs. Rice, Dixey and Schiller got boxes of flowers, with harnesses. All hands got flowers, but there was only one harness on the bills, and Mr. Schiller received that. It was given him by the Monopole Club, a Bohemian organization of jovial spirits.

PARK THEATRE.—I shouldn't wonder, if I should happen to run across Ed Byram, to hear him tell me that last week signalized the biggest opening week in the history of the Park. The capacity of the auditorium has been pretty well tested at every performance so far. This is solely because Bostonians like a good thing. They come pretty near knowing what that is when they see it. And "Jim the Penman" is admittedly an extremely good thing, and is interpreted by an exceptionally good company. This is why the piece draws so profitably. "Elaine" and "A Foregone Conclusion" still remain underscored. I don't imagine that either of these plays will utilize a great deal of the remaining time of the company's engagement, in view of the fact of the ducat-drawing potency of the current attraction.

BOSTON MUSEUM.—Patronage has thinned out to that extent upon "The Dominie's Daughter" that this week will see its career wound up here. The three weeks will not have been a financial success, I am assured. "A Red Lamp," billed as a London success of last season, will be produced Monday next, 19, for the first time in America. It will be cast quite strongly and Annie Clarke will make her first appearance, or her re-entree, rather, in the new play. Here is the complete cast: Paul Demetrius, Charles Barron; General Morakoff, Alfred Hudson; Allan Villiers, William Seymour; Prince Alexis Valerian, Edgar L. Davenport; Ivan Zazzulic, Frazer Coulter; Kertch, C. E. Boardman; Count Bohrenheim, J. Burrows; Turgan, Boyd Putnam; Rheinvick, E. E. Rose; Tolstoi, H. P. Whittemore; Police, J. Thompson; Servant, J. K. Applebee Jr.; Princess Claudia Morakoff, Annie Clark; Olga Morakoff, Isabelle Eveson; Felise, Annie Chester; Mme. Dannenberg, Kate Ryan; Countess Voelcker, Grace P. Atwell. You see, it shows the inevitable Olga and koffs et. al so characteristic of all the Russian dramas of late years.

GLOBE THEATRE.—James O'Neil is always a strong attraction in "Monte Cristo" in this city. He has played it here frequently, and this week is doing it again, just to prevent us from forgetting all about his old-time drama. His engagement is for the week only. Aronson's New York Casino Co., with Francis Wilson, Pauline Hall, Marie Jansen, Will Daboll and everybody else in the cast, will commence an engagement 19. Manager Stetson signed for a return engagement of a week of Frederic Bryton, in "Forgiven," beginning Dec. 12. His single week, some three weeks ago, was a signal success, especially when it is considered that it was so early in the season.

HOWARD ATHENÆUM.—"The Night Owls" began a week Sept. 12. They post some very rich stands. Dowling and Hasson closed a good week with "Nobody's Claim" 10. A specialty show next week.

WINDSOR THEATRE.—Arizona Joe is, apparently, more or less "stuck" on this place. He has appeared here unusually often in his drama, "The Black Hawks." "The Wild Violet" will vary the week's programme with "The Black Hawks." Atherton & Atkins' "Checkered Life" Co. closed 10.

AUSTIN & STONE'S MUSEUM.—Joseph Young, said to be a son of Brigham Young, is this week exhibiting himself and a retinue of only seven wives and fourteen children, all the way from Salt Lake City. There's just curiosity enough in Boston to fill A. & S.'s to overflowing this way. Two companies divide the labors of giving the stage shows, and their names are: Girard and Earle, Vidocq and Gilson, Healy and Saunders, Haynes and Redmond, Dean and Kimball, the Watson Brothers, the famous Dolby and Comical Carson. Company B. is entirely composed of colored celebrities: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lucas, the Black Swan, Josie Rivers, Corlene Cushman, Ike Jones, Walby and Diamond.

KEITH & BATCHELLER'S GAIETY AND BIJOU.—New faces this week are: Grace Hoon, Dick and Ida Cummings, R. G. Knowles, Reed and Conant, Leola Hoon, Harry M. Price, Leonard and Flynn, and Lillie Allyn.

WOOD'S MUSEUM.—The Acme Opera Co. singing "The Mikado" 12. In addition, these specialists appear: The Three Franklins—John, Lillie and James—the Sheerans—James and Lydia—Hanley Bros.—Charles and Edward—Wm. A. Lang, James F. Lee, John Harney, Marie Smith, Geo. W. Woods, Murphy and Raymond, E. Percival, Olympian Quintet, Ben W. Reed.

NOTES.—The Symphony concerts begin Oct. 15 and end April 21. The public rehearsals start Oct. 14 and end April 20 .....Fred Kyle opened a baby show at Horticultural Hall Sept. 12. His ads. are as unique and characteristic of the man as ever. ..... Every Boston friend of William Morris congratulates him on his luck in being engaged as Modjeska's leading-man.

NEW BEDFORD.—At the Opera-house, Sept. 5, "A Hole in the Ground" pleased a good-sized audience. Sweatnam, Rice & Fagan's Minstrels gave a good show 6 to about the same house. "A Bunch of Keys" 7, and Frederic Bryton in "Forgiven" 9, played to very thin audiences. Moulton's Dramatic Company 19-24. The traveling managers kick a good deal about Lessee Moulton's method of newspaper advertising. It was not easy at first to get at the exact state of the case, but the following is probably correct: He pays yearly rates for advertising, and the newspapers throw in no puffs, any more than they would for patent medicine ads. So they get no complimentary tickets, and there is no after notice of the show. The newspapers think they do all that can be expected for the money they get, and have an idea that they are letting down the bars, for yearly advertisers are expected to be restricted to their own business. Mr. Moulton says he is satisfied with the situation.....Arizona Joe in "Black Hawks" four times and "White Violets" four times, at Liberty Hall 5-10, to fair business. The hall is to be closed a week or two for painting, etc.

LOWELL.—At Huntington Hall, Floy Crowell has drawn full houses every night the past week at popular prices, and gave good satisfaction. Pat Rooney in 'Pat's Wardrobe" Sept. 16.....At Music Hall, Corinne in "Arcadia" played three nights and one matinee to very good business 5, 6, 7, and was well received. "A Night Off" drew a light house 8. Gorman Bros.' Minstrels had a fair-sized audience 9. Coming: The Dalys in "Upside Down" 12, "A Bunch of Keys" 13, Augusta Van Doren 14.

TAUNTON.—Balabrega and his Wooden Miracle Co., which includes Emma Lynden, Trebor, Val Vino, Battey and Nedo, and C. H. Littlefield, closed a successful week Sept. 10. On 16, "A Night Off." Week of 19-24, Helene Adell. Manager White has secured Fred. Bryton for the three nights of our County Fair, 27, 28, 29.

LAWRENCE.—Bennett & Moulton's Opera Co., B, had large audiences all last week. Denman Thompson comes 22, "A Bunch of Keys" 24, James O'Neill 26.

NORTH ATTLEBORO.—At Wamsutta Opera-house, Augusta Van Doren came Sept. 8 to a large house. Booked: "A Night Off" 19, 'Streets of New York" Oct. 3, H. T. Chanfrau 13.

ATTLEBORO.—At Bates' Opera house, Barry and Fay came Sept. 6 to good-sized audience. Booke 1: Kate Claxton 14, Salsbury's Troubadours 24, Annie Pixley 28, Dalys' "Upside Down" Oct. 1.

PITTSFIELD.—At the Academy Sept. 5, Barlow Bros. & Frost's Minstrels had a packed house. Odell Williams, in "The Judge," 7. Mora week of 12.

WARE.—The Hennessy Bros.' Minstrels were at Town Hall Sept. 10 to good business. P. J. Mulvaney left the company here. He was presented with a gold-headed umbrella by the company.

LYNN.—At Music Hall Sept. 5, Sweatnam, Rice & Fagan's Minstrels had a packed house; 6, Johnson Bros.' Minstrels to a light house; 7, Roland Reed in a "Woman Hater" to fair business; 8, F. Bryton to fair business; 10, "Bunch of Keys" to good attendance. On 12 John S. Moulton's Dramatic Co. opens for week in "The Lancashire Lass," and change each evening.

MAINE.—[See Page 421.]

PORTLAND—Later Letter.—At Portland Theatre, Chas. L. Andrews' Minuet Carnival Co. Sept. 12, 13 in "Michael Strogoff." This play has not been seen here for several years and the sale of seats has been large. Pat Rooney comes 17 for one night. The Dalys, in "Upside Down," drew fairly well 8, 9..... At City Hall, for some reason or other, the Gormans Spectacular Minstrels 12, 13, are announced as "under the auspices of Ira Stockbridge," a local amusement purveyor. The use of Mr. Stockbridge's name may help to draw a larger audience of a better class of people than is usually attracted to a minstrel performance here, but the old Haverly Minstrels, under Fred Wright's management, ought to be able to fill the house without any outside or local influence. Corinne closed a successful three nights' engagement 10 to a good-sized audience .....The sixth annual course of City Hall entertainments (Stockbridge's) begins Oct. 8 with the Ideal Opera Co. The other numbers of the course of 16 performances include the McDonald-Karl Barnabee Opera Co., the Boston Symphony Orchestra, John L. Stoddard, Bill Nye, Chas. Dickens Jr., and others. The advance sale of reserved seats was unprecedented.....Greenwood Garden Opera-house closed its season Sept. 10 with the Wilkinson Opera Co. in "Fra Diavolo." Manager Knowlton has leased the Bijou Theatre, this city, and will take the Wilkinson Co. there for a week, beginning 12....Rev. Sam Small appears in City Hall 14....The Delavan United Circus exhibits 12-17.... Rhea comes to the Portland Theatre 19.

SKOWHEGAN.—Wilson's All-star Minstrels and Prof. J. H. Benton's Dog Circus appeared at Coburn Hall Sept. 10. A champagne supper was tendered the company by Wm. H. Heselton, one of the proprietors, at the Hotel Heselton. Billy Burke, stage-manager of the company, was agreeably surprised on being called upon to accept from the members and proprietors a gold watch, with chain and charm attached. The presentation speech was made by Prof. Burton.

LEWISTON.—Maine State Fair opened Sept. 6, with an attendance of 30,000 people on the grounds daily.....The Daly Bros. packed Music Hall every night of their engagement. "Michael Strogoff" was well attended. "Bunch of Keys" Sept. 17. Miss Van Bremen follows in a new play. Jennie Calef 29, 30.

CONNECTICUT.—[See Page 421.]

BRIDGEPORT.—At Hawes' Opera-house, "Standing-room Only" and but little of that Sept. 5 and 6, when "Lost in London" was the magnet. The orchestra was removed to the stage 6, and their place filled with chairs—the first time I ever knew this to be done. Booked: 15, Lilly Clay's Co.; 16, Sweatnam, Rice & Fagan; 17, Julia Anderson; 21, "Joan of Arc."

THEATRE BELKNAP.—Light operas were well rendered by Bennett & Moulton's Co., A, last week. The opening and closing night's attendance was big; other nights ranged from fair to good. Souvenirs were given away at the matinees. Joe J. Sullivan opens for three days 12; 19-21, Ben Maginley in "Inshavogue."

SCHUTTE'S GARDEN closed its season 10. Billy Williams, wife and child return to New York, where Billy makes preparations to join Gray & Stephens' Co.

THE PARLOR OPERA-HOUSE opens the season 19. R. G. Knowles is re-engaged as stage-manager.

WILLIMANTIC.—Frank L. Jones' "Si Perkins" Co. played to a good house Sept. 8. Julia Anderson in "A Wife's Secret" 10 to a good house. Billed: 17, Barry and Fay; 19, 20, Prince Benjman Co.....Frank Frost has returned home and reports his company doing well....J. H. Gray has just erected a new fifty-foot billboard on Valley street.....Geo. Osborn now holds the position of contracting-agent for the Hennessey Bros.' Minstrels.....Charles Bradley, stage-carpenter at the Opera-house, is on the sick-list.....Charles Wheeler, the clarionet player, now in the Opera-house orchestra, will go on the road next season.

WISCONSIN.—[See Page 421.]

OSHKOSH.—"A Home Run" and Prof. Herolde's sleight-of-hand at the Grand last week. "A Home Run" played to small audiences. The play is not good and the company fairly so. Prof. Herolde is performing to very good houses ...Hettie Bernard Chase in "Rags" at the Turner Opera-house last week had a full house.

MICHIGAN.—[See Page 421.]

GRAND RAPIDS.—At Powers' Opera-house, "Evangeline" opened Sept. 12 for two nights. Haverly's Minstrels 15 and the MacCollin Opera Co. 19-24. "Monte Cristo," interpreted by Alden Benedict, was given 9, 10, to light business.

REDMOND'S GRAND.—"Partners in Crime," Edwin Hanford leading, is the bill for 12-17. "Argonauts of '49" closed 10 to fair business, having three rainy nights to contend against. F. Mayo 19 and week. Manager Garwood expects to have the entrance and reception-room ready about 14.

WONDERLAND.—Bright, fresh and clean, Sackett & Wiggins' house opened for the season 12, with the Criterion Opera Co. Jennie Yeamans, 19-24.

SMITH'S OPERA-HOUSE.—Due 10 and week: The Lamonts, Mason and Baker and their comedy, "Unneighborly Neighbers," Crowley, Johnny Max, Rose Goodall, Cora Max, P. W. Raymond, W. E. Harvey, Susie Wilde, Florence Bascomb, Geo. Harris is now stage-manager.

NOTES.—Johnny Ray will probably be seen at Smith's before long.....The first performance of "Three Corners" will occur at Frankfort, Pa., 26, by the original company. Den Howe and Mabel Sterling left for your city 12 for rehearsals..... Sherman Wilson has succeeded C. W. Lamphere as assistant-treasurer of Powers'.....'Caste," to be given for Marie Wilson's benefit, is in active rehearsal .....Manager Garwood has earned the sincere good-will of the press by his uniform courtesy and efforts to make it pleasant for us while there.

JACKSON.—The Criterion Opera Co. played to packed houses week of Sept. 5 in "The Mascot," "Mikado," "Iolanthe," "Chimes of Normandy," "Bohemian Girl" and "Fra Diavolo."

KALAMAZOO.—At the Academy of Music Sept. 7, Rentfrow's Jolly Pathfinders were greeted by a deservingly light audience. The formal opening of the Academy, 15, by Rice's "Evangeline," promises to fill the house.

NEBRASKA.—[See Page 421.]

LINCOLN.—At Funke's, John Thompson's "Around the World" had fair business Sept. 3. Coming: McIntyre & Heath's Minstrels 10, Marie Prescott 12-14, Milton Nobles 15-17, "A Plum Pudding" 27. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Florence 29.....At the Peoples, Zanzig the magician 5, 6, had only a fair attendance. Coming: Warren Noble's Dramatic Co. 12 and week.....The city is filling up rapidly with visitors to the Nebraska State Fair, which is held here from 9 to 16.....Doris & Colvin's car, No. 1, in charge of E. H. Madigan, was here 5. The show comes 20, and Forepaugh 27.

FREMONT.—Zanzic the French magician came Sept. 7, 8, to fair business. Due 12, Halliday & Co.'s Colored Minstrels.

DAKOTA.

SIOUX FALLS.—The Andrews Opera Co. opened their regular season with a three nights' engagement at the Grand Sept. 5. Evening of 4, during a heavy thunder-storm, Geo. Andrews was knocked senseless by a streak of lightning. He lay in this condition for about an hour, but finally came out O. K. The next company booked is A. R. Wilber's Union-square Co., 28, 29.

FARGO.—Gilmore's "Devil's Auction" Co. played to "S. R. O." Sept. 7 and 8.

KANSAS.—[See Page 421.]

TOPEKA.—At Crawford's the regular season opened Sept. 5 with the Fowler & Warmington Co. in "Skipped." The crowd was so large that it was necessary for the police to keep the people from breaking in the doors. The Broderick Opera Co. come 9, 10, to be followed 12 by Evans and Hoey in "A Parlor Match."..... The Grand will open 19, 20, with Anderson's Minstrels (home talent). "Two Cronies" come 21, for four nights.

FORT SCOTT.—At Patterson's Opera house, Haywood's Minstrels come Sept. 14, 15.....Ed. L. Brennan, manager of Boston "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Co., left for St. Louis, Mo., where he will fit out his company. He will have two bands and one drum corps, and will open in Eastern Illinois.

MINNESOTA.—[See Page 420.]

MINNEAPOLIS.—At the Grand Opera-house "The Devil's Auction" is on for the present week, to be followed by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Florence. Kate Castleton did a rousing business Sept. 5-10, and gave a fine show.

PENCE OPERA-HOUSE was very well patronized last week, when 'Fanchon" scored a big success. This week: "Caste" and "The Danichefs."

BROWN'S THEATRE COMIQUE—Howard's "Tale of Enchantment" Co. succeeds the variety show, which had a tremendous business last week, and, with the State Fair in progress midway between here and St. Paul, and our own Exposition, the prospects for another such week are good.

THE MINNEAPOLIS EXPOSITION opened its second season Aug. 30, and has had an average of about 12,000 people in attendance every day since. The space has been utilized to better advantage than last year, and the exhibits are more compact, which makes sight-seeing pleasanter, except in the Art Gallery, which appears to be the place of the greatest attraction, and is crowded to such an extent each afternoon and evening as to make art study uncomfortable and laborious. Mensler's Cadet Band of Milwaukee, composed of youths ranging in age from nine to eighteen years, furnished the music up to 7, when Liberati's Seventy-first Regiment Band of New York arrived and received an ovation from the delighted audience. Nicollet avenue is gorgeously illuminated every night, from Seventh street to the City Hall; on each side of the avenue temporary gas-fixtures extend for six blocks, one line of pipe with white globes forming a base, from which at the distance of 11 feet rise gas trees which have 15 gas burners, and these, when lighted, form a triangular bank of light, with variegated colors of red, white and blue. At the street intersections an arch rises from each corner, meeting in the centre, from which another tree having different colored globes rises, while lines of light extending from one arch to the other gives the whole arch the appearance of a pyramid of light surmounted by a pinnacle. The effect is gorgeous in the extreme.

NOTES.—Marie Wellesley, the leading lady of the People's Theatre, was to have arrived 13..... John Sloman, formerly of the Kansas City Museum, and now connected with the Nashville Museum, has charge of the ticket-office at Sackett & Wiggins'.....Sackett & Wiggins and Holland & McMahon folded their tents and closed their outdoor shows, the big license being more than they could stand.

WORLD OF AMUSEMENT.

— Geo. H. Jessop and Brander Matthews have finished a new play entitled "Lynch Law," and are negotiating with a city manager for its production. It deals with a phase of California life hitherto unknown to the stage, and has no star part.

— Helene Hastreiter will take the place of Zela Trebelli at the Worcester, Mass., musical festival the latter part of this month. Mme. Trebelli has been compelled to retire on account of illness. Mme. Hastreiter sailed from London, Eng., Sept. 10.

— Col. McCaull continues to encourage American cleverness in the comic-opera line. On Sept. 10 he contracted with Sydney Rosenfeld for the exclusive right for three years to produce "The Lady or the Tiger," a work based on F. R. Stockton's sketch under that title. It will open Col. McCaull's next season at Wallack's, this city.

— The will of Mrs. J. R. Vincent gives $1,000 to each of six nephews, $200 to J. A. Smith (the old actor) and $3,000 to various charitable institutions in Boston.

— Business-manager H. W. Semon of H. R. Jacobs' Hoboken, N. J., Theatre, recently presented Mrs. Semon (Julia Melrose) with a silver service.

— Juliette Corden has been secured by the new Boston Ideal Opera Co.

— Conreid's "Gipsy Baron" Co. begins its season Sept. 16 at Scranton, Pa., and thence proceeds West to San Francisco, Cal.

— Ed. Anderson is not billed with Keane's "Mrs. Partington" Co., as was announced by our Milwaukee, Wis., correspondent last week, but is playing the Jew in Sanford's "Partners in Crime" Co. His wife (Lettie Colton) is leading-lady.

— Manager P. D. Fisher and other members of the "Cold Day" Co. seem to have fallen against the winning ways of Ed. Morris, who was engaged as property-man. After checking the baggage for the opening date he disappeared. It was, indeed, a cold day when Mr. Morris left.

— James Allen joined the Trelegan-Seward Co. Sept. 10 at Renova, Pa.

— The McGibeny Family open their season Sept. 15 at Madison, Wis.

— The full roster of the Sawtelle Comedy Co. is: J. Al. Sawtelle, Elma Cornell, Genevieve F. McCormick, Louise A. Bethune, Rose Stark, Messrs. Al. Harris, Presley B. French, Arthur Gray, John H. Nicholson, L. E. Browneil, Chas. F. Kaufmann and Albert Barnes. Only two days intervene between the closing of the Summer season and the opening of their Fall and Winter tour at Cobleskill, N. Y., Sept. 12.

— The roster of the J. S. Murphy Co. includes J. S. Murphy, Harry Sinclair (stage-manager), Harold Courtney, E. Wiedman, Dyke Brooks, R. Burroughs, Kirk Armstrong, S. Fisher, Virginia Marlowe, Ada Shattuck, Susie Dean and Chas. Daniels (advance).

— Bella Moore is lying very ill at the Murdock Hotel, Logansport, Ind., with catarrhal pneumonia. Her mother is attending her.

— C. A. Mendum is back from Europe, to prepare for Charles Arnold's tour in 'Hans the Boatman."

— W. J. Chappelle will hereafter make his home in Boston, Mass.

— Carrie H. Reynolds is engaged for Minnie Palmer's Co.

— H. J. Connor will remain in Germany all this season.

— Frank Larden is with Atkinson & Cook's Co.

— Jessie Warner, who not long since left the variety for the legitimate stage, has been compelled to cancel her engagements, owing to the serious illness of her aged mother.

— Elizabeth Marie Hughes, known to the stage as Lizzie Hughes, and a clever little artist, has canceled her engagement with "The Arabian Nights" Co., on a count of her marriage to Frank Price Clark of New Haven, Ct., Sept. 7, in this city. The bridegroom is reputed to be wealthy.

— E. H. Page and J. L. Clark are additions to the Chanfrau "Kit" Co. Manager Anderson has re-engaged the colored song-and-dance man "Monk."

— Bolossy Kiraify explains that he undertook no financial responsibility in "The Seige of Troy," recently elapsed. He says he worked for a salary and a percentage of the profits. George B. Okey, of Columbus, O., is said by Mr. Kiraify to be the real backer of the scheme.

— The roster of the "Si Plunkard" Co. is: J. C. Lewis (manager), Dollie Lewis, Frankie Hanson, Sam Young, S. K. Condit, Ed. Haskins, T. E. Claxton, Henry Hall, Frank Poulish, George Chase, E. E. Daniels, Stanley Kirkpatrick and Tom Cody. H. A. Norton is the agent and business-manager.

— The season of Rufus Scott's "Thrown Upon the World" Co. opens Sept. 19, and the people engaged are Frank L. Union, Harry Woodcock, Walter Gifford, Z. G. Hood, Louis H. Bullock, Mark Edwards, T. C. Edwin, L. L. Hatch, Frank Gibson, Jeannette Morris, Marie Henley, Edna Roberts, Marion Rogers and Rufus Scott. R. H. Brock is the manager, H. C. Woodson treasurer, and William Hart, advance agent.

— The company in support of Annie Pixley includes Annie Barclay, May Thompson, Annie Douglass, Daniel Gilfether, Charles Barringer, Donald Harold, Frederick Sackett, W. F. Mackintosh and Charles E. Fisher. Smiley Walker is the business-manager, and M. C. Daly stage-manager.

— Larry W. Hoffman has been engaged as advance-agent for Louise Litta—the position formerly held by P. A. Paulscraft.

— Carrie Walton, of Bartram & Burbidge's "A Night Off" Co., is very ill at Lowell, Mass. Her recovery is reported as doubtful.

— Manager Alden Benedict is greatly enthused over the success of the opening of his "Monte Cristo" Co. at Grand Rapids, Mich. With favorable circumstances he expects to fare better both artistically and financially than he did last season.

— The roster of A. P. Lewis' "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Co.: is Chas. E. Darling (agent), E. W. Stockwell, C. T. Brockway, Regina Sullivan, Rose Brockway, Iry Sumers, Frank Garvine, Florence Brockway, E. S. Sullivan, Walter Ross, W. E. Crandall, Frank Gordon, Edw. Gordon, Chas. Freeman, Alex. Williams, Isaac Gasaway and Peter Gasaway.

— Allen and Delmain are additions to the "Our Railroad Men" Co.

— Nina Bertini made her first appearance with the McCaull Opera Co. Sept. 12 at Wallack's Theatre, this city, taking the role of Karin in "Bellman," and succeeding Josephine Knapp, who has gone on a vacation.

— E. Stanhope Percy has been engaged as one of the members of Mrs. Langtry's Co.

— Harriet Jay opened the Novelty Theatre, London, Eng., Sept. 12 with the first performance on any stage of "The Blue Bells of Scotland," by Robert Buchanan. Howard Paul is Miss Jay's acting-manager and Michael Connolly leader of orchestra. Miss Fortescue, Henry Kemble, Marie Stuart and Miss Jay appeared in the play.

— Mary Anderson narrowly escaped an accident on the Strand while returning from the London, Eng., Lyceum on the evening of Sept. 10. The coachman fell off the box while intoxicated, but the horse was caught before damage was done.

— Libbie Grabowsky will be the leading-lady in support of Sara von Lear this season.

— Hal. Reid, whose stage name is Harry Rutledge, and who has been playing leading-juvenile roles at the West St. Paul (Minn.) Opera-house, was arrested last week at Alliance, O., (where he had gone to join a company), for an alleged felonious assault on Maude Comston, a young lady who recently entered the profession, and a member of the West St. Paul Opera-house stock company. Reid will be held to await the result of Miss Comston's injuries. She is reported to be very low.

— "One of the Bravest" will go out this season in revised and reconstructed shape. Two new characters have been added. The additional members of the company are: William Cronin (not T. J. Cronin, as appears in another column), Thomas O'Brien, H. F. Clarence, Charles Clark, Marion Percy, Little Violet, Harry Doel Parker, business-manager, and Charles White, agent.

— J. W. Taylor, superintendent of auxiliaries at the Boston, Mass., Theatre, was presented Sept. 10 with a handsome floral tribute, the gift of the people working under him.

— A dispatch to one of the New York dailies hints that Abbey & Schoeffel will give up their lease of the Park Theatre, Boston, Mass., after this season, and that Lotta, owner of the house, will put her brothers in control of it.

— The Maggie Harold Comedy Co. closed a three weeks' engagement at Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 10. Miss Harold received numerous presents at her benefit 10, as did Don, Robert Harold and William Davidge Jr. Their regular season opens at Carlisle, Pa., Sept. 26.

— Rosa France has been engaged for "A Hole in the Ground." She joins Sept. 19.

— The roster of Aiden Benedict's "Monte Cristo" Co. is: Aiden Benedict, J. K. Vernon, W. S. O'Brien, R. W. James, Sam. Coleman, W. Simonds, Sarah Farley, Florence Arlure, Maud Stewart and Geo. C. Denton (stage-manager).

VARIETY AND MINSTREL.

FRAZER AND ALLEN were at last accounts in London, Eng., doing well. Kennedy and Allen were also there.

GUS HILL AND MLLE. ALBERTA are playing a special engagement in Montreal, Can., this week.

MARINELLI arrived from Europe Sept. 10, after an uncomfortable voyage. He opened 12 with his company at Baltimore, Md.

MAI RICHFIELD submitted to a successful surgical operation last week.

ERNEST AND MASTER HUNOLD will sail for England Sept. 14.

THE ROSTER of F. L. Spanogle & Co.'s Minstrels includes Thos. Daviss Hall, Smith and Barry, W. F. Gibson, Herald Quartet, Ben Woods, Clu and Warner, Will L. Adams, Ace Levoy, Thomas and Cody, Geo. Fink, A. G. Rowe (advance) and others.

IMRO FOX has been engaged for H. M. Williams' Specialty Co.

CARL HERTZ, Sweeney and Ryland, the Brothers Fonti Boni and Mlle. D'Alton arrived from Europe Sept

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

No Replies by Mail or Telegraph.

ADDRESSES OR WHEREABOUTS NOT GIVEN. THOSE IN QUEST OF SUCH SHOULD WRITE THE PARTIES IN CARE OF THE CLIPPER POST-OFFICE.

AMUSEMENT ANSWERS.

MANAGER, San Francisco.—Your question has already been twice answered in this column.

Mrs. S. S., Brooklyn.—See head of this column. Write to Charles R. Gardiner, care of THE CLIPPER.

W. W. C., Huntingdon.—To answer your question would require a three or four days' search of our files. It is more than likely that the drama has been produced there. If you will state a definite or approximate date, we will make further inquiry.

MANAGER, Oneida.—We cannot undertake to air personal grievances. Your communication has been forwarded to Manager Miner, who will without doubt forward you your money—if he thinks you have a just complaint.

M. R., Bloomingburg.—Refer to head of this department.

A. L.—We have not the figures at hand. Write to The Era, London, Eng. That paper is nearer to the theatres in question.

F. F., St. Paul.—Our Baltimore correspondent, after numerous efforts to ascertain her whereabouts, has been compelled to abandon the search.

AMATEUR, South Bethlehem.—Send to S. French & Son, West Twenty-third street, this city, for a catalogue of plays of that description.

M. Y., Yorkshire, Eng.—We have seen the ventriloquist you refer to within the past year. In accordance with your wish, your letter has been forwarded to Tony Pastor.

LEX, Saratoga Springs.—Consult the route of "The Two Johns" Co. in this issue, and write to J. C. Stewart, who, better than any other man, is qualified to answer your question, and no doubt he will be glad to do it.

J. M. H.—That theatre books and plays first-class combinations, and in that respect could be justly considered a first-class house. It is not first class in the sense of fashionable patronage, if that is what you mean.

R. H.—Dec. 25, 1871, Booth's Theatre: "Julius Cæsar," with Edwin Booth as Brutus, Lawrence Barrett as Cassius, F. C. Bangs as Antony, D. W. Waller as Julius Cæsar and Bella Pateman as Portia.

C. F. M.—We know of none. Apply to any large music-store.

READER, Charleston.—It was located on Broadway, between Spring and Prince streets, and was burned March 3, 1868.

PROF. S. A. K., Burlington.—You have the privilege of designating THE CLIPPER office as your permanent address. See our advertised letter-list for further instructions.

G. W., Jamestown.—See head of this column.

LAURA.—That song was not sung in the play when we heard it But it might have been interpolated later. Better write to Denman Thompson himself, care of THE CLIPPER.

E. K.—1. That is his right name. 2. Paterson, N. J. 3. The album was sent Aug. 2 to Cohasset, Mass.—his Summer residence.

W. T. H., Chattanooga.—1. No answer by mail. 2. See our Route-list.

ANXIOUS READER, Mobile.—1. We cannot undertake to vouch for his responsibility. 2. See head of this column.

W. E. & C., Charleston.—See head of this column. The rule is imperative.

P. B. F., Cooperstown.—A line to Harding, the music-publisher (Bowery, this city), stating your desire, will result in a prompt filling of your need.

A. F. C., Frankfort.—We do not furnish whereabouts, nor do we accept pay for any information volunteered in this column. This rule applies as distinctly to a provincial chief-of-police as to any civilian-inquirer.

R. L., Brooklyn.—A card will bring your want to the attention of managers.

ADMIRER.—We believe she is married. Write to her and ascertain for yourself. We cannot undertake to forward correspondence in cases such as yours.

J. W. C.—1. See head of this column. 2. Not to our knowledge.

G. C., La Fayette.—1. We have not the time to look through our files. 2. Copyrighting is the usual process. 3. Worth from $100 to $1,000, according to its cleverness. 4. Our judgment is passed only when plays are produced. We cannot undertake to criticise manuscripts of that character. 5. $36.

B. B. C., Newark.—We will write to Bobby Newcomb and ascertain.

A. J. W.—Send a letter to Mr. Montague, care of THE CLIPPER. That company has, we believe, disbanded.

JACOBS, Chicago.—H. C. Miner and J. B. Jeffery publish guides of the nature you refer to.

BASEBALL, CRICKET, ETC.

CONSTANT READER.—We believe that Ryan of the Chicago Club hails from Clinton, Mass.

J. E., Alden.—The average is certainly below twelve runs for each club to a game. You will have to do the necessary figuring, as we cannot spare the time. No answers by mail.

C. E. H., Middletown.—Neither wins. The bet is a draw on account of another pitcher having been put in at the start instead of the one agreed upon by A and B.

W. H. K., Buffalo.—1. A threat was made to place him on the blacklist, but it was not carried into effect. 2. Yes.

K. D. B., Hermon.—The base-runner is entitled to the base if he is prevented from making it by the intentional obstruction of a fielder. The rules, however, make a marked distinction between hindrance of an adversary in fielding a batted or thrown ball.

D. W. W., Denison.—1. The St. Louis Browns and Chicagos have played a series of games this season. 2. The games could not be for "the world's championship," although announced as such. 3. The winners of the championship of the American Association and National League will play a series of games at the end of this season.

C. A. B., Cooper's Plains.—1. If any part of his rear foot is on the line of the "box," that suffices to make his standing "on the line" legal. But if the foot is clearly outside the line, a balk would be the result. 2. It is a foul ball if it hits the person of the batsman after striking the plate or the ground on the rebound. 3. No, the ball must be hit while the batsman steps outside the line of his position to constitute a "foul strike."

F. W. G., Elmira.—Bagley caught for the New York Club in a few games in the latter part of the season of 1886.

J. E. D., Kingston.—The umpire was wrong, the proper batsman being at liberty to take his position after the error was discovered. The batsman striking out of order would have been put out if he had made a fair hit.

C. E. D., Kirwin.—1. It is a fair ball. 2. It is a foul.

G. D. H., Bloomington.—A loses, the Decaturs having failed to beat Bloomingtons as he bet they would.

T. R. S., Bloomington.—B wins.

S., Bloomington.—B wins. See answer to G. D. H., Bloomington.

D. B. M., Carlisle.—A point means the slightest possible increase or decrease that can be made each day in the percentage of games won by each club.

CARDS.

W. H. H., Neligh.—You should make your statement more definite. As it is, it would not be fair to decide in favor of either party.

A SUBSCRIBER, Kansas City.—The age never transfers at poker. Unless specially agreed, B's straddle did not alter the age.

J. E. S., Philadelphia.—THE CLIPPER has never published its card decisions or any set of rules.

STOCK YARDS.—A wins. He could use his own judgment as to the display of his hand.

F. H., Carson City.—According to your statement, A should have disposed of the tens before "taking up" the queens.

OAKS, Philadelphia.—We cannot recommend any. Formulate your own rules.

P. J. S., Wilkesbarre.—A, according to THE CLIPPER'S rulings for the past twenty years, was not compelled to show his hand. The $50 bet of A's is a draw. There may and may not be a rule published in some one of the numerous books of games that gives such a decision; but of these we do not take cognizance.

A. L. P., Escanaba.—1. B had no claim on the money after placing it in the pot. 2. In this, as in the first case, B seems to seek an unfair advantage of A by slow playing and manouvering. All of his (B's) "blind" bets should have been made before A asked for his help.

CONSTANT READER, Dallas.—By multiplying together 13, 12, 11, 10 and 9, and dividing by the product of 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, you will have the chances of one suit, and multiplying this by 4 you will have the total number of possible chances.

J. B., Providence.—Again we repeat that "high always takes precedence," or, in other words, to suit your case, the man who played high won the game, no matter at what stage he played it.

RING.

SUBSCRIBER.—Jake Kilrain is the champion pugilist of America.

J. H., Wilmington.—Mike Cleary is a resident of Louisville, Ky.

J. H. G., Leadville.—1. There was no champion belt dependent on the issue of the fight between J. L. Sullivan and Paddy Ryan. 2. There was not.

J. T. McH., Wilmington.—We are not aware that they did, and do not think it at all likely that they met in such an encounter.

ZYLONITE.—Write to him personally in care of this office. There may be one or two glove contests which may have been overlooked.

BILLIARDS, POOL, ETC.

SPORT, Belleville.—When the cue-ball strikes an object-ball in such a manner as to make the object-ball strike the cushion and rebound towards or in a pocket called by the player.

DICE, DOMINOES, ETC.

W. M.—1. A wins. 2. You should have given the particulars of an actual throw as in the first instance. 3. See head of this column.

ATHLETIC.

READER, Netherwood.—William Lang ran one mile, down hill, in 4m. 2s., at Newmarket, Eng.

J. B., Philadelphia.—H. Hutchens is alleged to have made the best time for fifty yards, but there is some doubt as to its correctness. H. M. Johnson has a record of 5¼s.

AQUATIC.

J. AND H., Meriden.—1. The Thistle represents the Royal Clyde Yacht Club. 2. Presuming that the meaning of J.'s bet was that A would take second money or better, he wins.

TURF.

A. H. J., Rock Island.—Maud S's fastest mile trotting time is 2:08¾.

CONSTANT READER.—A is mistaken. It was Dew Drop, a three-year-old, for whom the Dwyers paid $29,000 at the Lorillard sale, Feb. 27, 1886. She died Sept. 11 following. Lizzie Krepps, originally called Glenella, was a two-year-old last year, owned by S. S. Brown.

MISCELLANEOUS.

G. H. Chicago.—Your card would cost sixty cents.

E. U., Philadelphia.—1. We do not possess his address. 2. No answers by mail.

A. AND B., AND W. AND C., Pawnee.—Your question was referred to several scientific students. They disagreed. In this plight you had better call it a draw.

W. L. E., Atlanta.—Write to Ed. James, whose address is in our business columns.

E. McK., Winnipeg.—The stakes should be drawn, because of interference and consequent inability to decide the match in the pit.

LELEX, Nashville.—A wins, fairly, squarely and beyond cavil. B must pay.

S. B. H., Frankford.—A. wins. He specified the party in general (not any one candidate), and the majority was in his favor.

C. S., Emporium.—Write to Gen. John Newton, Commissioner of Public Works, this city. One of his duties is to answer queries like yours.

W. E. G., Newark.—Question was answered last week. We did not preserve your letter.

B. D. L., Macon.—Send to Ed. James, as per address in advertisement, for a copy of the "Manuae of Sporting Rules;" price, 25 cents.

SUBSCRIBER.—A man of Irish parentage born in this city is eligible to join the St. Patrick's Alliance Society.

T. J. M., St. Paul.—You can obtain a book on dogs giving you the desired information by sending $1 to Ed. James, whose advertisement see.

J. B. R., Atlanta.—Undoubtedly C was betting on a surety; but from the complications and misunderstanding arising from the different views of the game, it would be only fair to all parties concerned to declare the bet off.

W. A. B., Montpelier, Vt.—1. Yes, after passing a wicket. 2. Send to the New York Cricket Club on Madison avenue and Nintieth street, this city.

ATHLETIC.

THE PRINTERS' OUTING.

Great preparations are making to ensure the success of the annual picnic and games of the Printers' Benevolent Association, to be held at the Empire City Colosseum (Jones' Wood) on Saturday, Sept. 24. The events and prizes are as follow, the games being all handicaps: 100yds. run—First prize, silver-plated pitcher and tray, presented by THE NEW YORK CLIPPER; second, silver-plated sugar bowl and spoons, C. B. Cottrell & Sons. Half-mile run—First, gold-headed cane, R. Hoe & Co.; second, silver-plated pitcher, F. H. Levy. 220yds. run, Union printers only—gold medal, The Evening Sun, and silver vase, C. The games will be under the rules of the N. A. A. A. A. and will commence at 3 P. M. Every lady on entering the grounds will be given a ticket with a number on it. The first number drawn will take the first prize, the second number second prize, and so on. Whoever holds a lucky ticket will draw one of nine valuable and useful presents.

MANHATTAN ATHLETIC CLUB.

English Champions First Appear Here—Page's Great Jump.

The presence of three English athletes served to attract to the grounds of this club between two and three thousand people on Saturday, Sept. 10, when everything was altogether favorable for a fine afternoon's sport, the weather being charming and the path in magnificent condition. The members of the English contingent who competed in the games were C. G. Wood, sprinter, who appeared in the 100yds., 220yds. and quarter-mile events, being on scratch in each and failing to get better than third in any one; Thomas Ray, pole-vaulter, who conceded odds to all his competitors and gained second prize in his specialty; and C. W. V. Clarke, the English champion walker, who started in the three-mile event and fell out after going two-thirds of the journey. Considering that the Englishmen had been but a few days in this country, they were entitled to more lenient treatment than they received at the hands of the official handicapper. They will all doubtless show to much better advantage when they strip for the championship meeting on Saturday next. W. B. Page, high-jumper, was the hero of the only particularly noteworthy performance during the afternoon, he supplementing his unequaled performance across the seas by getting over the crossbar at a height of 6ft. 2½in., thus surpassing the record made by him before sailing for Europe. Ed. Lange of the Manhattans suffered disqualification for violation of the rules in the mile-walk. A return follows:

One-hundred-yards run—First heat: C. G. Wood, Blackheath Harriers, England, scratch, first, in 10¾s.; G. W. Hoskins, L. A. W., 8½yds., second, close up; Emil P. Scheel, Nassau A. C., 0; H. G. Steele, Manhattan A. C., 0. Second heat: Fred Westing, Manhattan A. C., 4yds., first, in 10⅛s.; H. S. Young Jr., M. A. C., 5½yds., second; S. E. Corbett, Nassau A. C., 6yds., third; J. F. Condon, American A. C., 5½yds., 0. Third heat: A. L. Doremus, College of the City of New York, 9yds., first, in 10⅝s.; G. C. Dunlevy, Brooklyn A. A., 6½yds., second; W. A. Roberts, Brooklyn A. A., 8½yds., third. Fourth heat: W. C. White, Manhattan A. C., 3yds., first, in 10¾s.; Wm. C. Adams, M. A. C., 4yds., second; A. C. Ashley, 5½yds., M. A. C., third; C. H. Matthews, Olympic A. C., 8½yds., fourth. Fifth heat: F. H. Babcock, New York Athletic Club, 5½yds., first, in 10⅝s.; H. M. Banks Jr., M. A. C., 6yds., second. Final heat: Westing first, in 10⅝s.; Babcock second, White third, Wood fourth and Doremus last, the race being closely contested.

Half-mile run—Herbert L. Mitchell, Manhattan A. C., 9yds., first, in 1m. 59⅘s.; D. J. Tompkins, M. A. C., 30yds., second; L. R. Sharp, Spartan Harriers, 21yds., 0; C. E. Smith, Spartan Harriers, 35yds., 0; A. Pevereily, M. A. C., 36yds., 0; J. K. Schell, University of Pa., 42yds., 0; T. A. Collett, Pastime A. C., 48yds., 0; Charles Glet, M. A. C., 42yds., 0; W. CLOSING OF ENTRIES.

THE WATKINS REGATTA.

The professional scullers' regatta at Watkins, N. Y., was held Sept. 6, 7. The trial heats were rowed on the first day in rough water over a course of three miles, with a turn, and in the presence of a rather small assemblage. The first heat was contested by Albert Hamm and Jas. A. Ten Eyck, who caught the water together and darted forward. Hamm took the lead at the start, pulling thirty-two strokes a minute for the first quarter. Then he settled down to twenty-eight. He started on the homeward stretch one minute ahead and finished first. Time, 20m. 8s. Ten Eyck was an eighth of a mile behind. The second heat was rowed by Bubear, McLafferty and Courtney. Bubear caught the water first, and darted for the turn with a stroke of thirty-eight a minute. Courtney kept well up until he encountered the backlashes from the old dock, and his boat took water. He closed upon Bubear at the three-quarter buoy, but was unable to hold his position. After rounding the first turn Bubear's stroke fell to thirty-two. McLafferty, after rowing partly over the course, rested until the oarsmen returned, when he pulled to the finish with them. Bubear won in 21m. 3s. Courtney finished a length behind. The third trial heat was between Teemer, Lee and Geary. It was dark when they took their places, and they could be seen only one-quarter of the way over the course. Teemer took the lead and maintained it, winning in 20m. 58s., Lee second. The final heat was rowed at dusk on the 7th. The race was a fine one. Teemer and Hamm passed and repassed each other throughout the three miles, while Bubear, sure of third money, and hoping for nothing better, kept them as close company as he could On the last quarter the oarsmen were in a procession, Teemer leading to the finish. Time, 21m.

BOATING ON JAMAICA BAY.

The Long Island Amateur Rowing Association held their second annual regatta on Jamaica Bay Sept 3. Being a holiday, there was a large crowd of spectators, and all that was needed to make the affair completely successful was better water, a stiff breeze from the South making it very choppy. The course was about a mile and a half, straightaway, and the officials: Referee, Wm. Clark Jr.; judges, E. Welsh and John Kepple. Result: Single gigs—Won by J. O'Regan of the Varuna Boat Club, J. Hettrick of the Nautilus second. Time, 9m. 20s. Four-oared junior shells—Won by the Seawanhaka crew, beating the Varuna. Time, 8m. 14s. Four-oared senior shells, Eagle Cup—Won by the Seawanhaka crew, beating the Pioneer. Time, 8m. 12⅘s. Four-oared gigs—Won by the Nautilus crew, Varuna second. Time, 8m. 46⅘s. Junior singles—won by J. J. Focarty, Seawanhaka; T. Richards, Jr., Pioneer, second. Time, 11m. 49⅘s Senior singles—won by A. Rave, Seawanahaka; T. Heild, Pioneer, second. Time, 8m. 2⅘s.

THE CORINTHIAN YACHT CLUB held their second championship regatta of the present season off Marblehead, Mass., on Sept. 5. There were twenty-two starters, divided into classes, and the weather was perfect, with an abundance of wind to send the yachtsmen on their way rejoicing. For the first and second classes the course was ten miles, and for the third class five miles. Result, with corrected time: First class—Centreboards, Atalanta, 1h. 24m. 51s.; keels, Trudette, 1h. 26m. 9s. Second class—Centreboards, Sprite, 1h. 33m. 18s.; keels, Kitty, 1h. 25m. 48s. Third class—Centreboards, Mabel, 48m. 59s.; keels, Vera, 54m. 17s.

ROWING ON THE HARLEM.—The Friendship Boat Club of this city held their annual regatta on the Harlem River Sept. 7, the winners of the different events being as follow: Single-scull gigs—W. Fricke. Pair-oared gigs—W. Oliver, B. F. Meyer, W. J. King (coxswain). Eight-oared gig race—Bachelors beat Benedicts. There was to have been a four-oared shell race, but it was abandoned on account of the roughness of the water. The friends of the members were present in goodly numbers, and a very pleasant time was had by all.

REGATTA IN MINNESOTA.—The Duluth (Minn.) Boat Club had their Fall races on the afternoon of Aug. 5 on Duluth Bay. There was quite a large crowd looking on. The first race was for single-scull shells between W. B. Silvey and H. W. Pearson, one mile and a half, and was won by Silvey by less than a length, in 10m. 15s. The next race was for double-scull working boats. Silvey and Mahon, Burke and McLean, Porter and Perry, the Pearson brothers and Meyers and Means started. The distance was one mile, with a turn, and Meyers and partner won the cup, in 8m. After the sport on the water was over there was dancing at the club-house, and all had a good time.

TORONTO ROWING CLUB.—The final heat in the four-oared race between crews belonging to this Canadian club was rowed on Toronto Bay on the afternoon of Sept. 5. The water was rough, yet good time was made, and the race was of an interesting character from start to finish, resulting as follows: R. Douglass (bow), J. S. Fitzgerald, J. M. Briggs, E. A. Thompson (stroke), first, in 4m. 45s.; G. W. Goulnlock (bow), T. D. Bailey, W. J. Allan, F. H. Thompson (stroke), second.

THE final regatta for the championship cups offered by the Great Head Yacht Club was sailed off the club-house on Sept. 5. The boats of the first two classes sailed over a course of six miles, and those of the remaining class covered a distance of five miles. Result: First class—Nellie D. first, in 1h. 5m. 15s., corrected time; Etta May second, 1h. 8m. 13s. Second class—Em-Eli-Eye first, 56m. 33s; Victor second, 59m. 50s. Third class—Mischief first, 44m. 36s.; Thera second, 47m. 40s.

THE Beverly Yacht Club sailed another regatta off Monument Beach, Mass., Sept. 5. The weather conditions were entirely favorable and the race was very successful. The course for the boats of the first and second classes was eleven miles, and for the third class over six miles. Result, with corrected time: First class—Mattie, 1h. 49m. 36s. Second class—Mist, 1h. 48m. 59s. Third class—Petrel, 1h. 41m. 31s.

COURTNEY VS. BUBEAR.—A match has been made between Charles E. Courtney of Union Springs, N. Y., and George Bubear of London, Eng., who are to row three miles with a turn, for $1,000 a side, on the Susquehanna River at Owego, N. Y., on Sept. 28. Should Courtney fail to win this race on his merits it will surely prove that he has entirely lost the speed he of old possessed.

THE Corinthian Yacht Club held a very unsatisfactory race off Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 10, the wind being so light that the contest was tedious and utterly devoid of interest. There were a score of starters and the result was the success of the Atalanta, Dove, Sprite, Witch, Banshee and Vera in their respective classes.

SEVENTEEN YACHTS started in a regatta held at Quebec, Can., Sept. 5, and the affair proved an unqualified success. Cash prizes were contended for, two in each class, and the result was as follows: First class—Ospray first, Bernadet second. Second-class—Montannais first, Iolanthe second. The distance sailed was thirty-six miles.

JAMES W. KENNEDY of Quincy, Ill., defeated Hugh Dorsay of Worcester, Mass., in a match race, for $50 a side, over the three-mile course on Lake Quinsigamond Sept. 5. Kennedy gave his opponent five seconds start, and finished in 21m. 5s., Dorsey's time being 21m. 25s.

THE Cohasset Yacht Club held an open regatta on Sept. 5, with the following result: Sloops—Hermes first, Annie second. Catboats—Heron first, Picannini second. Spritsails—Hanover finished first, but was protested; Champion second.

THOMAS MAGEE, aged sixty-five years, and Michael Murtagh, aged sixty, are matched to row two miles in flat-bottomed skiffs, for fifty dollars, at Commercial Point, Boston, Mass., Sept. 23.

THE Analostan Boat Club of Washington, D. C., will hold their regular Fall regatta Sept. 24, four days before the Potomac regatta.

THE schooner Crusader, Vice-Commodore Haight, has gone out of commission.

FROM THE HUB.

Gossip Gleaned by the Clipper's Boston Baseball Reporter.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 13.—Every one in town expected that the Phillies would just waltz around the Hub nine Sept. 5, but they didn't. The Bostons batted Buffinton and Ferguson out of the box to the tune of nine clean hits in one inning, in a way that Tiernan of the New York nine and Galvin know something about. They've all been there. The Philadelphias had big money to console themselves with, for it was Labor-day—for the first time a holiday in Massachusetts. Again was the drawing power of baseball in Boston (not of the Boston Club) exemplified, for, despite the poor work of the home nine in recent games, and the disciplining certain members received, the grounds contained one of the largest crowds that ever passed into them. The seats and stands were packed and the outfield filled clear around. The attendance was fully 14,000. Our little Madden is a very lucky fellow. He has won five out of the last six games in which he has pitched, and has been hitting the ball in great shape. In the last four games he has made eleven safe hits, and his actual batting average is about .300. Conway, too, has been pitching finely and batting strongly. This young pitcher has not had a fair show this year, and the manager has acted towards him as if he lacked confidence in him. Conway, I am sure, would make a valuable man on the nine for his batting, and, should he fail in the box, would make a brilliant fielder.....Powers' umpiring surely cost us the last Detroit game, and, if Mr. Sullivan of unlamented memory was right when he quoted Nick Young as saying to give the closest and most doubtful decisions to the home club, Mr. Powers certainly acted contrary to orders. I notice that a certain writer of prominence does not like to see the umpires criticised. Yet I am sure that, if competent umpires of the Doescher and Daniels stamp were secured to officiate in the National League, no newspaper writer of standing would dare to criticise. Powers is not liked here because he is not consid

WORLD OF AMUSEMENT.

— Nell Burgess' tour will be managed by G. W. Lederer, who says that in each city the horse used in "Vim" will be given away to the holder of a certain number, distributed among others from the box-office.

— The vacancy caused in Brooks & Thompson's "Arabian Nights" Co. by the sudden return to England of F. G. Wyatt, has been filled by J. H. Ryley.

— Wm. Morris has been released from Geo. S. Knight's Co. and has signed as leading-man with Modjeska.

— Sol Smith Russell will play "Bewitched" the rest of the season, so well does he like it. W. W. Taylor has left Mr. Russell and rejoined H. T. Chanfrau's Co.

— Herbert Ayling has signed with John Sleeper Clarke's Co.

— Vic. Reynolds has been engaged for one of the Casino's "Erminie" companies.

— Percy Shelly has signed with "Shadows of a Great City."

— Lizzie Ingles goes with "On the Rio Grande."

— Although engaged with Jarrett & Getz's "In the Snow" Co., Harry Courtaine did not open with them in Baltimore, Md., last week. Chas. H. Bradshaw took his place. Mr. Courtaine was indisposed.

— Frank Hawley goes in advance of Arthur A Lacy's "Still Alarm" Co.

— John E. Kellerd will play leading business with Lillian Olcott's "Theodora" Co.

— J. C. Lewis of the "Si Plunkard" Co. was presented with a valuable dog at New Milford, Ct., by Dr. King of that place. Prof. F. J. Hall has signed with the company as leader of orchestra, and Prof. S. E. Conditt as leader of band.

— Rusco & Swift's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Co. opened their season Aug. 29, at Lekonsha, Mich. The roster is: W. A. Rusco, business-manager; W. L. Swift, Jay Huntington, Dot Huntington, Little Venus, Phil Phillips, Clara Phillips, Sally Patton, George C. Paxton, Ed. C. Davis, J. E. Rhineart, George Jones, Prof. Tobe Lewis, Frank Grimes, Harry Randolph, Chas. Scott, Gus Hall and Charles Wells. They report good business.

— After a three months' tour abroad, Katie Putnam arrived at her home in Benton Harbor, Mich., Aug. 31. Her season opens Oct. 3.

— The roster of Lillian Kennedy's Co. is: Lillian Kennedy, Alfred Kelcy, W. H. Danvers, E. Leonard Rowe, Harry J. Smith, W. C. Richardson, Norfolk Kirby, Nellie Heywood, Lillie Stanley, May Jennings, with C. Hassenforder, manager; Herbert Hughes, advance-agent, and Prof. W. C. Gourley musical-director.

— R. E. Stevens has been engaged as business-manager for "A Grass Widow." The role of Connor Powers, originally acted by Chas. T. Vincent, the author, as an Irishman, will hereafter be played as a Chinaman by C. T. Parsloe. Susie Russell, Owen Westford and Julius Kahn have recently joined the company.

— T. H. Winnett informs us that he and Nellie Boyd are the only ones who have any right to produce "Passion's Slave" in the United States or Canada.

— Mrs. Louis Calvert (Rose Roberts) and Mr. Calvert come from England to play twenty-six weeks here in Mrs. Langtry's Co. Mr. Calvert was recently in Henry Irving's Co.

— D. L. Dorsbach has joined Chas. Guinness' Co. to play the Groceryman. Chas. Whitney's band and orchestra will be with Mr. Guinness this season.

— The roster of the Sallie Hinton Co. is: Eugene Eberle, Harry T. Lee, H. Clare, Ed. Morris, F. N. Quig, Nellie Granville and Mrs. Eugene Eberle. They open at Salem, N. J., Sept. 23.

— Yo Mode Banks' Co. are: C. S. Abbe, Harry Knight John B. Gardner, Joseph T. Greene, George F. Grant and Misses Mary Stetson and Ruby Marion.

THE LATE MRS. JAMES R. VINCENT.

In last week's CLIPPER brief allusion was made to the sudden death, in Boston, Mass., Sept. 4, of Mrs. James R. Vincent, an actress of long experience and of exceptional industry. Mrs. Vincent's maiden name was Mary Ann Farley, and she was born in Portsmouth, Eng., Sept. 18, 1818. Her father, who was in the British navy, died when she was two years of age, and two years later her mother died and left her and her brother in the care of her grandmother and an aunt. She made her first appearance on the stage in a little theatre at Cowes, in the Isle of Wight, playing a small part in "The Review, or the Wags of Windsor." Her second part was Volante in "The Honeymoon," and her first success was made in Ambroise Guinet's "Lucy Fairlove," the illness of the manager's wife giving her an opportunity to play leading business, which she did to the satisfaction of her manager and the audiences. In August, 1835, she married James R. Vincent, a clever comedian in his day. For five months after her marriage she retired, but soon again assisted her husband in a tour of the provinces, appearing in soubrette parts. The story of the trials and struggles of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent on their tour through England, Ireland and Scotland, and their narrow escape from being in the long list of persons who sunk in the ill-fated Pegasus, is already well enough known. Oct. 21, 1846, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent sailed from Liverpool, under contract to Manager Pelby of the old National Theatre in Boston. After a tempestuous voyage they arrived in Boston Nov. 7, and 11 appeared in the farce "Popping the Question," which was played after "The Wizard of the Wave." The second piece in which the Vincents appeared at the National was "Lend Me Five Shillings," on the Monday following their first appearance. On the following Thursday they appeared in "How Do You Manage?" Then, in rapid succession, "Poor Pillicody," "Box and Cox" and a number of English farces and old English comedies. The stock company at the old National was one of the best ever known in Boston, and included, in addition to the ones already mentioned, such people as William Wheatley, Helen Mathews and her father, Mrs. Anderson, a daughter of the manager, and Miss Mestayer, who was a niece of the manager's wife; also Louise Gann, who was afterward leading-lady at the Boston Theatre. Mrs. Pelby, the manager's wife, was the leading-lady, and Thomas Barry was stage-manager. The Vincents remained at the National several seasons, and during that time played with such stars as Charlotte Cushman, James Murdoch, James Anderson, Dan Marble, James Wallack and Mrs. Hunt (afterward Mrs. John Drew). In May, 1850, Mr. Pelby died, and thirteen days later, June 11, Mr. Vincent died. Both he and his wife were re-engaged for the next season at the time of his death. After Mr. Pelby's death Mrs. Pelby succeeded to the management of the theatre, and in turn the next season was succeeded by Thomas Barry, who remained until the house was burned, in May, 1852. The last performance in the National was "The School for Scandal," in which Mrs. Sinclair and George Vandenhoff were starring, and an afterpiece, "The Rough Diamond." Catherine Sinclair was the the Lady Teazle, George Vandenhoff the Charles Surface, J. J. Prior the Joseph Surface, George Spear the Sir Peter, and Mrs. Vincent the Lady Sneerwell. The theatre was burned on Tuesday, and the next day the company moved down to the old Federal-street Theatre and finished the week there, ending with a matinee performance Saturday. On the same evening Mrs. Vincent played at an extra performance given by the Aurora Dramatic Club, a popular amateur organization at that time. The piece was called "Richael Earl," and was the last performance ever given in the theatre, as the following Monday the owners of the building commenced tearing it down, and singularly enough, it happened that Mrs. Vincent assisted in ending the career of two once famous old-time theatres in one week. Prior to the burning of the National Theatre, Mrs. Vincent had signed a contract to become a member of the Boston Museum Co. the next season. Her last season at the National was not at an end for several weeks when the theatre burned, and the next day she went up to see the manager of the Museum to ascertain if there was any possibility of her joining the company then. While the manager explained he would be pleased to add her at once to the company, still, as there was no room for her, and the salary-list of the theatre was already sufficiently large, he did not see how he could oblige her. Mrs. Vincent assured him she felt he was right, and, with mutual expressions of good will, they separated. The afternoon of that day Mrs. Vincent was walking along Tremont row, when she met Mr. Warren, who stopped and congratulated her upon her forthcoming appearance the next Monday at the Museum. He was the first to tell her the good news, which, upon her arrival at her home, was confirmed by a communication from the Museum manager. The manner in which Mrs. Vincent became a member of the Museum stock was as uncommon as the manner in which the arrangements for her first appearance there were conducted. Among her great friends and admirers were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leonard (the former afterwards rebuilt the National Theatre), who were also intimate friends of Moses Kimball, then manager of the Museum. Through Mr. Leonard, Mrs. Vincent was finally engaged at the Museum, although Mr. Kimball expressed a strong admiration for Mrs. Vincent's abilities, and had once said to Mr. Vincent, the second or third season after they arrived in America, that whenever they thought of leaving Mr. Pelby to let him (Mr. Kimball) know. The Monday following the burning of the National and the closing of the Federal-street Theatre Mrs. Vincent made her first appearance on the boards of the theatre with which her name was for so many years closely associated. Her first character was that of Mrs. Pontifex in "Naval Engagements." From her first appearance until the present she had been a member of the Museum stock, with the exception of one season, 1861-2, when, having had some misunderstanding with E. F. Keach, the manager, she left the Museum and joined the stock company at the Howard Athenæum, and opened her season there as Sarah Blunt in "Poor Pillicody." During her connection with the Howard she played mostly chambermaids and pert juvenile roles. It was during the War, however, that she played these, and the times were very much depressed—so much so, in fact, that the company disbanded before the season was half over, although it included such actors and actresses as Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Davenport, Lawrence Barrett, Charles Barron, W. J. Lemoyne, W. H. Smith, Lucille Western, Fannie and Blanche Davenport, and Isabelle Freeman. From the Howard Mrs. Vincent went to Baltimore and joined Lucille Western's newly organized company, where she was the original Corney Carlyle with her in "East Lynne." From Baltimore she went to Washington to play Widow Melnotte with Edwin Forrest in "The Lady of Lyons." From Washington she returned to Boston, and played several weeks at the Boston Theatre in "The Cataract of the Ganges," appearing as Yubia. After that she fulfilled a brief engagement with the Wallack-Davenport Co., and at the long-to-be-remembered benefit of Thomas Barry she made one of a remarkable cast that played in "The Poor Gentleman." The other characters were personated by E. L. Davenport, James W. Wallack, John Gilbert, Thomas Barry, John Owens, William Wheatley, Charles Barron, Mrs. Barrow, Julia Irving and Sophia Gimber. This benefit ended the season. The next season she rejoined the Museum stock. She had played all kinds of parts, and such widely varied ones as Portia in "Shylock," Nancy Sykes in "Oliver Twist," Moll Pitcher, Mrs. Malaprop in "The Rivals," Amelia in "Othello," Queen Gertrude in "Hamlet," Queen Elizabeth in "Richard III," Helen McGregor in "Rob Roy," Mrs. Sternhold in "Still Waters Run Deep," Widow Racket in "Belle's Stratagem," and Helen in "The Hunchback." All the above roles are exactly opposite to the parts she had been identified with of late years. An inspection of the admirably arranged records of the Boston Museum gives the best evidence of the industry and success attending upon the engagement of Mrs. Vincent as a member of the companies appearing there during the last thirty-four years. It will be seen that in this period she had appeared in no less than 444 different characters. The funeral occurred at St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church, where for a long time the actress had attended service. On either side of the central aisle twelve pews were reserved for the Boston Museum Co. Every department of the Museum was closed on account of the funeral. William Warren was unable to attend. Among those present were Manager R. M. Field, Charles Barron, Annie Clark, Mme. Ponisi, Stage-manager Seymour, George Wilson, James Nolan, Miss Evesson, Frazer Coulter, Alfred Hudson, Edgar L. Davenport, Moses Kimball, H. A. McGlenen of the Boston Theatre, the Rev. Dr. E. E. Hale, W. Wainwright, Frederick White, J. B. Richardson, Dr. Frank Harris, Dr. E. L. Park, Miss Staples, Mrs. Leonard, Miss Cohen, Mary Parker and N. D. Jones. In accordance with the dead actress' expressed wishes, all floral offerings received at the house were sent at once to the hospitals. The services were conducted by the Rev. Reuben Kidner, rector of St. Andrew's Church, together with the assistant rector of St. Paul's. The coffin was borne out by the pallbearers, R. M. Field, W. Wainwright, Frederick White and J. B. Richardson. The burial was at Mount Auburn, where rest the remains of many notable personages.

"FROM SIRE TO SON."

This drama, by Milton Nobles, was produced for the first time on any stage at the Grand Opera-house, St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 27, by Mr. Nobles' company. The title is drawn from the father, who, in a moment of passion, lost his voice, but regained it several months later, when worked up to a terrible frenzy. The argument of the play is that of two gamblers who come in a stage-coach at the opening. One of them is Alfred Armitage, who, under the assumed name of John Oakley, has been a fortunate and desperate gambler. Sixteen years before he had married the mistress of another gambler, whom he had struck dead for striking his mistress Mabel. A child is the result of this union, and when she is five years of age they place her in a convent at San Francisco. Ten years are supposed to have rolled by when the first scene of the play opens. Alfred Armitage has decided to stop gambling and become a respectable member of society. He makes this statement to his partner, Jonas Hardy (Henry D. Clifton), who is very angry at the thought of losing his chum and retires to the express-office to study over the matter. There he recognizes an old escaped criminal, named Peter Grimes (Louis F. Howard), and borrows his pistol. Grimes disappears and Alfred Armitage (Milton Nobles) and his wife (Mrs. Nobles) come on. Alfred tells of his resolve to lead a new life relates having seen their daughter at the convent gate, states that he has $10,000 in the Pacific Bank at San Francisco, and that the certificate of deposit is enclosed in the little satchel his wife carries. As they rise to go into the Zuba Hotel, Hardy, who has heard the conversation, shoots Mabel through the heart and breaks Alfr d's arm. Alfred fires two shots in the direction of the express-office, but receives another shot that breaks his other arm, and he falls senseless. Hardy escapes in the confusion, and comes back through the hotel to learn the result of his shots. Supposing Alfred dead, he replies, in answer to the Doctor's (Thos. M. Hunter) inquiry: "I am Alfred Armitage, and that is my wife Mabel whom John Oakley has shot." By this time Alfred has recovered sufficiently to rise, but is unable to articulate, having lost his voice. He falls senseless, and is taken into the hotel and Mabel buried. This closes the first act. The second act opens one month later in the main room of the Zuba Hotel. Hardy has been to San Francisco, drawn the special deposit from the bank, taken Mabel (Mrs. Nobles) from the convent, and left for Europe. Alfred is just recovering the use of his arms, but not his voice. In the meantime Dr. Marmaduke Mandrake (Theo. M Hunter) has proposed to the widow, and his son Hamilton (Maurice B. Pike) to the daughter, these worthy ladies having inherited $ 60,000 each from the rise in mining stock. The courtship makes the comedy of the play. Peter Grimes, whose pistol has done the fatal shooting, is anxious to have Alfred Armitage lynched as a murderer, so as to shield himself, and brings in a gang for that purpose. After some parleying with Dr. Marmaduke, who makes a hit by his forcible words, they rush for the sick man's room, and find him prepared to defend himself with his pistol and with the assistance of the Sheriff and young Hamilton, the plot is foiled. The Sheriff (Chas. Canfield) orders the would-be lynchers to throw up their hands, and, in getting in the "guns," the pistol is found in Grimes' hands from which the fatal shots were fired. To save himself he confesses the truth, and the crime is fixed on Hardy. When Armitage hears that Hardy has gone away with his money and daughter he attempts to speak. The shock brings back his voice. He calls upon the Sheriff, the Doctor and all to help him, and the curtain falls. Three months later the scene opens at Venice, where Hardy, with Mabel, who supposes herself his daughter, is stopping. He leaves her for a moment, and she picks up a mandolin and sings "Home, Sweet Home." Armitage enters the room, recognizes his daughte , and has just made himself known, when Hardy returns and has him arrested as a crazy man. The Sheriff comes to his aid, but has mislaid his papers so Alfred goes to prison. Two days later the scene opens in the tower of an old castle on the Rhine. Hardy gives Mabel to understand that he is not her father, but her lover. She flies to the tower balcony to jump out and is met by her father, who has climbed up on the vines. The company is good, and all deserve praise for clever work.

MINNIE HAUK.

The Hollandish Musical Festival Described by the Famous Prima-donna.

THE CLIPPER is permitted to make use of the following from a private letter written to an American friend by Mme. Minnie Hauk.

CHATEAU BINNINGEN, Switzerland, Aug. 26.

* * * The Hollandish Music Festival is over, and I have returned to my dear little place in the mountains to rest from the fatigues of the memorable last five days. I would never have believed the Dutch could be so enthusiastic as they showed themselves to be during the Festival. It was one continuous ovation from our arrival, when we were received by the president and the Festival committee, until our departure, when they loaded me again with flowers. Immediately after my arrival at the hotel I had a rehearsal with the two musical-directors of the Festival. When leaving the music-room I found the street literally packed with people, and I asked why this was and what was up. They only smiled and said I would see. And I did see. I was taken up to the Royal rooms on the first floor, and from the windows there I saw a large torchlight procession with a band of music coming, and then the Nymegen Saengerbund took position in front of the hotel, and amid thundering hurrahs the band played "Hoch soll sie leben," and the people gave me such a reception as I have never seen before. It was "digne d'une Reine," and the reception was à la Reine.

After the Saengers had sung several songs a deputation of the society came up to the room, and the president of the festival made a Hollandish speech welcoming me to the old city. The gentlemen were all introduced, and the music, singers, torchlighters and the good populace hurrahed away, thousands of people dancing and singing in the streets. It was a lucky thought of mine to take quarters at Bergendtel Hotel, outside the city limits, for I would not have closed my eyes the whole night. The next morning I was driven to the Festgebouw, an immense hall, which was ringing with music and speech-making, as one after the other of the singing societies from Holland, Belgium and Germany arrived. The society and band from the famous Gurzenich of Cologne, with De Wullner, the successor of Ferdinand Von Hiller, as conductor, had just arrived, but the band rehearsing at once. I rehearsed the prayer and chorus from "Tannhauser," "The Vision of Elsa," and the never-ending duet from "Lohengrin." After three hours' singing I hurried back to my hotel, and had the rest of the day for myself. The concert the following day was as successful as it possibly could be. Thunders of applause and hurrahs followed all my select ons and when, at the conclusion, I sang the nation's hymn in Hollandish, the entire vast audience rose to their feet and cheered and waved hats and handkerchiefs, repeating one portion of the hymn. The second festival day it rained, but the rain had not the power to cool the ardor of the audience. The hall was crammed with thousands, including nearly two thousand strangers from the neighboring cities—more than they ever had before. It was a triumphant evening. I had to repeat the echo song from "Mignon;" but the duet from "Lohengrin" was the climax. I thought they would never end with applause and hurrahs!

The next morning I was hardly through with my breakfast on the terrace of my hotel, beautifully situated in a pine forest, about half an hour's drive from the city, when I heard a body of voices sing. The Saengerbund from Utrecht had marched out there and brought me a serenade. I hurried off to my rooms to dress, and when they had finished I went on the balcony, which was just above where they stood, and applauded them. Then their president called up: "Noch ein wenig warten, Frau. Baronin!" and the gentlemen sung: "Sie lebe hoch, sie lebe hoch." We then drove to town, where we dined with the president, and afterwards went to the orchestral concert. They had hardly perceived us when they began to play the Habanera from "Carmen," which was not on the programme, and evidently intended as another attention to me. Later in the evening we went to the fireworks, where a tribune was erected for our party to sit, and then the sport began. After many beautiful devices in the fireworks line, a grand piece began to shoot and to bubble, and when all was ablaze what should it be but "Minnie Hauk," in large letters, surrounded by a wreath of fireworks. The band struck up "Hoch soll sie leben," and the people applauded.

So, to finish up well, I was burnt up to the letter, but I hope not as "She" was in the well-known novel, to a shrivel and a bit of old parchment, but as "Phœnix," to arise from the ashes, better and improved in many ways. I hope to remain in this burned state for about six weeks, when my work begins again in Berlin.

FOREIGN.

SOPHIE LINGWOOD'S second tour in "Dorothy" began last week at Liverpool, Eng.

HENRY DUNDAS has secured from Geo. R. Sims the sole provincial rights of "Jack in the Box." Fannie Leslie relinquishes her rights to the play on account of her London engagements.

THE MENUS-PLAISIRS THEATRE, Paris, Fr., has revived "La Petite Marie," and is doing very well.

MLLE. WEBER'S debut at the Theatre Francaise, Paris, Fr., appears to have been a mild failure.

THE Paris, Fr., Odeon Theatre has reopened for the season with a new iron curtain and improved exits.

THE seventeenth Hollandish Music Festival, at Amsterdam, Sept. 3, was attended by six thousand singers, including societies from Germany and Belgium. Minnie Hauk was among the soloists. She will visit America again in the Fall, and will sing here.

SIG. VIANESI'S salary as conductor of the Paris, Fr., Opera-house, is only $2,400 per year.

"DON JUAN" has passed its 500th performance at the Imperial Opera-house, Berlin, Ger.

COL. MAPLESON has a soprano, now called Niquito, who, he says was "born in Virginia, in the southern part of North America," and was "stolen by the Indians of Niagara" in her youth. Her voice is not so interesting as her history.

CARLOTTA PATTI has been offered by the Czar of Russia the professorship of vocal music in the Imperial Conservatoire at St. Petersburg. She will, however, remain in Paris, having built a private theatre at her house, 16 Rue Peirre Charon. Private representation of operas by members of Parisian society will be given there.

CHARLES A. MENDUM has signed to manage Chas. Arnold in an American tour of "Hans, the Boatman."

MARY ANDERSON denies that she is to become a subject of Victoria. Her season in London opened Sept. 10, at the Lyceum, with "A Winter's Tale."

ANNIE HOOPER is reported to have been offered a place in Mrs. J. B. Potter's support. She is in Paris, Fr., with her parents.

"OTELLO" will not be sung in Madrid, the expert dispatched to witness the performance of the opera in Venice having expressed an unfavorable opinion as to the expediency of its production in the Spanish capital.

"FETTERED FREEDOM" is the title of a new piece by Lestocq and Stephenson. Helen Forsyth is to play the heroine.

"THE ROYAL MAIL," by James Willing Jr. and John Douglass (the authors of "A Dark Secret)," was produced Aug. 18 at the Standard Theatre, London, Eng. Two real water-scenes are introduced. The American rights have been placed in the hands of John H. Cobbe for negotiation.

"TWIXTH KITH AND KIN," the new four-act drama by J. J. Blood, was successfully produced Aug. 25 at the Prince of Wales' Theatre, Birmingham, Eng.

"A SECRET FOR" seems to have fared better in England than the same piece (first under the name of "Her Second Love" and later as "Passing Shadows") did here. It was done Aug. 25 for the first time in England at the Brighton Theatre.

"FARINELLI," a three-act opera by Willbrand Wulff and Charles Cassman (music by Zumpe), was sung Aug. 13 for the first time on any stage at the Friedrich-Wilhelmstadtischer Theatre, Berlin, Ger. The music made a pronounced hit.

"AROUND THE WORLD IN EIGHTY DAYS" is to be done in Berlin, Ger., at the Novelty Theatre, for its opening attraction. It will be its first production at the German capital, if not in Germany.

THE burning of the Theatre Royal, Exeter, Eng., Sept. 5, was briefly mentioned last week. "The Romany Rye" was being presented, and fully eight hundred people were in the auditorium. The fire originated on the stage, and when first discovered a drop-scene was lowered to prevent a draught; but one of the actors opened a door to make his escape, causing the flames to burst through the drop and ignite the gallery. The audience immediately became panic-stricken, and many were knocked down and trampled upon. Most of those in the pit escaped, but those in the gallery were less fortunate. A ticket-box at the entrance is supposed to have been knocked over, causing many to stumble, while in the middle of the stairway a sharp angle caused another jam, from which few escaped alive. The audience was composed mostly of working people, and in some cases whole families were burned alive. The performers were rescued by means of ladders placed against the dressing-room wall. Although the firemen responded quickly, the place burned like tinder and could not be got under control till morning of 6. About one hundred and thirty lives were lost. The theatre was built after the latest designs, and was considered one of the handsomest in the kingdom. The public funeral of the victims took place 7. There were fifty-two caskets of identified bodies, and fourteen containing the remains of the unknown. The streets through which the funeral passed were lined with people.

MRS. CHARLES RICH, lessee of the Bradford, Eng., Theatre Royal, died Aug. 23 in Bradford. She succeeded her husband in the management of the house in 1880.

ARTHUR HENRY MAVINS, a light-opera singer, died at Leicester, Eng., Aug. 24, aged twenty-eight. He had until recently been on tour with Violet Melnotte's "Erminie" Co.

MARY SHELLEY'S "Frankenstein," a thrilling imaginative work, is to be dramatized and will be put on at the London Gaiety about Christmas time, in burlesque form.

"GAIN," a sensational melodrama, was done for the first time, Aug. 20, at the Elephant and Castle, London, Eng.

SARAH BERNHARDT has been on a pilgrimage to Lourdes, Fr., and Parisians are speculating as to whether she is about to retire to a nunnery.

CIRCUS AND SIDESHOW.

THE BARNUM SHOW is corresponding with Western railroads for next season with a view of the Pacific Slope "in the mind's eye" of the management.

FOREPAUGH is already making preparations for a tour of the Eastern country in 1888. He says: "I tell you right out now, I'll give the New England people the best show they ever saw." W. C. Crum is now doing the advance-work for the Forepaugh Show. Charley Day "grew weary" at Bloomington, Ill., and retired for the season.

SELLS BROS. and Doris & Colvin have both contracted for Texas. It looks a little like war.

DORIS & COLVIN'S CIRCUS NOTES.—John B. Doris has returned from his trip to St. Louis.....T. B. McIntyre intends visiting London next December. .....Will Dutton went out hunting a few Sundays ago with Capt. Stubbs and Tom McIntyre, the result of which was two pair of woodcocks and a hard day's work.....Len Snow, the clown, celebrated his birthday in royal style recently..... Clarence Farrell, the treasurer, has received a number of applications for positions in case he secures the Philadelphia Theatre.....Mlle. Alma has accomplished a great act on the swinging bar and loops.....Mlle. Lottie's skill on the slack-wire is creating much enthusiasm. She also does the human-fly act.....Burt Ineson has left to accept an engagement with a dramatic company.....The sideshow is doing well under "Bill" Doris' able management. He is always on the alert for new freaks.....Ed." Albee, always commands attention in his announcements in the big tent..... "Harry" Hathaway is not slow about his work as judge of the race. His rulings are never questioned.....Our chief detective, M. S. Bodkins, has received a number of offers to take charge of the police department in Kansas towns...."Tom" Perry, press-agent, had to leave the show to join P. F. Baker in Pittsburg, Pa. Messrs. Doris & Colvin did all in their power to keep him, but Mr. Baker wired: "Very sorry. Must have some one to run my circus." Mr. Perry will be greatly missed.

IT IS announced that Capt. Renard, Chief of the Military Balloon Service at the camp of Chalons, has invented a mechanism for balloon steering and propelling. The balloon made by him two years ago could not make headway against a current of the velocity of more than five meters a second, that is to say, against a light wind. It is affirmed that with his invention the balloon will be able to resist a current of double the strength. If it is true it is a step forward which may render balloons really useful in times of war. Capt. Renard is so confident of the success of his new propelling mechanism that, in order to prevent the secret being discovered, he is having each piece of the machine made in a different establishment and in various parts of France. When they are all finished they will be sent to him, and he himself will put them together. It is said that the machine will be completed by about the end of next month, when the invention will be put to a test without delay.

RAISING A CHURCH DEBT.—Circus Agent to Deacon Jones)—Will you allow me to put some posters on the church fence? Deacon Jones (reflectively) —Well, I dunno as 'twould do any harm, but you would have to pay something for the privilege. The church is trying to get out of debt, and every little helps. Circus Agent—I'll give you a couple of tickets. Deacon Jones—All right, go ahead.

MILLER, STOWE & FREEMAN NOTES.—This show recently closed a four days' engagement at Worcester, Mass., during Fair-week, when the business was large.....On Sept. 1 Gov. Robinson was visited by two old friends, the Judge and the Major, who spent a couple of days with him talking over "the days of '49." .....Evening of 1, before the doors opened, all the attaches assembled in the big canvas and presented each of the proprietors with a elegant gold-headed cane in remembrance of their kindly treatment of the boys and as a token of the esteem with which Messrs. M., S. & F. are held. The gentlemen responded with neat speeches. Harry Rand was then presented with a cane as a memento. He departs for Europe 15. A great time was had after the performance....."Doc" Freeman left for New York 2 to ship some elephants, a band wagon and some new cars, which will make the train fourteen cars long. Before returning Mr. Freeman will visit the advance to see how things are going.....Everybody is well, and business is reported excellent.

NOTES FROM THE MENCHES & BARDEN'S SHOW.—Mrs. J. R. Adams rejoined her husband the other day.....All are well and figuring for Winter work, as our new manager, Jas. R. Adams, has decided to close the season Sept. 17, at Canton, O., where the show started from. The reason for closing so early is mostly due to the high charges of the railroads, we not having our own cars. All salaries have been paid thus far. The season when closed will have lasted twenty-one weeks—not a bad season for a new show.....It is not decided what the proprietors will do as regards next season, but there is talk of a big railroad show with their own cars.....Nubar Hassan and George Whitby are doing a novel brother-act which should be a big hit this Winter in theatres.....Prince Molo, contortionist, is still making a hit.....Business is good, and everybody is happy.

W. C. CLARK'S SHOW is now traveling through Western Texas. I. W. Dempsey is a favorite. Frank Londregan, wire-walker, joined Aug. 22. Business is reported good.

NOTES FROM SELLS BROS.' SHOW.—Business in Indianapolis has been immense. At Columbus there were more people in the town than they have had at one time in ten years. This statement was made by a number of their most responsible citizens..... Chas. Garwood, treasurer, left last week to assume the management of the Opera-house, Grand Rapids, Mich., which is now controlled by Brady & Garwood. Johnny Murray resumed the position of treasurer, one that he has held for a number of years.....The Gilfort Brothers are quite restless since we have got out of the fishing territory..... We have had no rain for six weeks.....Drew and Woodford joined the Show at Indianapolis, and are getting along in their usual manner.

A REPORT comes from Minneapolis, Minn., to the effect that Holland & McMahon's Circus opened there against Sackett & Wiggins' Tent Show to immense business. It was the intention of the Holland & McMahon party to remain three weeks, but the fight between the two rival shows became so hot that the city authorities ordered both to close.

THE MOORE BROS. who were arrested in Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 20, on a charge of defrauding their creditors, and released on bail, were discharged Sept. 6, for want of evidence.

NOTES FROM HOLLAND & MCMAHON'S.—Will Ashe, clown, contemplates a visit to his home.....Burt Slow, clown; Wm. Batcheller, leaper, and Wm. Orvelle joined Sept. 5.....Ed. Holland, who was injured at La Crosse, Wis., is improving, and expects to be on hand in a few days.....Chas. McMahon is sick with rheumatism.....Belle Celeste and Emma Miranda, aerial artists, joined Aug. 28. .....The business has been excellent. They go from Minneapolis, Minn., to St. Paul, where they remain two weeks; thence South.....The license at both Minneapolis and St. Paul has been $1,000 a day, but special terms can be made, as was done by this show, whereby they only paid $3,000 a week. This was circus wisdom.

Sullivan and Sheedy Separate.

There has been a misunderstanding between John L. Sullivan and Pat Sheedy, which has resulted in a separation, and, as matters look at present, each one will hereafter paddle his own canoe. As, judging by the record, the suave and shrewd Sheedy is better able to do this than the illustrious but erratic boxer, the breaking off of business relations between them will probably prove more financially injurious to Sullivan than to his late manager. The cause of the trouble between them is said to be a resumption by "Sully" of the habits of conviviality which wrought injury to his reputation and physique in the past, and his refusal to renew the pledge of total abstinence which, at Sheedy's solicitation, he took before they started "on the road" together. Occurring as it has just on the eve of their departure for Europe, this estrangement and consequent disarrangement of plans is to be regretted. Whether Sullivan will ever go to England cannot be foretold, although he says he will start shortly, securing the services of an English manager for his contemplated sparring tour. Whether he goes or not, it is to be hoped that, having had a sufficiently lengthy period of "relaxation" with some boon companions at the seashore, he will adhere to his expressed determination to "brace up and hold himself in check" again.

THE AUTUMN RACING SEASON opened brilliantly at the beautiful Sheepshead Bay course, and the Coney Island Jockey Club have good reason to feel elated over the success of the meeting so far as it has progressed. Fine weather has prevailed and enormous crowds have witnessed grand racing on a perfect track. Fast time has been the rule, and in one instance a sensational performance was accomplished, Kingston eclipsing the former seven-furlong record, with big weight up, and proving that high quality of which some doubts had been entertained.

AMATEUR ATHLETES will read with much interest the detailed report in another column of the recent four-mile race between Conneff and Carter, respectively champions of Ireland and America. The Emeralder must be a good one indeed to have so handily kept within easy distance of so good a runner as the New York Club man and then outpaced him at the finish of a race that taxed both speed and stamina.

HOW CONNEFF BEAT CARTER.

On Saturday evening, Aug. 20, the great four-miles match between E. C. Carter (long distance champion of England and America) and T. Conneff (long distance champion of Ireland), was brought to issue on the grounds of the Royal Dublin Society at Ball's Bridge, Dublin. The evening was very fine and extremely favorable to test the capabilities of both men, while an enormous gathering put in an appearance at Ball's Bridge. Such a vast amount of interest was aroused over the match that there must have been fully twenty thousand spectators present when the pair of champions toed the mark. A large number of ladies also attended, but the arrangements for access to the grounds were so extremely faulty that people climbed over the walls in all directions. Shortly before seven o'clock Conneff was the first to appear on the track, quickly followed by Carter, and as each champion appeared he was greeted with deafening cheers. John Purcell acted as starter, and the men were not kept waiting very long before they were dispatched on their journey. Carter at once went to the front, but at a seemingly slow pace. What a pity the lap at Ball's Bridge is not an even distance. After the first mile Carter improved the pace considerably, and brought along the Irishman at a "ripping" speed, but Conneff was equal to the task set him, and stuck to the heels of his opponent. Entering the last lap—Carter led by some five yards, and as the pair raced along the far stretch the excitement was intense, and rounding the far bend for home, as Conneff was seen to close with Carter, the enthusiasm of his admirers and backers knew no bounds. About one-hundred-and-forty yards from the finish Conneff came round from the outside, and, leaving his opponent when fairly in the line for home, won a magnificent race by twenty yards in the splendid time of 19m. 49⅘s., as returned by E. Drinkwater. E. J. Walsh returned the time as 19m. 44⅘s, as did also, we believe, W. Aherin. This record is only 10s. slower than the best on record, accomplished by W. G. George over the cinder track at Stamford-bridge, London. The cheering and waving of hats that greeted Conneff as he breasted the tape baffle description, and nothing like it was ever before witnessed in this country. Both men ran a great race, Conneff, judging by the time, surprising the expectations of his most sanguine supporters, while Carter never ran better in his life. Conneff pulled up comparatively fresh, and Carter, as in his recent match with Coad, finished as "fresh as a kitten;" but when the final tug-of-war came he was fairly beaten for speed by the best distance runner Ireland ever produced. The mile times were: One, 4m. 52s.; two, 9m. 44⅘s.; three, 14m. 56⅘s.—Irish Sportsman.

TRADE AND LABOR GAMES.

Thirty-five trades and labor-union organizations of Hudson County, N. J., celebrated Labor-day by holding a picnic and games at Caledonian Park. Over three thousand persons were present, and the games resulted as follow: 100yds run—Won by W. King, L. D. A. A., 5yds., in 10⅖s.; L. Gruber, S. A. A. C., 4-cond. Half-mile run—Won by John Logan, S. A. A. C., 33yds., 2m 30s.; P. Murphan, J. C. A. C., 25yds., second. One-mile walk—George Logan, S. A. A. C., 2m. start, first, 7m. 32s.; L. Fitzgerald, second. Three-legged race—Won by T. J. O'Day and W. Sullivan, Scottish American Athletic Club. One-mile run—Won by P. Dolan, S. A. A. C., 100yds., 4m. 43s.; T. J. O'Day, S. A. A. C., 60yds., second. Sack race—Won by P. Martin, Lorillard Boating and Athletic Association, scratch; T. J. O'Day, S. A. A. C., 30yds., second. The tug-of-war was won by the crew of the Castle Athletic Association, who defeated the Alpine Club's crew.

SPORTS AT THE SEASIDE.

The opening field-meeting of the Cape May (N. J.) Athletic Club, Sept. 3, was a pronounced success. Champions and ex-champions from New York and elsewhere took part in the events, and most excellent sport was enjoyed by a large crowd, to many of whom athletic contests were a novelty, especially at the seashore. The grand-stand was packed, the occupants including many fashionably-dressed ladies. The 100yds. race was won by W. C. White, with A. F. Copeland second, both of the Manhattan Athletic Club. Time, 10⅗s. F. L. Lambrecht won the shot-putting at 38ft. 11¾in., defeating W. J. M. Barry, New York Athletic Club, by half an inch. The mile and two-mile bicycle races were both won by L. J. Kolb, Manhattan Athletic Club, with C. B. Keen, University of Pennsylvania, second. Time, 3m. 39⅗s. J. T. Rinehart, New York Athletic Club, won the high jump at 5ft. 7¾in. J. E. Terry, Schuylkill Athletic Club, second. The New York Athletic Club was first and second in the half-mile run with C. M. Smith and A. Shroeder; J. K. Schell, Schuylkill Navy, third. Time, 2m. 9⅗s. The boys' 100yds. race was won by E. S. Ramsdell, Germantown, in 11⅗s. Three heats were required for the 220yds. race, and again W. C. White and A. F. Copeland won first and second for the Manhattan Club. Time, 23⅖s. W. J. M. Barry placed the hammer-throwing to the credit of the New York Club, with a record of 99ft. 5in.; F. L. Lambrecht, Manhattan Club, second, 99ft. The pole vault was won by G. B. Quin, 9ft. 6in., with three tieing at 9ft. 3in. for second place. In the hurdle race H. S. Young just won, with A. F. Copeland second, both of the Manhattan Club. Time, 16⅘s. P. D. Skillman, M. A. C., won the mile race in 4m. 46⅖s., G. Y. Gilbert second. A. A. Jordan, N. Y. A. C., won the running broad jump, 24ft. 2¼in.; A. F. Remsen second, 20ft. H. M. Banks won the 440yds. race in 54s.; G. J. Bradish second. The Schuylkill Navy Athletic Club had a walk-over in the tug-of-war, and to afford some amusement pulled against a scratch team, which they defeated. The swimming race for the one-mile ocean championship was won by A. Mefferts, Manhattan Athletic Club.

MANHATTAN ATHLETIC CLUB.

The third members' meeting during the present season on the track of the M. A. C., was held on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 7. They were favored with fine weather, but although it was an invitation meeting, with the added attraction of a sight of the newly-arrived English contingent, there was a rather light attendance, the patrons of athletic sports evidently preferring to wait for the regular meeting on Saturday. The events, which were all handicaps, resulted as follow:

One-hundred-yards run—Final heat: F. Westing, 1½yds. start, first, in 10¼s.; W. C. White, scratch, second, by half a yard. The last heat was run in the rain.

One-mile run—F. A. Merrick, 95yds., first, in 4m. 42⅘s.; P. D. Skillman, scratch, second, by forty yards.

Running high-jump—S. Schuyler, 12in. allowance, first, 6ft. 2in., including handicap; A. F. Copeland, 10in., second, 6ft. 11in.

Quarter-mile run—H. L. Mitchell, 9yds., first, in 50⅘s.; J. S. Appleby, 15yds., second.

Hurdle race, 120yds.—E. J. Vandervoort, 6yds., first, in 16s.; A. F. Copeland, 2yds., second. H. S. Young made an attempt to beat the American record at this game, but failed to do better than 16⅘s.

One-mile walk—E. D. Lange, scratch, first, in 7m. 8¼s.; F. A. Ware, 25s. start, second. Lange walked the half mile in 3m. 14⅘s.

ATHLETIC GAMES were held at Lake Walden, Concord, on Labor-day, Sept. 5, which attracted a great crowd of people and resulted as follow: Three standing-jumps—J. H. Fitzpatrick first, 38ft. 3in.; R. Brown second, 36ft. 10¾in. Running hop-step-and-jump—M. J. McCarty first, 44ft. 2in.; J. H. Fitzpatrick second, 43ft. 10in. Running broad-jump—Kelly Boston, first, 21ft.; M. J. McCarty second, 19ft. 11in. Standing broad-jump—J. H. Fitzpatrick first, 13ft.; M. J. McCarty second, 12ft. 9in.

THE 135yds. professional handicap at Lake Walden, Mass., Sept. 5, had thirty-six starters, and its decision was witnessed by several thousand people. There were nine trial heats, and the result of the final was as follows: J. Hamill, North Attleboro, 11½yds., first; M. Bowen, Lynn, 9½yds., second; M. Mee, Marlboro, 16yds., third.

AN ATHLETIC CLUB has been formed at Braddocks, Pa., with the following officers: Captain, John Dick; vice-captain, William Wood; corresponding secretary, Alexander Baxter; financial secretary, Frank Kendall; treasurer, Alvin Morris.

SOME sports were held at Waltham, Mass., on Labor-day, Sept. 5. J. McGahan won a hop-step-and-jump with 37ft. 9in.; E. Bergh second, 33ft. 9in. E. Bergh won the three standing-jumps with 31ft. 2in.; J. McGahan second, 28ft. 9in.

THE Cambridge and South Boston Clubs played a match at lacrosse at Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 5, the former team scoring five goals to their opponents' one.

A LACROSSE MATCH was played at Brantford, Can., Sept. 5, between the Brantfords and the Brants of Paris, the latter winning by a score of four goals to one.

THE trial of Daniel Lyons for the murder of the athlete Joe Quinn has been set down for Sept. 19.

STRAY TIPS.

.... Charles E. Jackson of Halifax, Fla., has a pet snake that catches rats. Jackson heard a racket in a cupboard, and, opening the door, found the snake had captured a rat and was trying to swallow it nose first. The rat was alive and strenuously protested against going into such a hole, using his feet to catch hold of the floor or other surroundings. The snake, wiser than the rat, raised him up a foot or two in the air, and in that position continued the swallowing process, dropping down to the floor to rest occasionally, until the rat was swallowed.

.... A half-grown chicken in Richmond, Mo., got into an altercation with a grass snake eighteen inches long. The chicken pecked away at the snake furiously for a few moments, and then, gathering the head of his snakeship in his mouth, essayed to swallow him whole. But the snake obstinately refused to go down. Finding he could not swallow the snake, which had tightly curled its tail around his bill, the chicken disgorged it, and pecking at it a few more times, he made a second and successful effort.

.... A thirteen-year-old son of the Rev. Dr. Huntington of Rawlins opened an old satchel in the doctor's study, when a snake about two and a half feet long crawled out and coiled up in the corner of the study. Albert, three years old, saw it, and was about to jump on it with his bare feet, when the older brother seized the little boy and threw him on a lounge; then, grasping a piece of board, dispatched the snake.

.... While in the act of hauling a small perch out of the water at Lapan Bay, a few days ago, W. N. Merritt of St. Albans, Vt., caught a pickerel, which had jumped for the perch and landed in the boat. The pickerel weighed eleven pounds.

.... Rabbits are reported to be eating out the ranchers in Steptoe Valley, White Pine County, Nevada. They swoop down on the growing crops at night and devour everything.

.... Spinal meningitis has made its appearance in the stables in this city, and in the majority of cases the disease, which is regarded by veterinary surgeons as infectious rather than contagious, has proven fatal.

.... The National Rod and Gun Club of Pittsburg, Pa., has reorganized by electing the following officers: President, T. A. Warren; vice-president, Benjamin Heibling; secretary, Harry Mosser; treasurer, L. Hoffman.

.... A shark nine feet long, and weighing nearly 300lb, was caught off Coney Island by a menhaden steamer recently, and attracted much attention at Fish Commissioner Blackford's stands in Fulton Market where it was for a time on exhibition, previously to being cut up into steaks.

THE TURF.

RACING AT NIAGARA FALLS.

There was nothing to give encouragement to the managers of the Niagara Falls Racing Association on the opening day of the Autumn meeting, Sept. 1, the attendance being very light, partly in consequence of threatening weather. The track was in tolerable condition. Result: Purse $250, selling allowances, seven furlongs.—Piedmont Stable's Elsie B., 5—99, Morrison, first, in 1:31; Miller, 5—107, Dunn, second, by a length; Rody Pringle, aged, 105, Coffey, third.....Purse $250, one mile.—J. V. Elliott's Pericles, 6—110, H. Lewis, first, in 1:45¾; Pink Cottage, aged, 115, Meehan, the favorite, second, by a length; Kensington, Moore, third, a length and a half behind..... Purse $200, for maidens, six furlongs.—Excelsior Stable's Carrie G., 2—84, Trainor, the favorite, first, in 1:17¾; Pagin, 4—115, Dunn, second, by three lengths; Ulida, 5—105, third, eight lengths away..... Purse $300, for three-year-olds and upward, a mile and a sixteenth—Excelsior Stable's Alaric, 3—105, Hogan, the favorite, first, in 1:51; Dousman, 4—106, Meehan, second, by six lengths; Barnum, aged, 132, Coffey, third, three lengths away..... Purse $200 over hurdles, mile and a quarter—Summit Stable's Justin Mack, 5—143, M. Maney, first, in 2:34¾; Mentmore, 5—153, D. Wilson, second, by a neck; Shamrock, aged, 150, Moore, third, lapping.

A few more people were present on the next day, and the weather was better, as was also the track, owing to rain during the previous evening; but the racing was no better. In consequence of Mentmore not making a better show than he did in the steeplechase, for which he was heavily backed by his owner, the judges, who did not believe the horse was ridden to win, suspended D. Wilson, the jockey, for the balance of the meeting. Result: Purse $250, selling allowances, seven furlongs—W. H. Timmons' Miller, 5—104, Dunn, the favorite, first, in 1:14¾; Luna Brown 4—100 Hogan, second, by six lengths; Harry Rose, 6—96, Barber, third, a half length behind .....Purse $200, for two-year-olds, five furlongs—Excelsior Stable's Carrie G., 112, Hogan, first, in 1:06; Maud McCullough, 102, Maltby, second, by two lengths; Lucky Seven, 114, Kenny, the favorite, third, ten lengths behind .....Purse $250, for three-year-olds, a mile and a sixteenth—W. Mulkey's Hornpipe, 111, Curtis, the favorite, first, in 1:53; Harry Kernell, 103, Hogan, second, by a length; Ontario, 97, H. Lewis, third, three lengths away.....Purse $400 a mile and a quarter—J. V. Elliott's Pericles, 6—115 H. Lewis, the favorite, first, in 2:13¾; War Sign, aged, 106, Curtis, second, by a length; Nettle, aged, 115, Hogan, third, six lengths away .....Purse $200, a handicap steeplechase, over the short course — Orkney Stable's Lucy Lightfoot, 6—145, Warder, first, in 3:35¾; Jim Carlisle, 6—138, Pope, second, by a length; Breyfogle, aged, 135, Green, third, by the same distance.

The outlook was more encouraging on Saturday, when the assemblage present was of good size. The track, too, was better, and the racing more enjoyable than on the previous days of the meeting. Result: Purse $250 for three-year-olds and upwards, allowances, six furlongs—C. Askey's Ben Thompson, aged, 112, Morrison, the favorite, first, in 1:17; Rody Pringle, aged, 101, Kelly, second, by a length; Glen Almond, 4—101, Coldier, third, two lengths behind.....Purse $400, handicap, mile heats—Excelsior Stable's Nettie, aged, Hogan and Morrison, first; Barnum, aged, 120, Caldwell, the favorite (won the first heat) second. Time 1:45 1:45½, 1:47¾.....Handicap sweepstakes, $20 each, $400 added, $100 to second, mile and seventy yards—Mason & Son's Dousman, 4—107, Meehan, the favorite, first, in 1:49; Lottery, 4—102, Hogan, second, by two lengths; Grey Cloud, 5—109, Dodd, third, by a neck only.....Handicap steeplechase sweepstakes, for qualified hunters, $25 each, short course—A. Smith's Chandos, 5—155, Louden, first, in 3:52; Toronto, aged, 150, Doane, second, by a neck.

More people were present 5 than at any other time. Result: Purse $250, selling allowances, one mile—G. L. Hayden's Rody Pringle, aged, 106, Kelly, first, in 1:45; Mallory R., 4—105, Walker, the favorite, second, by three lengths; Glendon, 5—107, Morrison, third, eight lengths off.....Purse $300, six furlongs—J. Mason & Son's Pink Cottage, aged, 115, first, in 1:16½; Col. Owens, 5—115, Sayers, the favorite, second by a head; Fagin, 4—101, Dunn, third, a length and a half behind ...Purse $300, owners' handicap, a mile and seventy yards—D. A. Honig's Grey Cloud, 5—79, Walker, first, in 1:47; Pericles, 6—95 H. Lewis, second, by five lengths; Barnum, aged, 97, Morrison, third, by a length and a half ...Purse $300, a mile and a quarter—Excelsior Stable's Alaric, 3—115, Morrison, the favorite, first, in 2:14; Top Sawyer, 6—1 5, Coldier, second, by ten lengths .....Purse $250, handicap steeplechase, over the short course—Wellington Stable's Valour, 4—140, Phair, first, in 3:20; Leroy, 6—140, Kenny, second, by two lengths; Belle vue, 3—125, Verplanck, third, beaten off

The admission of the fair sex to the track free of charge had the effect of increasing the attendance on Sept. 6, and the directors decided to continue to devote the ladies free admission during the remainder of the meeting. Result: Purse $250, for all ages, to carry 10lb above the scale, selling allowances, one mile—Excelsior Stable's Carrie G., 2—84, Trainor, the favorite, first, in 1:45; Glen Almond, 4—111, Meehan, second, by four lengths; Luna Brown, 4—109, Regan, third, two lengths behind..... Handicap sweepstakes, for qualified hunters, gentlemen riders, $10 each, a mile and seventy yards, on the flat—A. Smith's Chandos, 5—155, Loudan, first, in 2:28; Cyclone, aged, 160, the property of Mr. Lowell, by six lengths; Toronto, aged, 150, Doane, third, two lengths away ... Canadian purse, $300, of which $100 to second, for horses bred in the Province of Ontario a mile and a quarter—G. L. Hayden's Rody Pringle, aged, 120, Steeds, the favorite, first, in 2:18; Augusta, 5—114, and Harry Cooper, 3—98, Kelly, ran a dead heat for the place.....Purse $300, hurdle race, mile heats—Summit Stable's Justin Mack, 5—143, M. Meany, first; Valour, 4—145, Phair, second. The latter won the second heat, and after the race the judges ruled the horse and rider off the track, it being evident to them that the horse was not ridden to win in the final heat.

A sad accident happened on the following day, Aurelian and Lucy Lightfoot falling in the steeplechase, and the latter rolling over her jockey, Joseph Warder, injuring him so badly that he died in less than an hour. In the second race, Dunn, who rode Miller, was accused of fraud and ruled off the track. The attendance was large and the track in good condition. Result: Purse $250, selling race, one mile—P. Vetter's Gilt, aged 94, first, in 1:39½; Lady May, 3—94, Trainor, second, by a neck; Barbara, 5—109, third, by half a length.....Purse $300, for maidens, six furlongs—J. H. Dillard & Co.'s Jim Brennan 5—97, Moore, first, in 1:06; Miller, 5—115 Dunn, second by two lengths; Danville, 4—103, Morrison, third.....Purse $200, seven furlongs—J. Spellman's Luna Brown, 4—114, Regan, first, in 1:29½; Santa Claus, aged, 114, Morrison, second, by two lengths; Top Sawyer, 6—114, Hennessy, third, half a length behind.....Purse $400, of which $75 to second, a mile and a sixteenth—W. H. Timmons' Fagin, 4—115, B. Evans, the favorite, first, in 1:48; Ontario, 3—109, Stoval, second by a neck; Karl H., 3—106, Morrison, third.....Purse $250, handicap steeplechase, over the full course—M. J. Daly's Belvedere, 3—123, Verplanck, first, in 5:20; Abraham, aged, 152, McBride, second, by two lengths; Cheatfellow, 4—120, Storms, third, twenty lengths behind.

TROTTING AT HARTFORD.

There was a great crowd present on the opening day of the Grand Circuit trotting meeting at Charter Oak Park, Hartford, Ct., on Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 30. A shower of about half an hour's duration interfered somewhat with the sport, but afterwards the weather cleared off beautifully and continued excellent during the balance of the meeting. Result: Class 2:21, purse $1,000—D. S. Quinton's Favona first, David L. (won the first heat) second and Wallace third. Time, 2:19¾, 2:19, 2:19¼, 2:22. Class 2:29, purse $1,000—G. D. Wilson's Billy Freer first, Clara (won the first heat) second, Jessie third and Camille fourth. Time, 2:25, 2:25¼, 2:24¼, 2:26¼, 2:27. Class 2:18, pacing, purse $1,000—Budd Doble's Ed. Annon first, in 2:19¼, 2:18¼, 2:17¾; Dupiex second, the other starters being distanced. The crowd present on the second day of the meeting numbered about twelve thousand, the attraction being the renewal of the annual guaranteed stake of $10,000, for which the best trotters in the country were entered, headed by Patron, who, on the strength of his performances this season, was installed a prime favorite in the betting, he being so greatly fancied that in some of the pools he was barred. The horse, who was driven by George Fuller, proved equal to the expectations of his most confident backers, winning with ease in straight heats, while his competitors were unable to force him to do time equal to that which he has shown himself capable of accomplishing. Class 2:20, guaranteed purse of $10,000—C. F. Emery's Patron, first, in 2:17¾, 2:17, 2:18; Prince Wilkes second in each heat, Loretta F. third and Astral fourth. A shower after the second heat made the track so heavy that the intended trial beat of the winner to beat the record was abandoned. Class 2:25, purse $1,000—J. J. Bowen's White Sox first, in 2:21, 2:21, 2:20¼; Valkyr second, Perplexed third and Sylvie M. fourth. Class 2:24, pacing, purse $1,000—E. F. Geer's Iderim first, Johnny Woods (won the first heat) second, Blanche third and Joe Jefferson fourth. Time, 2:25, 2:26¼, 2:26, 2:29½. Free-for-all trot, purse $1,500—John Spian's J. Q. first, Kitefoot (won the first heat) second, Spofford (won the fourth heat) third and Bessie fourth. Time, 2:20, 2:18, 2:17¾, 2:21, 2:21¼. Class 2:27, purse $1,000—L. H. Hurd's Jessie first, in 2:22, 2:25¼, 2:25½; I. R. Gurney's Jessie second, Greylight third and Faro fourth. Class 2:33, purse $1,500—E. F. Geer's Ben Starr first, in 2:23¾, 2:21¾, 2:22½; Alroy second, W. K. third and Sir Walter Jr. fourth. Class 2:19, purse $1,500—J. Murphy's Kenilworth first, Charley Hogan (won the first heat) second, Judge Davis (won the fifth heat) third and Electric fourth. The fourth heat was dead between the latter and the winner. Time, 2:22¾, 2:20¾, 2:22, 2:21, 2:24, 2:25¾. Free-for-all pacing race, purse $1,500—J. A. Coates' Arzyle first, Gossip Jr. (won the second and third heats) second, Little Mack third and Jennie Lind fourth. Time, 2:16¾, 2:17¾, 2:16¾, 2:16¾, 2:18. Class 2:23, purse $1,000—Jessie Yearance's Governor Hill first, in 2:21¾, 2:20¾, 2:22; Billy Freer second, Eclipse third and Philosee fourth.

RACING AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY.

Gloomy, threatening weather kept many people away from the course of the Coney Island Jockey Club on Tuesday, Sept. 6, and it was a fortunate thing for the public who bet, that they were not present in customary strength, for the favorites received a slaughtering, only one of them winning during the afternoon. The winner of the Belles' Stakes, Bandusia, was so great an outsider that odds of 100 to 1 went begging on her, and in the Mutuals each of the seven tickets sold paid $397.60. It is pretty certain, however, that, had the rider of the favorite, Los Angeles, not been so confident, he could have won. He allowed Bandusia to gain so great a lead that when he tried he could not overcome it. The track was in excellent condition, and those present witnessed good racing. Result: Purse $500, seven furlongs—McMahon & Garrison's Eolian, 4—118, Garrison, the favorite, first, in 1:28¾; Jennie B., 4—115, F. Littlefield, second, by a length; Gleaner, aged, 115, McLaughlin, third, a length and a half away.. ...The Belles' Stakes, for two-year-old fillies, $50 each $1,000 added, $250 to second, $100 to third, penalties and allowances, six furlongs—A. J. Cassatt's Bandusia, 100, Church, first, in 1:16¼; Los Angeles, 118, I. Murphy, the favorite, second, by a head; Baylight, 100, Barnes, third, three lengths behind..... The Omnium Handicap, for three-year-olds and upwards, $50 each, h. f., $1 250 added, $250 to second, penalties, a mile and a furlong—J. D. Morrisey's Kaloolah, 4—117, Godfrey, first, in 1:55¾; Tarbouche, 3—93, R. Hyslop, second, by less than a length; Saxony, 4—116, Stone, the favorite, third, by the same distance ....Handicap sweepstakes, for three year-olds, $25 each, $750 added, $150 to second, $50 to third, a mile and three-sixteenths—N. W. Kittson's Rosewood, 94, Hines, first, in 1:55¾; Terra Cotta, 118, Garrison, the favorite, second, by half a length; Raveller, 95, Winchell, third, eight lengths away.....Handicap sweepstakes for all ages, $25 each, $750 added, $100 to second, $50 to third, a mile and three furlongs—D. A. Honig's Lelex, aged, 109, J. McLaughlin, first, in 2:26; Volante, 5—122, I. Murphy, the favorite, second, by five lengths; Ten Strike, 6—105, Hamilton, third, a length and a half behind.....Turf Handicap Sweepstakes, $25 each, $1,000 added, $250 to second and $50 to third—E. J. Baldwin's Mollie McCarthy's Last, 4—115, I. Murphy, first, in 2:11½; Lancaster 4—115, Garrison, second, by four lengths; Carey, 3—105, Fuller, third, by a short head.

Another sensational performance marked the racing on Wednesday, Joe Cotton, who is just now in fine shape, breaking the record in the mile and three-sixteenths race, which he ran in 2:00¾, winning easily, after allowing his only opponent Binette, to make the running until they were well along the homestretch. The majority of the people were most interested in the match race between Banburg and Kaloolah, which was one of the finest contests ever witnessed on a racecourse. The result was in favor of the former, who was the non-favorite, and by his victory Mr. Morrissey, who proposed the match, was a very heavy winner, as he backed his horse for a pile of money. The attendance was very large and the track was in fine condition, as may be inferred from the fast time accomplished by Joe Cotton and Stuyvesant, the latter winning the opening mile race in 1:40. Result: Purse $500, one mile—S. S. Brown's Stuyvesant, 3—111½, Garrison, first, in 1:40, being but a quarter of a second slower than the record; Favor, 5—118, J. McLaughlin, the favorite, second, by half a length; Choctaw, 6—118, third, beaten off.....The Dash Stakes, for two-year-olds, $50 each, $1,000 added, $250 to second, $100 to third, penalties and allowances, five furlongs—D. A. Honig's Van Leland, 104, Harris, first, in 1:02; Speedwell, 101, Anderson, second, by less than a length; Daniella, F. Littlefield, a length away ... The Average Stakes, for three-year-olds and upwards, $75 each, $1,000 added, $250 to second, $100 to third, penalties and allowances, a mile and three-sixteenths—Dwyer Bros.' Joe Cotton, 5—109¾, J. McLaughlin, the favorite, first, in 1:00¾; Binette, aged, 104, Williams, second, by a half length.....Match, $5,000 a side, h. f., $1,000 added by the Coney Island J. C., weight for age, a mile and a quarter—J. D. Morrissey's Bamburg, 3—105, Hamilton, first, in 2:07¾; Elkwood, 4—118, J. McLaughlin, the favorite, second, by less than half a length. The favorite took the track at once and set a strong pace, calculating to wear out Bamburg before the finish was reached, but the latter proved able to lay just behind Elkwood all the way till well along the last furlong, when he made his effort, and after a hot fight won as stated.. ... Handicap sweepstakes, for all ages, $25 each, $750 added, $150 to second, $50 to third, a mile and a furlong—M. M. Jordan's Swift, aged, 112, Garrison, the favorite, first, in 1:56; Brown Duke, 107, Williams, second, by a neck; Florence M., 5—92, Palmer, third, by the same distance..... Purse $500, for three-year olds and upwards, selling allowances, seven furlongs—Lamasney Bros.' Little Minnie, 4—94, Williams, the favorite, first, in 1:28½; Patrocles, 4—96, Anderson, second, by a short head; Bonnie S., 5—83, third, two lengths away... . ..Sweepstakes, for three-year-olds and upwards, $500 added, $75 to second, to carry 28lb above the scale, seven furlongs, on the grass—W. L. Scott's Roi D'Or, 3—116, Godfrey, first, in 1:30; Pat Divver, 4—123, McLaughlin, second, by a neck; Malaria, 6—123, I. Murphy, third, six lengths behind.

SPORT AT LEXINGTON.

The annual fair at Lexington, Ky., commenced on Aug. 30, continuing four days. Result: Agricultural Stakes, for two-year-olds, mile and repeat—Edgemark first, in 2:33, 2:33; Linnie second, Daphney third and Dr. Carver fourth. Class 2:25, purse $250—W. P. Maxwell's Silverone first, in 2:23¼, 2:23¾, 2:19¾; Jennie M. second, Four Corners third and Lemonade fourth. Mechanical Stakes, for three-year-olds, mile heats, three in five, in harness—Ben Hur first, in 2:39¼, 2:37, 2:38; Mattie V. second, and Billy Sayre fourth. Class 2:35, purse $250—Muir & Sons' Mollie Wilkes first, in 2:27, 2:26, 2:26¾; Susie T. second, Jeremiah third, and Robert H. fourth. During the afternoon of the second day the bay stallion Brown Hal paced a mile in 2:13, the attempt being made against the trotting record of Maxey Cobb, which he beat by a quarter-second. Produce Stallion Stakes, for two-year-olds—Bravo first, in 3:00¾, 2:58¾, 2:37½; the Major distanced in the third heat. These were the only starters. The West Stakes, for yearlings, mile dash—Sadie D. first, in 2:54½, being the best time made by a yearling in Kentucky; Mambrino Bismarck second, Samera third and Losette fourth. Class 2:35, for pacers—Cognac first, in 2:25¼, 2:23, 2:20½; King of Belair second, Wickopee third, and Edna Wilkes fourth. Association Stakes, for four-year-olds, mile heats, three in five, in harness—Bermuda first, in 2:22, 2:27¼, 2:24½; Lena Wilkes, the only other starter, second. Purse $150, for two-year-olds, mile and repeat—W. R. Brasfield's Linnie, first, in 2:39½, 2:37; Marie Jansen second, Poem third and Senator Blackburn fourth. Purse $250, for three-year-olds, mile heats—R. P. Pepper's Houri first, in 2:38, 2:33, 2:21¼; Neille O'Neal second.

THE Southside Gentlemen's Driving Association has been organized in Pittsburg, Pa., with the following officers: President, David Carll; secretary and treasurer, E. Shields; directors — William Cowan, David Barton, Thomas Noble, Robert Cunningham, William Holden and Peter Trenhauser. The Association have leased the old Jarvis race-track, on Southern avenue, for a term of five years, and intend to hold their initial meeting this Fall. Men have been put to work placing the grounds in condition.

NEW RACING RULE.

Considering that circumstances rendered it necessary that stringent measures should be taken to prevent the degradation of the turf, as well as for the protection of themselves and kindred legitimate organizations, the joint committee from the two great Long Island racing organizations met recently and adopted the following

RACING RULE.

Adopted Sept. 5, 1887, by the Coney Island Jockey Club and the Brooklyn Jockey Club.

1. No horse shall be eligible to be entered which shall have started for a race on any racecourse situated in Kings, Queens, New York or Richmond County of less than a mile, or when the value of a purse or prize to go to the winner shall be less than $500.

2. The owner, trainer and jockey of such horse shall be respectively disqualified from all privileges of these associations to which he or they would be otherwise entitled—such as making entries, training and stabling horses on the grounds and riding in races thereon.

3. This rule shall not apply in regard to races at agricultural fairs or of recognized club hunts.

NEW TRACK.—Atlantic City, N. J., is to have a racecourse next year. Extensive grounds have been secured, and in a few days workmen will begin to break land for the track, which will have a width of seventy feet along the homestretch. Two stands will be erected, each with a holding capacity of five thousand or more, and stables will be built for the accommodation of 340 horses. If needed, many more can be put up, as there is abundant space, the grounds embracing eighty-five acres. The cost of the different buildings is estimated at $60,000. The track will probably be in readiness by June 1, 1888, and the Association propose to give about $20,000 in purses annually.

JAY-EYE-SEE VS. PATRON.—A match has been made between J. I. Case's gelding Jay-Eye-See, record 2:10, and Patron, record 2:14¼, for $5,000 a side. The race will take place on the track of the Washington Park Association, Chicago, before Oct. 5. This match should give rise to much interest among lovers of the trotting turf, and the Association could well afford to add a handsome purse to the stakes, as they doubtless will do.

THE racers Rio Grande and Brilliant, the property of Sigmar Cohen of Chicago, were seized last week by Sheriff Farley of Kings County, under an attachment sued out by James G. Sawyer, who has brought an action to foreclose a mortgage on the animals for $857.

RACES AT MEADVILLE.—The Meadville, Pa., races took place Aug. 30, 3. Sept. 1. The 2:20 trot was won by Daisy Gardner; time, 2:34¾, 2:37½, 2:32¾. 3:00 race won by Hattie Carlisle in three straight heats; time, 2:40½, 2:41, 2:41¼. The 2:35 race was won by Milton Blackwood in 2:33¾, 2:31¾, 2:41; Dame second, George third. Free-for-all race, won by Conway, in three straight heats, in 2:33, 2:31¾, 2:2 ½; Jim Blaine second. Four-year-olds—won by Alcamont, Crinkle second. 2:40 race, won by Burglar; time, 2:37½, 2:42½, 2:34. Free-for-all trot, won by Belle Ogle, in 2:26, 2:25, 2:28¾. One-mile running race, won by War Whoop, in 1:48¾, 1:50¾; Hattie E. second.

RACING IN NEW JERSEY.

The annual race meeting of the Millville Bicycle Club was held on the four-lap track at their picturesque grounds at Millville, N. J., on Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 30. About two thousand persons were in attendance, and among the participants in the contests were a number of wheelmen of prominence belonging to different clubs, the races being open to all amateurs. A return follows:

One-mile, novice—W. E. Young, Dennisville, first, in 3m. 8s.; Stacey L. Cassiday, Millville, second, by five yards, after having led for a considerable distance; Arthur Fuller, Vineland, third, he having been the first to show in front, but being unable to stay the pace set by the others.

Quarter-mile—Louis J. Kolb, University of Pennsylvania, first, in 40s; H. B. Schwartz, Reading Bicycle Club, second; William Lamb, Smithville, third. The two former made a dead heat at the first attempt, and in the run off Kolb came off an easy victor, as his opponent broke the wheel of his machine.

cagos have the most successful financial year I believe that they ever had. The Kelly business brought them in a large sum, and they reaped well from the releases of Gore and Dairymple. Every one knows how well the new material has done, and will say, "Give some one else a chance." Detroit needs that chance. For the first time it looks like a pennant winner, and if it gets there will be the first to get there outside of Chicago, Boston and Providence. The Detroit nine has been an expensive article, and that world's series will bring in lots of money. The managers don't know what they are doing, however, if they don't have one of the games played in this city. I think that it would attract 12,000 people, especially if played on Saturday.....Last Monday was Labor day in this city, and we had one of the largest attendances that ever filled the Boston grounds. It numbered over 12,000, and crowded the seats and the outfield so that ground rules had to be adopted. For a wonder, Boston won on a holiday, and peculiarly, too, making 10 runs in one inning, and after Buffinton had been knocked out of the box, batting Ferguson every bit as hard. Every one knows that the League clubs divide receipts on national and State holidays. The Boston management refused to give Manager Wright over $2,900, on the ground that this holiday was not a holiday at the beginning of the season. No excuse could be flimsier. Al. Reach consulted Lawyer Rogers of Philadelphia and wired to Manager Wright that he had done right in asking for the money. It's dollars to cents that the Philadelphias will get the nice little plum they are entitled to.....Just as I am inditing these lines Manager Frank Bancroft stepped into the The Herald office, where I am writing this letter. "Do you know," he said, "why it is the Detroits have done so finely of late? It is because they have got their great stand-by, Charley Bennett, behind the bat. He has done superb work, and if he had been in the nine all the year the Detroits would have won in a canter. The Bostons," continued the astute manager, "made a great mistake when they asked Radbourn, after first signing him, whom he wanted for his catcher. Rad took Daily, but Gilligan was his old catcher and always supplied the brains for the battery.".....People here are trying hard to find out whether Radbourn was justly suspended or not. Rad has twice been fined for drinking. He says that he has done his best this season, but that the new rules have handicapped him. He misses the old jump and the balk throw to bases. He well says that his salary was the greatest incentive to him to win, and that by playing great ball this year he would have received a big figure next season. It is not known for how long he has been suspended.....Young Madden receives $25 extra for every game in which he pitches and wins. Thursday he received $50 for blanking the New Yorks.....It is reported that Morrill will captain the Boston nine of 1888, and that the manager will be a gentleman well known for his ability as a financier and his knowledge of the game.....McGunnigle was wild with delight over the victory of the Lowell boys over New Yorks.....Dupee Shaw has been engaged by the Portlands. They hope to win the championship by his aid.....Brouthers still leads the League in batting, but Thompson does on actual hits. The latter has made 175.

THE ASSOCIATION MEETING.

The sound sense and conservatism which governed the delegates at the special meeting of the American Association, held at the Fifth-avenue Hotel on Sept. 5, put to rout the sensational journalists who had predicted discord in the councils of the Association. The meeting was called to consider the advisability of changing the method of dividing gate-receipts of games from the guarantee plan, which had been in vogue in the Association ever since its organization, to that of the percentage system, which up to 1887 had prevailed in the National League. President Wikoff was in the chair, and the delegates present were Lew Simmons, Athletics; W. W. Watrous and O. P. Caylor, Metropolitans; Chris Von der Ahe of the St. Louis Browns; H. R. Vonderhorst and Wm. Barnie, Baltimores; C. H. Byrne and Joseph J. Doyle, Brooklyns; James A. Williams and Frank Robinson, Clevelands, and Zack and John Phelps, Louisville. Mr. Wikoff acted as proxy for Cincinnati. Before the meeting proceeded to the important business it had to act upon, a question of privilege was brought up in regard to the admission of Delegate O. P. Caylor of the Metropolitans, whom it was urged was, as a newspaper correspondent, not eligible to act as a delegate. When the question came to be acted upon, Mr. Caylor was refused admission by a vote of seven to one, Mr. Watrous voting in his favor. When the vote was announced Mr. Caylor tendered his resignation as an honorary member of the Association, which was accepted, and then the regular business was proceeded with. The result was in brief the adoption of a plan of dividing receipts proposed by Mr. Byrne. According to this plan, which was unanimously adopted, visiting clubs will receive seven and a half cents for each person passing into the grounds, which is practically 30 per cent. of the receipts. In any event, the visiting club must receive not less than $130 a game, no matter how small the attendance may be. The passage of a resolution followed, which imposed a penalty of $1,500 on any club refusing to play a scheduled game or to finish a game when ordered to continue by the umpire, payment of the fine to be made by holding back all percentages until the whole sum is made up. This resolution was the result of the action taken by the Athletic Club on the occasion of their last game but one with the Metropolitans at St. George in August, attention to which was called by THE CLIPPER'S pointing out the necessity for some such rule as the one adopted being made to put a stop to such small business. Under the new law a club declining to play out a game to its legal conclusion will find it pretty costly. Thorough harmony prevailed throughout the meeting after the presentation of Mr. Byrne's solution of the percentage problem.

THE ARBITRATION COMMITTEE.

On Sept. 6 the Arbitration Committee met at the office of J. I. Rogers of the Philadelphia Club, to decide upon the claims of the Detroit League club and the Cincinnati Association club to the services of the two players, Beatin and Kinslow, now playing with the Detroit Club. All the members of the committee answered roll-call. President N. E. Young, John B. Day of New York and John I. Rogers represented the League, and Chris Von Der Ahe of St. Louis, C. H. Byrne of Brooklyn and Zach Phelps of Louisville the Association. President Wheeler Wikoff of the Association was also present. President Stearns attended on behalf of Detroit, and Manager Gus Schmeltz on behalf of Cincinnati. It took the committee three hours to hear the evidence and listen to the arguments presented by both clubs. The Detroit Club proved the purchase of Beatin and Kinslow for $1,500 on July 20. President Reuter of the Allentown Club was present as a witness, and he confirmed the sale. He admitted, however, that he had offered the battery to Cincinnati on July 26 for $2,000, and Manager Schmeltz said three or four other clubs were offered the same players on the same date. Manager Schmeltz signed the men on July 27 without paying any bonus for them, and he contended that President Young on July 27 had given an opinion that the Pennsylvania State League, of which the Allentown Club was a member, had disbanded, and that its players were eligible to sign with any club. The whole case finally hinged on whether the Pennsylvania League was still under the protection of the National Agreement at the time the Cincinnati Club signed the players, and the committee reported that the Detroit Club was entitled to the services of Beatin and Kinslow. The finding of the committee was unanimous. After the evidence was all in, the Association's members were forced to admit the fact that Cincinnati's claim to the men was made on very weak grounds, and that Detroit was the only club that had any claim to the players under the National Agreement; and their decision was rendered in accordance with these facts.

The California Spirit of the Times says: "Capt. Jim Riley has received a letter from Ned Williamson in which he disclaims any engagement under Jim Hart for this Winter, but says he will surely come out in the Fall. We have also received a letter which contradicts the above. Stick a pin right here: Williamson will play with the Chicagos in San Francisco next November."

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York vs. Washington.

The fourteenth game of the series between these clubs was played at the Polo Grounds on Sept. 6 before a comparatively small crowd, the home team on the occasion having difficulty in winning by a score of 6 to 4, their "Jersey battery" not working as well as before. The fact is, Catcher Murphy has the hardest kind of work to do in facing Titcomb's wild, swift pitching, and this time errors consequent upon his delivery came near being very costly, as the score shows:

The New York team lost an important game on Sept. 7, when they let the visiting Washingtons get the better of them, inasmuch as, had they won, they would have taken second position, as the Chicagos lost two games the same day; but they could not hit O'Day's pitching with any effect, finely supported as it was, while Welch, not being as well backed up in the field, did not prove so effective.

Washington vs. Philadelphia.

The twelfth game was played Sept. 8 in Washington, D. C., faultless fielding then enabling the Philadelphias to score their ninth victory of the series. Costly errors by Dailey and Schoch in the first and fifth innings let in seven runs, only one of which was earned, the visitors then bunching seven safe hits. The Washingtons batted Casey freely, especially in the fourth inning, when they earned four runs off five safe hits, including a home run by Carroll.

Buffinton and O'Day both pitched effectively Sept. 9, the former being then better supported in the field. Donnelly and Dealey made some damaging errors in the fifth and seventh innings, when the Philadelphias got a long and winning lead. O'Brien batted a ball over the fence for a home run in the eighth inning. The visitors ran the bases in a daring manner.

Chicago. vs. Indianapolis.

An unexpected victory was secured by the Indianapolis team Sept. 8 in Chicago, Ill., it being their fourth of the series. Van Haltren was hit hard, Gardner and Seery making home runs. Boyle puzzled the Chicagos to make more than eight safe hits off him. Glasscock's work at short-stop was the chief feature.

Rain caused the postponement of the game scheduled for Sept. 9, and two games were required for the following afternoon. In the opening contest Shreve was very wild, giving ten men bases on balls, and the Chicagos found little trouble in piling up runs. A one-handed stop by Denny, and a remarkable running catch by McGeachy were noteworthy features.

Owing to darkness only six innings were played in the second game. Leitner was batted very hard, Baldwin, Pfeffer and Anson making home-runs, and Daly and Pettit hitting three-baggers. Denny and Schomberg did nearly all the batting for the visitors, the former's three successive safe hits including a home run and a two-bagger.

Detroit vs. Chicago.

These clubs contended twice Sept. 7 in Detroit, Mich., the game scheduled for the preceding day having been postponed by rain. The home team pounded Clarkson hard and often in the morning game, Thompson, Richardson and Bennett batting three-baggers. Conway held the Chicagos down to six safe hits. In the fourth and fifth innings the home team bunched their hits and took a winning lead.

Clarkson faced the Detroits again in the afternoon, and for the second time he was badly pounded. Baldwin, who reappeared with the Detroits, made four successive singles, besides being very effective in the box, retiring the Chicagos for but six safe hits. The game was closely contested for five innings, the Detroits finally scoring their eighth victory of the series.

Boston vs. Philadelphia.

Radbourn's wild pitching enabled the Philadelphias to secure a winning lead in the first two innings of the game played Sept. 6 in Boston, Mass. He then gave six men bases on balls and was hit safely four times, including a home run by Clements. The Bostons batted out five earned runs in the sixth and ninth innings, when they bunched five safe hits. McGuire was injured in the first inning and Clements took his place. Kelly was hurt and gave way to Daily in the seventh inning. By this victory the Philadelphias regained fourth place in the championship race.

The Championship Record.

The pennant race may be regarded as about settled so far as the winning of the pennant is concerned, Detroit's rally last week to retain their winning lead having almost assured them the championship. As regards the contest for second and third positions it has rarely been so close as it is now, Chicago, Philadelphia and New York being closely bunched together. Here is the record up to Sept. 12, inclusive:

Athletic vs. St. Louis.

The Athletics defeated the St. Louis for the seventh time Sept. 10 in Philadelphia, Pa. Seward, although wild, was effective, holding the champions down to four scattering hits. He was well supported except in the sixth inning when errors by McCarr let in three runs. In the fourth inning. Comiskey tripped and fell over first-base, breaking the thumb of his right hand. Welch took his place.

The concluding contest of the series took place Sept. 12, when the Athletics again won, pounding King all over the field. Lyons captured a low liner with one hand and made a brilliant double-play unassisted. Caruthers made a home run on the longest hit of the season on the local grounds, batting the ball over the fence at right centre.

Baltimore vs. Louisville.

Ten innings were necessary Sept. 10 in Baltimore, Md., the home team then scoring their seventh victory of the series. Each team earned one run and by wild pitching obtained another run. A wild throw by Hecker and a safe hit by Griffin allowed the Baltimores to score the winning run after one man was out in the last half of the tenth inning.

A remarkable contest took place Sept. 12, darkness causing a draw at the end of the ninth inning without a run made by either club. Kilroy kept the visitors from making more than three scattering hits, two of which were scratches. Chamberlain was wild, giving five men bases on balls, and was hit safely six times. Very poor judgment in base-running prevented the Baltimores from scoring several times.

Brooklyn vs. Cleveland.

The Clevelands put in Gilks to pitch Sept. 10, and as he pitched effectively and was finely supported, while the reverse was the case on the part of Terry and his support, the result was a bad defeat for Brooklyn. A collision at centre-field between McClellan and Harkins in catching a fly in the last part of the eighth inning obliged the retirement of McClellan, and as there was no legal substitute the game was called at Brooklyn's request.

The contest at Ridgewood on Sept. 11 was a well earned victory for the Brooklyns, Porter pitching his best game of the season. McGlone's third-base play was a feature. Jerry Sullivan made his first appearance as an Association umpire, and acted with good judgment and impartiality.

Metropolitan vs. Cincinnati.

An exciting contest on Sept. 10 at Staten Island resulted in a tie. Both teams fielded poorly, but ran bases in great style. Nicol stole no fewer than six bases. Parsons, a left-handed pitcher, late of the Rochester Club, made his first appearance with the Mets. Bad coaching led to McPhee being thrown out at the plate in attempting to make a home run. Jones distinguished himself both in batting and fielding, making a home run and a remarkable running one-handed catch.

Metropolitan vs. Louisville.

The twentieth and last game was played Sunday, Sept. 11, at Weehawken, N. J., the Louisvilles then being credited with their twelfth victory of the series. Cushman was batted freely, especially in the third inning, when the Louisvilles secured six runs and a winning lead. The attendance was small, although preparations had been made for a repetition of the jam of the preceding Sunday.

AQUATIC.

SOMETHING ABOUT BEACH.

Our most recent mail advices from Australia mention an interview between Champion Sculler Beach and a newspaper reporter, about the match with Hanlan. Speaking of the Nepean, Beach said he had never seen the river, and knew nothing about the course, "although," he added, "that will not prevent me from meeting Hanlan. I want to row Hanlan, and I hope he will come here and give me a chance. I don't care if no one sees the race on the Nepean but Joe Thompson and myself. I am not going to row for gate-money; I intend to row to beat Hanlan." Beach says he can row as fast as Hanlan in smooth water, probably faster, and he has not the slightest fear regarding the result of the race. He further stated that he would not row against Hanlan unless he was in good health at the time. Beach commented on what he termed the obstinacy and peculiar behavior of Hanlan in not allowing someone in Sydney to hold the stakes for the coming race. Continuing, Beach said: "Our people do not like the way Hanlan has treated them since he took his departure from the colony; he has not acted as we thought he would. You know it does not look well to have this next race rowed here on the Nepean, the stakeholder being in England and the referee in Melbourne. However, I am ready to row for the honor of the colony against him or any other oarsman in America or the old country." Beach intends taking up his quarters on the Nepean in September, with Peter Kemp as trainer. He will row in the boat built for him by Clasper. He received a challenge from Jake Gaudaur and answered it favorably, but had not heard a word since, which he considered strange silence.

ROWING ON THE BAY.

The Nautilus Boat Club of Brooklyn held a regatta at Bay Ridge, L. I., Sept. 10, to witness which about two hundred and fifty friends were invited. The course was seven-eighths of a mile, with a turn. The senior singles was won by Geo. Freeth in 5m. 18s.; R. Hillman second. A. Hillman secured the prize for junior singles, Class A, in 5m. 30⅛s.; A. S. Oswald second. In the junior singles, Class B, J. T. Hettrick was first in 4m. 20s.; A. Ribas second. The closest race was the senior doubles. There were three starters. All got off in good shape, but they had not rowed more than a third of the distance to the turning point when the boat occupied by R. and A. Hillman ran upon a rock which the receding tide barely covered. In sheering on the rock they fouled on the boat of George Freeth and A. Ribas. They made another start, but the boat they ran into won the race. Time, 4m. 51⅛s. The junior doubles was won by A. H. Beckwith and L. L. Firuski in 4m. 47⅛s. L. L. Firuski (bow), Geo. Freeth, W. Deghuee, M. Donally (stroke), A. S. Oswald (coxswain) won the four-oared barge race in 5m. 44s. W. Charnley (bow), H. F. Waring, E. Driggs, R. Pritchard, F. Olsen, Geo. Freeth, J. T. Hettrick, E. J. Williams (stroke), J. W. Stray (coxswain) won the eight-oared barge race. Time, 5m. 21⅛s. The swimming match over an eighth of a mile course was won by W. C. Johnson, S. Manley second.

SWIMMING CONTESTS.

A series of swimming races took place in the East River at the foot of Sixty-sixth street Sept. 10. A. Mefferts attempted to lower the best record at a quarter mile, and covered the distance in 2m. 19⅛s., a remarkable performance, but it was accomplished with a strong current. The 150yds. ladies' race was won by Miss Martha Loewry from a field of eight. Her sister Clara, aged eleven, was second. Time, 1m. 30s. George Heintz won the half-mile race with ease in 8m. 38s. Herman Braun, the 100yds. champion, swam a measured one-hundred yards in 30⅛s. He covered the same distance in still water in 1m. 13⅛s. In the pupils' race of 100yds. Alex. Gunther finished first, a yard in advance of Her. Goetz. Time, 1m. 40s. One mile with the tide—H. Monheim first, Bruno Becklind second, by ten yards. Time, 18m. 15s.

O'CONNOR BEATS HAMM.

The scullers' match between William O'Connor of Toronto, Ont., and Albert Hamm of Nova Scotia, for $1,000 a side, three miles, with a turn, was decided at the former place Sept. 10. O'Connor took the lead at the start and never relinquished it, winning by about eight lengths, in 20m. 17s.

SAILING IN A STORM.—The small yachts of the Newark (N. J.) Yacht Club that started in the Fall regatta on Sept. 12, amid rain, wind and mist, met with a very unpleasant experience. Seven of the number managed to keep right side up, but about eight of them turned over, while a couple of others fouled, and several had masts or muslin carried away. The Alexander F. won the first prize in the cabin sloops under 35ft., and the Vixen the second prize. The Tough was awarded the prize in the jib and mainsail class, 19ft. and over, and the Puritan took first prize for similar boats under 19ft. The Willway won the first prize in the catboat class, over 19ft., and the Triton and Bon Bon first and second places, respectively, for catboats under 19ft.

A RACE PLUCKILY WON.—The match race between the sloops Cinderella and Anaconda, both of the Larchmont Yacht Club, to sail over the same distance at which they had met in the late regatta on the Sound, was started from off the L. Y. C. club-house during a rain-storm, and while the seas were in a most angry mood, just before noon on Sept. 12. It was very rough weather, and the slow progress made in beating to windward, with waves and spray continually dashing over the deck of the struggling sloops, decided the owner of the Anaconda to cut short the race, which he did at the end of four miles, running off for the anchorage. Ex-Commodore C. S. Lee pluckily kept on with the Cinderella, completing the course in 4h. 10m. 14s., and taking the prize, valued at $500.

A FAILURE.—None of the big sloops started in the special race for prizes offered by the Larchmont Yacht Club for a race over a thirty-eight mile course on the Sound, Sept 10, but the Shamrock, Titania, Mischief and Fannie competed for the cash prizes of $250 and $100. The wind was very variable during the day, while at times a flat calm prevailed, so that the race was not a success, and, as the course was not completed in the stipulated eight hours, the Regatta Committee declared it off.

SEVEN YOUNG GIRLS competed in a swimming race of about one mile at Fort Hamilton, L. I., Sept. 10. The course was from Owl's Head Point to the Grand View Hotel, and the race was won by Gracie Blankly, 13 years old, no time being taken; Daisy Blankly, 11 years, second; Maggie Ward, 14 years, third. The others were Alice Ward, Maggie Hogan, Tinnie Boars and Evelyn Harden.

JAMES BELL, owner, and G. W. Watson, designer, of the Thistle, arrived from Scotland on the City of Rome on Sept. 9. The cutter still lays off Staten Island, and no opportunity has so far been given to inspect her model or form any fair conception of her actual speed.

A BOAT CLUB was organized in Durham, Iowa, some time ago and has now over one hundred members. They will build a large boat-house, with dressing-rooms, bath-rooms and apartments for club and private boats. By next season they will have everything in good shape.

THE catboat Syringe defeated W. Daly Jr.'s sloop Lizzie F. Daly, in a race of about seventeen miles in Boston Harbor, Sept. 8. Toward the finish the wind died out, and the Syringe drifted over the line the length of her bowsprit ahead.

BOATS in the second-class keels and third-class centreboards sailed off for the championship of the Hull (Mass.) Yacht Club Sept. 10, with the following result: Keels—Banneret first, Thelga second. Centreboards—Em-Ell-Eye first, Coyote second.

IT has been discovered that an error was made by the committee of the N. Y. Y. C. in the last Goelet Cup race, and the owner of the Puritan has been notified that his boat defeated the Atlantic instead of vice-versa.

JOHN TREMER, Al. Hamm, George Lee, George Bubear, J. A. Ten Eyck and Fred Plaisted will compete in the regatta to be held on the Monongahela River, at McKeesport, Pa., on Friday and Saturday of this week.

THE scullers who failed to win any money at Watkins talk of suing the regatta association for damages, because the announced consolation race was not given, thus virtually taking so much money out of the pockets of the oarsmen.

KENNEDY of Quincy, Ill., has made a match with P. J. Donovan of Boston, Mass., to whom he undertakes to concede a start of fifteen seconds in three miles, for $100 a side, the race to come off at Lake Quinsigamond in two weeks from Sept. 12.

EIGHT BOATS belonging to the Beverly Yacht Club indulged in a drifting contest off Monument Beach, Mass., Sept. 10, the winners in the respective classes being the Mollie, Mist and Petrel.

THE NELLIE D. won the club championship of the Great Head Yacht Club off Great Head, Mass., Sept. 10. The Trouble took the prize in the second class, and the Agnes in the third.

J. J. COLLIER won the one-mile race for the professional swimming championship of England, at Rochdale, Aug. 27; time, 29m. 56s. Frost was second by fifty yards.

THE RING.

CARNEY vs. McAULIFFE.

Arrangements have been amicably completed for the battle for the light-weight championship between Jimmy Carney of England and Jack McAuliffe of Brooklyn, and the third deposit is in the hands of the stakeholder. The date chosen for the fight is Oct. 5. A referee has already been agreed upon, but we understand he has declined to serve, and someone else will have to be selected to fill that responsible position. Carney has taken up his training quarters at Taunton, Mass., with "Nobby" Clark as mentor, the latter having accompanied Carney from England especially for that purpose. McAuliffe's training will also be done in the old Bay State, and he will have Jack Dempsey, the middle-weight champion, and Fred Drew to look after him.

A CHAMPION'S BENEFIT.—Jack Dempsey, who is recovering from a severe spell of sickness, was the recipient of a benefit in the shape of a picnic at High Ground Park, Ridgewood, L. I., Sept. 10. He was not himself able to put on the mittens, but there were volunteers enough to make up an excellent show, the chief feature of which was a set-to between Jake Kilrain and Billy Madden, which was applauded. Joe Denning and Jack Fallon, Joe Fowler and Tommy Barnes, Denny Costigan and Jack Flies, Smith and Shannon also sparred, while John Murray and Frank Allen wrestled. Among those present were Charley Mitchell, Pony Moore and Jack McAuliffe. Steve O'Donnell was Master of Ceremonies.

SULLIVAN'S PLANS.—John L. Sullivan has decided to defer for some weeks his intended trip to Europe, and to make it under the management of an experienced and capable American instead of an English manager, as he contemplated. He is, we understand, open to four-round glove contests with Patsy Cardiff and Pat Killen, the winner to receive seventy-five per cent. of the receipts and the loser twenty-five per cent., the contests to take place a week apart, the first a month hence. Evidently Sullivan is satisfied that his arm is ready for service again.

AMERICANS IN AUSTRALIA.—A cablegram from Sydney states that during the week ending Sept. 3 two prize ring encounters took place at Albany, N. S. W., in both of which an American boxer was one of the principals. Skin gloves were worn. James Mitchell of San Francisco and Boland of Victoria fought a drawn battle, lasting forty-two rounds, and Costello of San Francisco was defeated by P. Slavin of Queensland in nine rounds.

BILL GARIG of Philadelphia and Bob Caffey, after several postponements, met at Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 2, and fought six rounds with small gloves for a purse, when one of the gloves worn by the "mysterious" one became torn, and as there was no other at hand to replace it, and Caffey refused to fight on with the mitten in that condition, or to fight to a finish with the bare fists, the referee decided it a draw.

HARRY HORTON AND JOE SHERIDAN settled an old grudge by a resort to fists in a private house at Westchester, N. Y., Sept. 11. Both are heavy-weights, and they fought with pluck and determination for nineteen rounds, both suffering severe punishment, and the result being in favor of Horton, who laid his adversary out senseless in the nineteenth round. Thereupon Horton was formally declared the winner and the possessor of the purse.

THE EXPECTED lively glove-contest between Martin Dempsey and Jimmy Rowan took place a few miles from Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 11 and proved a fizzle, as also somewhat of a swindle, as, instead of the skin-tight gloves they were announced to wear, four-ounce mits were used. Twenty-six tame rounds were contested, with harm to neither, when the referee declared it a draw.

JAKE KILRAIN'S BENEFIT at the Academy of Music in this city, Sept. 8, was not a success, hardly five hundred people being present. The feature of the entertainment was a four-round bout between Kilrain and Charley Mitchell, which was a fine display of science. Mitchell also appeared in representations of Roman statuary, and several variety artists filled out the programme.

NOLAN VS. FELL.—A match has been made between Pete Nolan of Cincinnati and Jim Fell of Grand Rapids, Mich., to fight to a finish, under Queensberry rules, for $1,000 a side, within one hundred miles of New Orleans, on Dec. 5. The fighting ground is to be selected at the time of posting the second deposit and the spectators are limited to fifty.

PAT SHEEDY is now on his way to London, having taken passage on the Servia, which sailed from this port on Sept. 10. A number of old friends gathered at the dock to wish the genial Pat and Mrs. Sheedy bon voyage. He may remain abroad several months, and possibly will embark in business in London as proprietor of an American bar and restaurant.

JOHN H. CLARK of Philadelphia has sold out his business at Olympic Park, that city, and accepted an engagement to train Mike Conley, who is now matched to fight John P. Clow. Conley is engaged in business in Ashland, Wis. Sam Berry, the English wrestler, bought the lease of the park from Clark, and is to reform the place into a mart for horses.

GOODE OUTLASTS LEES.—The glove-fight between Bill Goode of London and Tom Lees of Melbourne, Aus., took place in the English metropolis Aug. 30. Lees gave up at the end of the sixteenth round.

MCHENRY JOHNSON, the colored heavy-weight, and Paddy Shea are matched to fight with small gloves, for $100 a side, within one hundred miles of Omaha, Neb., three weeks hence.

JOE LANNON has been matched in Boston with Billy Mahoney's Unknown, to fight ten rounds, Queensberry rules, for a purse of $750, of which the losing man will receive a portion. It will come off in about five weeks.

JOHN P. CLOW of Duluth, Minn., shows his willingness and pluck by offering to take the place of either Cardiff or Killen in the glove contests proposed by John L. Sullivan.

JIM SMITH has, says a cablegram, gone to No Man's Land to prepare for his coming battle with Kilrain. Jimmy Howse has been engaged as trainer.

DAN DALY, "the champion light-weight of St. Louis," was married Sept. 7 to Marguerite Ford of that city. The marriage was solemnized at St. Lawrence O'Toole's Church, and was attended by a miscellaneous assemblage.

ED. CONNELLY and James E. Collins had made preparations to fight at Pawtucket, R. I., Sept. 11, but the police swooped down and prevented the intended spilling of gore. The boxers escaped.

ED. DILLON defeated Jim Moriarty in a fight near Berea, O., Sept. 11, knocking him out in the seventh round.

WE HAVE letters for J. Reagan and J. McAuliffe.

TOM MCALPINE has been relieved of a cancer in the tongue, which for some time gave him much pain. The operation was successfully performed by Dr. Frank Hartley, Visiting Surgeon of the Cancer Hospital, to whom Tom is duly and truly thankful.

ATHLETIC.

CONTESTS AT THE COLOSSEUM.

The Lenox Athletic Club held games at the Empire City Colosseum, this city, on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 10. In the open 100yds. run, W. Newman, G. A. C., 3½yds., took the final heat in 10¾s.; W. E. Hughes, 3½yds., second. Quarter-mile run—C. Ward, W. S. A. C., 18yds., first, by three yards, in 55⅝s.; S. H. Pardel, 54yds., second. Al. Fleishman took the half-mile run for members from scratch, beating Chas. Dimick, 40yds., by three yards, in 2m. 12s. Open half-mile run—A. Fleishman, Manhattan Athletic Club, scratch, first, by thirty yards; J. Klotes, New York City, 40yds., second. Time, 2m. 17s. Putting 14lb shot—W. Newman, O. A. C., scratch, 34ft. 7in.; A. Fleishman, M. A. C., 32ft. In the quarter-mile members' run Fleishman and Chas. Nordenchild raced even to within ten yards of the tape, Fleishman winning by a foot. Time, 59s. T. F. Delaney ran an exhibition mile in 4m. 39s.

SIX DAYS' RACE.—Daniel O'Leary is giving his personal attention to the six days' walking tournament, square heel-and-toe, projected by William West, a wealthy contractor of Kansas City, Mo., with whom the redoubtable Dan was associated in business matters fourteen years ago, when O'Leary was just becoming famous as a long-distance walker. The race is to commence Oct. 24, in the rink, and we are assured that all arrangements will be made to ensure the success of the affair and compass the comfort of pedestrians and public alike. The competitors will receive one-half of the gross receipts, divided among the first five men who cover the requisite minimum distance, and Dan is confident that the first man will receive over $1,500 for his share. Those desiring to participate are referred to announcement in our business columns.

F. C. BANCROFT of New Bedford, Mass., the well-known baseball manager, contemplates running a series of pedestrian tourneys in New England during the Fall and Winter. Two have already been arranged for to, take place in Brockton, Mass., both eight hours per day for six days, the first commencing Sept. 26 and the second on Oct. 10. Pedestrians are referred to the advertisement in this issue.

STRONG MAN.—Sig. Guilio Sali is credited with having fairly put up a 104lb dumbbell from shoulder to arm's length above the shoulder fifteen times in succession at Hawthorn Turn Hall, Melbourne, Aus., June 19. The bell, which belongs to Prof. Miller, was weighed by a committee before the trial was made, they certifying to correctness of weight. Subsequently Sali lifted the same bell from a table upon which his elbow rested till he replaced the iron.

M. C. MURPHY of Natick, Mass., leaves for Yale College this week, where he has been re-engaged as trainer. He has had under his care at the Natick Training Grounds Waugh of Mariboro, who runs McCarthy of that place on Saturday, 100 yards, for $250 a side. He has also had McGady of Worcester, who runs Trainer of that place 100 yards, for $100 a side, on the 21st.

THE Olympic Club of San Francisco, Cal., held an exciting election Sept. 5, the following ticket being chosen: President, William G. Harrison; vice president, H. H. Briggs; secretary, F. S. Moody; treasurer, H. B. Ross; directors—G. R. Maxwell, H. A. Cummings, J. P. Kelly, J. B. Tibbatts and E. L. Rhodes.

THE team of English athletes now here will probably represent the Manhattan A. C., to which all belong, at the Fall competitive meeting of the Chicago Athletic Association, on Oct. 1. During the interim between the Canadian championship meeting and the Chicago games the visitors will be shown Niagara Falls and other points of interest.

C. G. WOOD, the English champion sprinter, is stated to have injured a tendon of his left foot at the games Sept. 10, and it is feared that the injury may militate against his chances of success at the championship meeting on Saturday. We hope not.

STEVE FARRELL broke a cord in his ankle at North Adams, Mass., Sept. 5, in a running hop-step-and-jump, and will be laid off the rest of this season.

A LACROSSE MATCH for the championship was played by the Orillia and Niagara Clubs at Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 8, the Orillias winning four straight goals.

DANIEL SCULLY defeated M. J. Donlon in a quarter-mile race, for $200 a side, at Worcester, Mass., Sept. 6.

WHEELING.

RACING AT HARTFORD.

About seven thousand people were in attendance on the opening day of the Hartford Wheel Club's races, Sept. 7. The games were held at Charter Oak Park and were much enjoyed by the spectators. Result:

DEATHS IN THE PROFESSION.

SIR CHARLES LAWRENCE YOUNG, author of "Jim the Penman," died suddenly in London, Eng., Sept. 11. He was the youngest of the three sons of Sir William Lawrence Young, the third baronet of his line. His eldest brother was killed in the Crimean War, and the other died in Sebastapol. During his early life he wrote for periodicals and studied law, and in 1863 he married the daughter of Heyman-Toulmin of Childwickesburg, in Hertfordshire. He had three children by his first wife, at whose death he married Margaret Alice Mary, the eldest daughter of William Serocold-Wade of Redbourne, Herts. After his second marriage he was the leader of Belgravian Bohemia, in which he appeared with success. Later on he began playwriting, and many of his productions were produced on the amateur stage. One of his first professional productions was "Jim the Penman," which was produced in London, and met with decided success, having a long run. It was produced at Madison-square Theatre, this city, Nov. 1, 1886, and was continued throughout the entire season. "The Scapegoat," one of his numerous productions, failed to score a hit. The baronet, accompanied by his wife, visited America two or three times, one trip over the Atlantic being in the company of Lord Dufferin's party. For the last few years Sir Charles and Lady Young had resided at Hatfield Priory, the historic home of William Peverell's mother, founded by her early in the twelfth century.

WILLIAM ROUSILLION (rightly, William Hall) died at St. Michael's Hospital, Newark, N. J., Sept. 8, of heart disease. Deceased was born in London, Eng., about thirty-eight years ago, and has been in the business nearly twenty-three years. He entered the profession as a trapeze performer with Frasetti's Circus, when himself and father were known as the Brothers Rousillion. In 1870 he joined Thos. Pavilio, with whom he remained till his death, they being known as Pavilio and Rousillion. They first came to this country in 1885, and played that season with the Howard Athenæum Co. At the close they went back to England and about three weeks ago returned to join Sheffer & Blakely's Co. Mr. Rousillion played three nights with the company, when by illness he was compelled to give up. He was removed to the hospital Sept. 3. He leaves a wife and three children in England. Newark Lodge of Elks, as soon as his death was announced, appointed a committee to arrange for his burial, although he was not a member of the order. A grave was secured in Fairmount Cemetery. In their laudable undertaking the Elks were assisted by the members of Sheffer & Blakely's Company and the Actors' Fund of New York. The funeral took place 9, and was largely attended. Rev. Isaac Tuttle officiated, and the remains were borne to the grave by D. M. Junk, Harry Healy, T. W. Hindley, J. F. Fletcher, Charles McCarthy and D. B. Dana. Floral pieces were contributed by Newark Lodge and the Sheffer & Blakely Co.

LEON LEROY, a French writer on musical topics; Hippolyte Leroy, formerly stage-manager of the Paris Opera-house; Fierabocchi, a music teacher in Perugia, who bequeathed 250,000 livre to build a home for superannuated musicians in his native town; Antonio Ferni, an Italian 'cello player, and father of a large family of artists, and Ferdinand Hullweck, a reputable composer and violinist, who passed away in Dresden, Ger., are among the recent foreign deaths.

HERR MEHLIG, long connected with the Stuttgart, Ger., Opera house, died recently, at the age of seventy-five. He was the father of Anna Mehlig, the pianist, who visited America fifteen years ago.

THE deaths of Mrs. Charles Rice and Arthur H. Mavius are noted in Foreign News.

POLLY BOOTH'S demise is briefly referred to in City News.

HARRY C. TALBERT'S death is made known in Minstrel and Variety Gossip.

Enigma No. 1,604.

Schallopp vs. Blackburne. This game was in the tenth round, a Ruy Lopez, springing from the 4..K B × Kt variation.

at his R 2, K Kt 2, Q R 6, K R 6, Q B 3, Kt 4, Q R 2.

Problem No. 1,604.

The history of this position is as curious as its outcome. The Field says: "This game presents an instructive instance of the fallacy of the first player trying from the outset to play for a draw. Gottschall, who made the running for Bardeleben, would have been satisfied to take half a point off Blackburne's score, and adopted the plan of masterly inactivity. Blackburne, however, perceived the plan and hemmed him in so that he had not a single piece available for any other purpose than to move about aimlessly." The game was a "Sicilian," in the sixth round, and the position is after 32.. of White

UNIQUE.—BY J. H. BLACKBURNE
WHITE (H. v. Gottschall).

BLACK (Mr. Blackburne).
Black exhibits a win in two moves.

Game No. 1,604.

The two grand masters of problems are called upon to confront each other in the second round.—Times-Democrat.

(a) The ordinary continuation, "and the only one by which the 'pull' of the move is retained much longer (says Rev. W. Wayte, in British Ch. Mag.) is K B to Kt 5." Both parties open this game with great circumspection.

(f) Not only a loss of time, but allows the adverse Kt a dangerous lodgement at his Q 6. 19..K R to K sq, followed duly by K to R sq, was apparently in order.

(1) [Herr G. now takes control of the game]:

BLACK (Prof. Berger).

WHITE (H. v. Gottschall)

Move made—24 Q to K 2! Excellent, securing the open file and preparatory to the clever manœuvring of his Kt's.

(b) 29..Q to her B 4 seems powerful also:

29..Q to B 4	K Kt × Kt	31..Q to K R 4(1) P dis +
30..Q Kt × Kt	Q Kt-K 4!	32..K-R sq, and Black seemingly must suffer fatal loss.

(1) Not to Q 5, for then 31..R to Q 2!

(c) An error, permitting White to wind up the game by a brilliant coup worthy of a problem master. 31..P × P, however, was unavailing, because of 32..Kt × P +, K to B 2; 32..Kt to Q 5, winning at least the exchange.

The Second Round

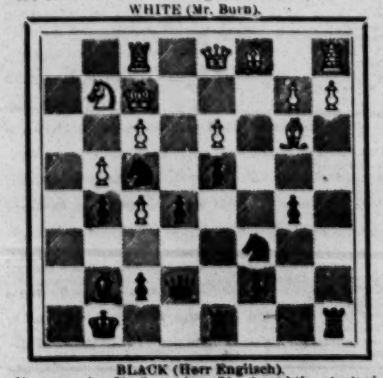
21..B P × P	R P × P	and White resigns.

(d) Preparing for the advance of Kt P, to prevent White's P to K B 4, after Kt to K sq.

(e) Evidently following a preconceived plan; but White probably overrated his position. 13..P to Q 4 seems preferable.

(f) [Initiates a far-reaching combination]:

WHITE (Mr. Burn).



BLACK (Herr Englisch).

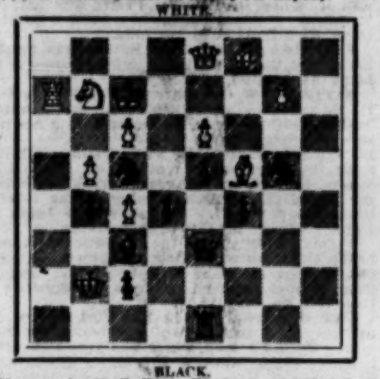
Move made—23..Q to her 3! A subtle strategical manœuvre, which will be discernable later on.

(g) A waiting move. White evidently intends to double R and Q on R's file. To avoid posting R at his 2 (which Englisch did not expect from so careful a player as Mr. Burn), he must first play B × Kt, when Black obtains a good position by K P × B, and by bringing Kt to K 4.

(h) White saw the danger partly. He expected 30..P to K 5, overlooking Black's clever sacrifice.

(i) [For which injustice we suggest our crayon]:

WHITE.



BLACK.

Move made—30..K Kt × P +! A coup that fairly sparkles; and the game from 26.. is splendidly played by Herr Englisch. "Rarely have we seen an end-game where the moves have told with more force than this one," says the enthusiastic editor of Irish Sportsman.

(i) K to K sq would have been only the lesser evil.

Personalia Frankfortiana.

We are given the best personal introduction to the Frankfort players by The Field; and so sure are we that our readers will enjoy these gossipy touches, interspersed with running critiques, by one who knows whereof he speaks with the vigor of terse and attractive statement, that we give them these racy bits nearly in full

"A great improvement was discernible in the style of several of the players as compared with their performances in the Hamburg tourney. To begin with the first-prize winner, Capt. Mackenzie, though frequently placed, never yet secured chief honors in any European tournament. As a rule, he either commenced well and finished badly, or vice versa. It was therefore clear that if he could remedy this defect, whatever the cause might be, he would be sure to command that success to which he is so fully entitled To a thorough knowledge of the theory he adds depth of combination, elegance and brilliancy of style, calmness of temperament, and, above all, robust health. This time he played steadily throughout the contest. From the outset he kept in the foremost rank, and, while the three other rivals sustained either reverse or only added half points to their score, he scored three wins out of the remaining four games.

"Blackburne gave way at the last moment to a sort of nervousness, after losing his game to the Captain. He was mostly on the defensive, over cautious, anxious to maintain his position; and, contrary to his habit, satisfied with drawing games against opponents whom it was expected, by reason of his being an 'old hand,' he would try hard to defeat.

"Herr v. Bardeleben has improved considerably since we saw him in Nuremberg in 1883. It will be remembered that in that contest he slipped in just at the tail of the prize winners by a fluke, scoring an adjourned game against Fritz by default. Bardeleben is the bel ideal of the 'modern school principles.' A safe opening correctly played; to keep the draw in hand; to gain an imperceptible advantage in position; to double or isolate a P; and having once either made this weak point, or otherwise detected a weak spot, he masses his forces on that spot and wins. The games he produces are therefore dry, uninteresting, and give no pleasure to the reader; he has, nevertheless, a great future. In spite of his frail frame, he is capable of great endurance.

"Weiss' style is about the same as Bardeleben's, with the difference that he is an older player. No man is more difficult to beat than Weiss. He never ventures further than he can see, and is quite ready to simplify matters, content with a draw if he can gain no decided advantage. He is very tenacious, and has shown it sufficiently in his game with his rival, Englisch, who tried hard to beat him; and with Mackenzie, when he drew a game with one P and a Kt vs. three P's and a B.

"Englisch we should have expected among the very first. In sound judgment of position he is second to none, and in rapidity of play the very first. A peculiarity of Englisch's style is quick development till the opening moves are over; then comes a pause, when he takes considerable time for his plan de campagne. This is the only stage of the game when he is slow. After that he waits impatiently for his opponent's reply, and after that reply his verdict as to the result of the game is given. We found him to be correct on several occasions during the tournament. Englisch, after his favorable start, aspired to a high prize; failing to obtain it, he was quite indifferent, and played with full energy only against the favorites.

"Dr. Tarrasch has proved that his success at Hamburg was fully deserved. Undoubtedly he must be considered one of the best German players now. Nothing daunted by an unfortunate start, he gradually drew ahead and finished among the prize winners. With an equal knowledge of book lore to Bardeleben, he excels him in imagination and brilliancy. His game against Gunsberg is a fine specimen of his style. Like most imaginative players, he does not regard the 'modern principles' as the ultima Thule of chess.

"Professor Berger, too, has shown marked improvement in that part of the game in which he was formerly deficient—the end-game. In Hamburg he threw away three won games in the ending. It is almost paradoxical to say that an eminent problematist should not be a good ending player. The reason, therefore, probably is that Berger's delicate health rarely allows him to carry a game through with equal energy. This time he was in better health, and hence his improved position as compared with his previous results.

"Paulsen promised fairly a revival of his prowess of years gone by, and certainly would have justified expectations, but for his well-known hobby of constantly trying to preserve his two Bishops. In more than one instance we noticed his supreme efforts to accomplish that end, and, after he succeeded, found himself with his favorite two Bishops, but the inferior game. Paulsen played some very fine games, and, as usual, introduced some innovations, which, however, will have to stand the test of future analysis

"Schallopp would not surprise us if he were first, or if he were last. The foremost German theoretician, and endowed with all the qualities requisite to a first-class player, he should have taken a higher place in the order of merit. The only reason we can give is that Schallopp is very industrious. He not only edited several chess papers without interruption during the tournament, but was also one of the most active members of the working committee during the Congress.

"Burn and Gunsberg commenced badly, and could never recover from their bad start.

"Zukertort was quite unwell, and everybody seemed surprised that he won a few games at all. As far as we could observe he played the openings mechanically, and made a blunder as soon as he had to rely on his own resources. He will require a long rest and entire withdrawal from serious play.

"Taubenhaus gave in when he saw that his chance of a fair score was gone; and Gottschall wants a little more practice and steadiness. The same is the case with Harmonist, the youngest of the masters. As a first performance he may be satisfied. Metger had not played a game with a strong player for years, and commenced to be in form just at the end of the tournament. He also is a disciple of the modern school.

"The two Russians, Alapin and Schiffers, are of the Tchigorin type—enthusiastic amateurs who only play for the love of the game. This was their first encounter with players of note (Tchigorin of course excepted), and they have shown that they are able to hold their own, even in such a strong tournament as the one just concluded. Scheve is a retired officer, a fairly good amateur, but a player who has reached his best form."

The Texas Monthly describes Fritz and Dr. Noa as "jolly good fellows, who come to the Congress for their holidays, and can play a hard game if they feel so disposed. Fritz beat the Captain, and drew with Bardeleben and Blackburne; Noa, too, beat the Captain with surprising rapidity. As second player he adopted the French, and made the first thirty moves in about seven minutes!"

OUR SPACE is all occupied, we fear more; but we must just note that two more American papers, The Boston Post and Newark Sunday Call, have withdrawn their hostility, or apathy, towards the Sixth Am. Ch. Congress. Good! More anon.....Mr. Blackburne is to accompany Captain Mackenzie home. Good again!.....Mr. Delmar has beaten Maj. Hanham for the championship of the New York C. C.....We are truly glad, in the best interests of the game, to see by The Post that the brilliant F. K. Young has reconsidered his hasty decision to leave the Boston C.C., moved thereto by an unanimous request of the club.

CHECKERS.

To Correspondents.

T. M. REDD.—Please accept our thanks for two beautiful games.

ASA BRAYTON.—The game of checkers is valuable to the world as a means of rational amusement and pleasant social intercourse; but when it produces envy, hatred and personal spite, it becomes valueless.

ON Wednesday evening, Aug. 31, a monthly meeting of the New York Checker Club was held, and another tourney was inaugurated, with twenty five entries.

MR. WYLIE has recently been entertaining the Australians at a Melbourne cafe, by playing "all comers" at two "sittings" a game. In the last fortnight "heard from," he had won 180 games, and drawn 11 games, out of a total of 200 games played. They pay him the two "sittings" whether they win or lose.

CHAS. LEE'S GREAT LONDON SHOW

POSITIVELY THE GREATEST AND BEST ON EARTH.

Pronounced by both press and public to be the best circus that ever visited New York State. Every act a feature; every performer a star, and every performance crowded to the ring bank.

LOOK! LOOK! LOOK! LOOK!

OUR REGISTER OF UNDOUBTED ARENIC CELEBRITIES:

MRS. CHAS. LEE'S
$10,000 TROUPE of EDUCATED PONIES
5 in number. Dog, Goats and Monkeys. The only lady horse and animal trainer in the world.

THE GREAT EUROPEAN NOVELTIES,
Billy - CLIFTONS, - Jessie
America's Favorites.

MISS ANNA LEE,
The famous little Lady Gymnast. We challenge the world to produce her equal.

MR. CHAS. LEE,

THE CHAMPIONS OF THE AERIAL WORLD.
Fred - O'BRIEN BROS., - Willie
Whose daring performance on the double-trapeze has amazed the civilized world. Their equal is nowhere to be found in America.

THE GREAT AND ONLY
MILLER AND LORETTA.
The champions of horizontal-bars. Every trick a feature. Every attitude a picture of grace and skill. We defy the world to compete with them.

THE HUMAN ANACONDAS,
LOVELL AND ANZO.
$1,000 to any two young men that can duplicate this act.

OUR TWO FUNNY CLOWNS,
FRANK DEVERE and HERBERT LONG.
Queer quaint and komical One continual roar of laughter greets them at each performance.

PROF. JOHN FISHER'S
GREAT LONDON CORNET BAND,
Headed by Prof. Fisher, celebrated cornet-soloist; Geo. Glidden, the great B-flat cornettist; Mr. Ed. Rally, solo trombonist; Ed. Schlien, solo-alto; Fin Reynolds, solo-tenor; Al. Yoder, tuba; Frank Willis, snare drum; A. S. Cary, bass-drum and cymbals.

A WORD TO MY THOUSANDS OF PATRONS:

Ladies and Gentlemen, it has always been my aim to give you the best exhibition that money and brains could procure, knowing that intelligent people will always patronize an entertainment of genuine merit, and on this alone Lee's London Show stands. Although several mushroom shows have sprung up from my greatest show they did not last as long as June frost. One went to pieces at Birmingham, Ala., and the other at Jersey Shore, Pa., one at Meadville, Pa., also one in Connecticut. Next season I will be with you again, bigger, stronger and better, for I shall devote six months to training and educating animals for my exhibition next season, and the public can rest assured that they will see an exhibition never before witnessed in America. I have no Number 1 or 2 shows. Mine is always consolidated. The public's obedient servant, CHAS. LEE, Manager, London Show.

THE NEW YORK CLIPPER

THE FRANK QUEEN PUBLISHING CO. (Limited), PUBLISHERS.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1887.

This Week's Clipper.

This issue of THE NEW YORK CLIPPER consists of eighteen pages—an increase of two pages over the normal size of the paper. The enlargement this week is made in justice alike to our readers—who seem never to cry content, no matter how vast the quota of the general news we furnish them—and to our advertising patrons, whose favors have been constantly increasing, until they force us to increase our bulk. We do so contentedly; and we promise to do so again, when the necessity shall occur.

The Trial Yacht Races.

Among the more important sporting fixtures of the season now rapidly drawing to a close are the trial races between the big sloops, upon one of which is destined to devolve at once the patriotic duty and the coveted honor of defending the long-possessed and highly-prized America Cup from the earnest and intelligent efforts of the owners of the champion Scottish cutter to win and carry it back to the waters of Great Britain. The anticipated five candidates for the proud position have dwindled down to two, the trials being resolved into a series of match races between the new Volunteer and last year's winning Mayflower. The latter's public spirited and liberal owner feels confident that, with the improvements he has recently made to the boat and rigging, she should sail much faster, and that he has an excellent chance to beat the new craft that is generally regarded as the probable winner of two of the three races preliminary to the great international contest between the home and foreign product. The owners of the Puritan, Priscilla and Atlantic, however, were convinced by experience that they had no chance, and might better save their powder. The initial trial is progressing as we write, on the day of our going to press, and we join in the general regret that the weather is so unfavorable, the skies being overclouded and threatening rain, while there is a lack of wind, and mist prevails—truly a cheerless outlook. The first attempt to decide the question between the rivals does not augur of success. May those that are to follow be sailed amid more favorable surroundings.

Our Visiting Athletes.

England's team of amateur athletes now visiting this city made their initial appearance in public here on a cinder path at the meeting held by the Manhattan A. C. on Saturday. The assemblage to greet them was larger than had ever passed through the gates before, and each of the members received a cordial welcome. The fact that they were too heavily handicapped, considering that they had not recovered the full use of their land legs, prevented them from showing at their best, but their several records warrant the presumption that they will be found at the head of affairs in the events for which they enter in the champion games, when all meet on equal terms. The presence of these foreign champions in friendly competition with home talent, should give an impetus to athletic interests here that has been badly wanted for years.

PHILIP CASEY, the American champion handball player, who went to his native land to contend with the Irish champion, J. Lawlor, for the international championship, is once more on Yankee land, having arrived from Ireland on Saturday. Although he lost the first series of games, so close was the contest that "Phil" feels confident of winning the final instalment, to be played in Brooklyn or this city.

BILLIARDS.

MAURICE DALY'S room at 234 Broadway, which had been closed since August for a general renovation, was again thrown open to the public on Monday, Sept. 12. The room looked as bright and clean as a new pin, and the reopening was well attended during the day and evening by the friends of Maurice and brother Jerry, who showed their appreciation of Maurice's liberality in catering to their comfort by keeping the tables running to their full capacity. Frequent journevings towards the bar, presided over by the genial Frank, tended to enliven the festivities. Among those who dropped in during the day were Col. J. R. Fellows, Judge Blake, "Prince Hal" Genet, Amos Cummings and Editor Dana of The Sun. Messrs. Troesher and Collender of the B., B. & C. Co., Melvin Foster, Billy Sexton and a host of other friends and patrons of this resort.

ALBERT GARNIER.—Among the many foreign billiard players who have at different times visited and engaged in business in this city, none are more pleasantly remembered than Albert Garnier. In a recent letter to his old friend Dan Strauss, of this city, he states that, although busily employed in managing three rooms on the Continent, he may conclude to make a flying trip across the big pond and give a series of exhibitions in this country in the near future. Garnier has a room in Toulouse, one in Seige and another in the Grand Hotel, Brussels, in all of which he reports business to be good, and his domestic life, which was at one time clouded by divorce, has brightened again by another venture in matrimony, of which he speaks enthusiastically, and which his many friends on this side of the water heartily wish may bring him comfort and happiness.

PATTI'S TABLES.—The B., B. & C. Co. are in receipt of an autograph letter from Madame Patti, stating that the table manufactured for her by them had been received in good order and was a most welcome addition to the billiard-room connected with her palace in Wales. The Madame's husband (Nicolini) assumed that a new table must be procured in order to give his billiardistic bump, which is rapidly developing, a more favorable opportunity.

AMONG THE MANY who came to grief through the collapse of the ill-starred Suburban Billiard Room was that well-known vet Melvin Foster, who resigned a good position at the Rossmore Hotel and cast his lot with Temple & Davis in their venture, which proved so costly to all concerned. As there are none more capable to manage a room than Foster, we trust his enforced idleness will be of short duration.

THE proprietors of the St. Omer Hotel, this city, have ordered of the B., B. & C. Co. four tables of modern design, and the firm are requested to spare no expense in furnishing the tables and fixtures with everything of the best material and latest pattern. The opening, of which due notice will be given, should be largely attended.

THE FOUR TABLES manufactured expressly for the Arion Club by the B., B. & C. Co. have been put in position, and it is safe to say that no club in the city can boast of having anything finer in the way of billiard tables. As there are many excellent amateur players who are members of the club, some interesting trials of skill may be expected during the coming Winter.

EUGENE CARTER is practicing daily at the B., B. & Co. warerooms, Seventeenth street and Broadway, with J. Randolph Heiser. Carter states that he has placed a deposit with Mr. Parker to play anyone a match at cushion-caroms "in Chicago."

CRICKET.

THE CONTEST at Prospect Park, Brooklyn, Sept. 9, between the Manhattan and Riverside Clubs, resulted in an easy victory for the former by 184 to 43. The feature of the Manhattan's score was Lambkin's 90. For the Riversides Sherrington's 11 was the highest score. Martin of the Manhattans bowled 7 wickets for 16 runs and Clay took 3 for 4.

THE executive committee of the Cricketers' Association of the United States has decided not to send a team to Canada this year. They found it impossible to get a representative eleven together. The international match between Canada and the United States is therefore off. A meeting was held in Toronto recently to take action on this, and the decision was regretfully accepted.

THE Belmont Club of Philadelphia visited Staten Island Sept. 10, and there had a one-inning game with the home team, which the visitors won by 151 to 103. A. M. Wood made 58, and J. A. Scott carried his bat out for 57 for the visitors. Wilson's 40 and Lambkin's 26 were the chief scores made by the Staten Islands.

THE Manhattans defeated the Kings County team at Prospect Park Sept. 10 by 158 to 46. Cayne's 60 was the feature of the contest. Blissard's 18 was the only double-figure score on the other side.

THE Alma Club visited Central Park, this city, Sept. 10, and defeated the Riversides by 68 to 35.

TRIGGER.

HENRY POPE, a member of the Unknown and Falcon Gun Clubs and of the Brooklyn Schutzen Corps, died Sept. 8, from injuries received at the hands of unknown assailants on Aug. 22. The Unknown G. C. held a special meeting 8 and resolved "that no expense should prevent the club from bringing Henry Pope's murderers to justice."

ANNIE OAKLEY and Gilmore Sharp shot a match at twenty-five starlings each, twenty-four yards rise, Hurlingham rules, Miss Oakley to use a 20-guage gun, with ¾oz. of shot, and Sharp a 16-guage gun and 1oz. of shot, at Nunhead, London, Eng., Aug. 27. Miss Oakley won, killing 22 to Sharp's 14. The stakes were $50 a side.

E. T. SMITH killed 96 out of 100 in a shoot of the Worcester (Mass.) Sportsmen's Club, Sept. 5. G. Sampson was second with 94, and W. L. Davis third, with 93.

THE New Bedford Gun Club shot a match with the Acushnets, at Acushnet, Mass., Sept. 5, the former winning by a score of 96 to 93.

DR. W. F. CARVER, in a shooting exhibition at Dubuque, Ia., Sept. 6, broke 1,000 glass balls in 43m. 23⅘s.

The Most Artistic and Finished Acrobats

NOW BEFORE THE PUBLIC.

Having just closed a SUCCESSFUL ENGAGEMENT with SACKETT & WIGGINS' CIRCUS, ARE AT LIBERTY FOR WINTER SEASON. Managers of First-class Combinations or Spectacular Companies who want a Decided Novelty will do well to write. Address care of CLIPPER.

MANAGERS—If you want a Novelty, if you want a Sensation, if you want a Drawing-CARD entirely new, different from anything you have ever played, read the following and communicate immediately

TEX, THE COWBOY FIDDLER,

Violin Virtuoso second to none. Does not know one note of music from another, and yet astonishes all of the great masters, concluding with a class of music that keeps the audience in a roar of laughter. In conjunction,

MADAM BELL AND HER PERFORMING ROCKY MOUNTAIN CINNAMON BEAR.

Decided hit everywhere; a very sagacious and ferocious animal, raised, trained and performed by this lady. The only lady animal-trainer before the public. Address TEX BENDER, N. Y. A. Exchange, 1,162 Broadway, New York.

Extraordinary Success.

Mr. Harry C. Horton

SAYS I HAVE MADE A TREMENDOUS HIT WITH YOUR SONG,

"There's Something in the Cradle."

Mr. Horton is singing this song nightly with Barlow Bros. & Frost's Minstrels, and is making a reputation for himself that will rank him second to none in his line of business.

This song will be sent to any address, upon receipt of price,

THE SCENERY.

METROPOLITAN OPERA-HOUSE,
SCENIC-DEPARTMENT,
HENRY E. HOYT, ARTIST.
NEW YORK, June 24, 1887.

NEWTON BEERS, Esq., Proprietor "Lost in London."

MY DEAR SIR.—It is the scene-painter's fate to be now and then held responsible for a manager's failure to mount a play acceptably. Once in a while a showman will pick up a single piece of my work that has traveled for years, and advertise "Carloads of scenery by Hoyt." I cannot always help this, but I will say that you have a full complement of scenery, and that it was designed and painted by myself and assistants at the Metropolitan Opera-house in this city. Very truly yours,

HENRY E. HOYT.

A WORLD OF SCENIC SPLENDORS! TRANSPORTED BY SPECIALLY CHARTERED CARS, AND INVOLVING A COST OF OVER $20,000.
